HOUSE OF COMMONS

Commencing with the Thirty-fifth and ending with the Thirty-seventh Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland

From VOLUME 186, A.D. 1930-31,
To VOLUME 194, A.D. 1938-39.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 27th June, 1944.

Printed by Order of the House of Commons,
For the Controller of H.M. Stationery Office,
Printer of the Journals of the House of Commons,
By G. & W. Ltd., Cuckoo Road, Birmingham 7.
PREFACE.

This, the 14th Volume of the series of General Indexes to the Journals of the House of Commons from 1547 to 1939, prepared under the direction of the Clerk of the House, covers the sessions 1930-31 to 1938-39 inclusive, a period of nine years. Since 1880, the volumes have been published decennially, but on this occasion if there were not to be a still longer delay in the publication, the ten year period, became impracticable, owing to the non-publication of the Journals of the war years on grounds of security. It is intended in the next volume, however, to cover the eleven year period 1939-40 to 1949-50 inclusive. This procedure in connection with the next volume will have the advantage of including in it everything in the way of Orders, Resolutions, Secret Sessions, etc., which have occurred exceptionally during the period of the war.

The incidence of war is also one of the causes of the considerable delay in the publication of this volume, but in the main the delay is due to certain changes which have been made in the various 'Digests' with a view to making them as comprehensive and informative as possible. It is hoped that the greater usefulness of these 'Digests' will repay the increase of labour involved in their preparation.

Amongst minor alterations the following may be mentioned: In the case of Public Bills only the introduction and the Royal Assent, and in the case of other Bills only the Royal Assent, have been noticed in the Index, unless the Bill dropped during its progress through Parliament in which event the last mention of it in the Journals (other than the deferring of a proceeding thereon) has been indexed; Resolutions expressive of the opinion of the House and Motions for such Resolutions have not been set out at length.

The Compiler wishes to record his indebtedness to Mr. F. W. Metcalfe, Clerk Assistant, Mr. E. A. Fellowes, Second Clerk Assistant, Mr. D. J. Gordon of the Table Office and Mr. E. S. Taylor of the Committee and Private Bill Office, for the assistance they have given in the compilation of the Index.

G. THROCKMORTON,
Clerk of the Journals.

House of Commons.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS, AS AMENDED

VI. Orders, Resolutions, &c.—cont.
required (London, Midland and Scottish Rail-ways), [1935-36] 146.
That the Committee, having heard the evidence in support of the Petition of an omnibus company against a Bill conferring further powers upon a Corporation in regard to their trolley vehicles undertaking, and anticipating a wide extension of the trolley vehicle system in all parts of the country, wish to express the view that since the Traffic Commissioners are not authorised to issue licences for trolley vehicles this may lead to lack of co-ordination and to the possible infliction of hardship on the owners of competing public service vehicles; that the Committee are of opinion that the question of extending the system of control by the Traffic Commissioners should be seriously considered (Huddersfield Corporation (Trolley Vehicles) [Lords], [1935-36] 245.

That the Committee are impressed with a point of general application raised in the Report of the Board of Trade on a Bill, namely, the relations between a controlling Company and its subsidiaries where the subsidiaries are gas undertakers receiving bulk supplies from the controlling Company or from another Company with which it controls and consider that the matter might with advantage be made the subject of inquiry by Parliament (West Yorkshire Gas Distribution [Lords], [1937-38] 373.

Costs Awarded:
That the Committee have altered certain provisions of the Bill for the protection of certain Petitioners, and that with respect to such Petitioners they are unanimous of opinion that they have been unreasonably subjected to expense in defending their rights proposed to be interfered with by the Bill, and are entitled to recover from the Promoters of the Bill their whole costs in relation thereto, [1933-34] 157, [1934-35] 242.

Witnesses:
That the Parties promoting the Bill have stated that the evidence of a person is essential to their case and it having been proved that his evidence in support of the Petition of an omnibus company against a Bill might with advantage be made the subject of inquiry by Parliament (West Yorkshire Gas Distribution [Lords], [1937-38] 373.

PETITIONS

I. Petitions for Grants of Public Money recommended by the Crown.

II. Incidental Proceedings relative to Petitions

I. PETITIONS FOR GRANTS OF PUBLIC MONEY RECOMMENDED BY THE CROWN:

II. INCIDENTAL PROCEEDINGS RELATIVE TO PETITIONS:

PETITIONS PRESENTED:

SPECIAL REPORTS FROM THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC PETITIONS:
The Committee have in their Second Report classified 673 Petitions from Members of Cooperative Societies in Great Britain, and have reported the number of signatures attached to 253 of these Petitions. Owing to the large number of Petitions and of signatures attached thereto, it has not yet been possible to count the signatures on the remaining 420 Petitions and the Committee have therefore decided to report the number of signatures attached to these Petitions in their next Report [1932-33] 221.

The Committee have examined the Petition of the people of the State of Western Australia, through the Legislative Council and the Legislative Assembly of the Parliament of Western Australia, for legislation to enable them to withdraw from the Commonwealth of Australia, presented to the House on the 17th day of this instant December. As it appears to the Committee uncertain whether the House should receive this Petition, they have not included it in their Report, but recommend that a Select Committee be appointed to consider the Petition...

and to report upon the advisability of its reception by the House, [1934-35] 38. It has not yet been possible to count all the signatures attached to the Petition presented on 26th July, praying for amendment of the Acts relating to Old Age Pensions, owing to the large number of such signatures. The Committee have therefore set out in their Third Report the requisite information respecting the contents and have decided to report the number of signatures attached thereto in their next Report, [1934-35] 338.

The Committee have examined the Petition of C. S. Sitarama Aiyer, presented to the House on 7th July, and find that in it the Petitioner brings grave charges of bribery and corruption against the Chief Justice and other Judges of the Madras High Court and against several Ministers and officials of the Madras Government. The Petitioner alleges (1) that examiners conducting an examination on behalf of the Madras Government were bribed by the parents of failed candidates to put them in the Pass List; (2) that the Examination Board failed the Petitioner's son because the Petitioner brought their fraud to public notice; and (3) that the Chief Justice and other Judges of the Madras High Court were heavily bribed by Ministers alleged to be responsible for the fraud in the Examination, so that the civil suit brought by the Petitioner against the Secretary of State for India to secure redress for his son was dismissed without trial. The House has always refused to receive Petitions containing offensive imputations upon the conduct of the Courts of Justice or individual Judges in India. They are of opinion, therefore, that this Petition ought not to be received by the House, [1935-36] 358. Special Report considered; Order, That the Petition do lie upon the Table, read and discharged, 366.

The Committee have observed the very frequent irregularities in Petitions presented to the House and especially the non-observance of the rules governing the signing of such Petitions. They are of opinion that these irregularities may well cause a false impression to be given of the weight which attaches to a Petition, [1938-39] 450.

Third Reading: "Three months," not made, 330.

Finance (No. 2) Bill, Second Reading: "This House declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which, in raising additional revenue, inflicts disproportionate hardships upon those least able to bear new taxes and treats with comparative leniency the wealthiest resources of the rich, and those who live upon unearned incomes," not made, 429.

1931-32.

Abnormal Importations (Customs Duties) Bill, Second Reading: "This House declines to give a Second Reading to a Bill which places in the hands of the executive the power of taxing the citizen without any opportunity for his case to be presented by his elected representative, gives a privileged position to particular private businesses without making any provision for their efficient management or for the protection of the interests of the community, will intensify the erection of insurmountable barriers between nation and nation instead of stimulating international co-operation in the exchange of goods and services, and offers no constructive plan for bringing to an end the grave economic disorganisation of the world," not made, 29.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House regrets the reversion to the long-discarded and unprecedented in time of peace," not made, 241.

Duties) Bill, Second Reading: "This House declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which suspends for an indefinite period the land value tax, reimposes a duty on tea, and clears the way for new taxes upon staple foods without affording any relief to the great mass of the people upon whom existing taxation is a crushing burden," not made, 192.

Third Reading: "Three months," not made, 236.

Horticultural Products (Emergency Customs Duties) Bill, Second Reading: "This House declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which can be of no real advantage to the British farmer or the agricultural worker and cannot improve the economic position of the Country, but will hinder trade and increase the cost of living, and marks the first step in the taxation of food," not made, 49.

Import Duties Bill, Second Reading: "Six months," not made, 79.

Irish Free State (Special Duties) Bill, Second Reading: "This House, taking note of the fact that the government of the Irish Free State are paying disputed funds into a suspense account pending arbitration, and realising that the free association of nations within the British Commonwealth depends upon the maintenance of goodwill, declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill for the precipitate adoption of economic reprisals against the Irish Free State," not made, 283.

Ottawa Agreements Bill, Second Reading: "This House declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which continues the policy of tariffs and preferences initiated by His Majesty's Government last year, further increases the already excessive burden of indirect taxation, and by cutting imposed upon the unemployed and other sections of the community, and declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which leaves the heaviest burdens upon those least able to bear them, and fails to disclose any constructive policy on the part of His Majesty's Government for the restoration of trade and employment," not made, 196.

Third Reading: "Three months," not made, 330.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House regrets that no provision is being made for recressing the unjust division of the national resources of the rich, and those who live upon unearned incomes," not made, 429.

1932-33.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House regrets the failure to adjust the burden of taxation according to capacity to pay, declares that the basis of taxation must be the public interest, and declines to assent to the Third Reading of a Bill which provides the national finances under a system in which the poorest suffer most, and which, in violation of a ministerial pledge and of a hitherto accepted principle of taxation, imposes a penal tax upon co-operative societies at the behest of competitive private interests," not made, 246.

1933-34.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House, realising the hardships resulting from the operation of the National Economy Act, the heavy burden of indirect taxation, is of opinion that those whose need is greatest have the prior claim to benefit from any prospective Budget surplus, and this House, therefore, declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which, instead of restoring in full the cuts imposed upon the unemployed and those in receipt of lower incomes, intensifies the evils of maladjustment of purchasing power by lightening the taxation upon the rich, and, in addition, makes a further concession to privileged interests by the repeal of the land value tax with the consequent abandonment of a fruitful source of revenue," not made, 200.

Third Reading: "Three months," not made, 246.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House cannot assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which continues to cast an unfair burden of taxation upon the indirect taxpayer, encourages the limitation of production, and embodies no provisions for securing to the people that improvement in their standard of life which the increased productive capacity of the nation has made available," not made, 213.

1935-36.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House declines to assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which, while not containing sound financial provisions for meeting out of income the huge undisclosed expenditure upon national armaments to which the country has been committed, nevertheless imposes additional burdens upon the poorest section of the community, fails to remove the unjust tax upon co-operative societies, deprivés the Road Fund of its statutory revenues, and raises general taxation to a level unprecedented in time of peace," not made, 241.

Third Reading: "Six months," not made, 152.

Finance Bill, Second Reading: "This House cannot assent to the Second Reading of a Bill which, in time of peace and rising prices, embodies an unbalanced Budget, thereby promoting further increases in prices and depressing the already low standard of life of pensioners, unemployed, wage-earners and other persons of small means, and which fails to deal adequately with profiteering in armaments or to raise an equitable share of their cost from those most able to bear the burden," not made, 274.

Third Reading: "This House cannot assent to the Third Reading of a Bill which, failing to raise revenue sufficient to meet current expenditure, accepts in principle a national deficit regardless of the temporary and artificial nature of the present trade prosperity, and imposes taxation which, by disregarding the
