My Lords, and Gentlemen,

It is with much satisfaction that I again meet the great Council of the Nation assembled in Parliament. I am ever anxious to avow Myself of your advice and assistance, and I rejoice that the present state of public affairs, both at home and abroad, is such as to permit you to proceed without delay or interruption to the calm examination of those measures which will be submitted to your consideration.

I continue to receive from My Allies, and generally from all Foreign Powers, assurances of their unaltered desire to cultivate with Me those friendly relations which it is equally My wish to maintain with them; and the intimate union which happily subsists between this Country and France is a pledge to Europe of the continuance of the general Peace.

Desirous on all occasions to use My friendly endeavours to remove causes of disagreement between other powers, I have offered My mediation in order to compose the differences which has arisen between France and the United States. This offer has been accepted by the King of the French. The answer of the President of the United States has not yet been received; but I entertain a confident hope that a misunderstanding between two Nations so enlightened and high-minded will be settled in a manner satisfactory to the feelings and consistent with the honour of both.

I have still to lament the continuance of the Civil Contest in the Northern Provinces of Spain. The measures which I have taken, and the engagements into which I have entered, sufficiently prove My deep anxiety for its termination; and the prudent and vigorous conduct of the present Government of Spain inspires Me with the hope that the authority of the Queen will soon be established in every part of her dominions; and that the Spanish Nation, so long connected by friendship with Great Britain, will again enjoy the blessings of internal tranquillity and union.

I have given directions that there shall be laid before you the Treaty which I have concluded with the Queen of Spain for the suppression of the Slave Trade.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have directed the Estimates of the Year to be prepared and laid before you without delay. They have been framed with the strictest regard to a well-considered economy.

The necessity of maintaining the maritime strength of the Country, and of giving adequate protection to the extended commerce of My Subjects, has occasioned some increase in the Estimates for the Naval branch of the Public Service.

The state of the Commerce and Manufactures of the United Kingdom is highly satisfactory.

I lament that any class of My Subjects should still suffer distress; and the difficulties which continue to be felt in important branches of Agriculture may deserve your inquiry, with a view of ascertaining whether there are any measures which Parliament can advantageously adopt for the alleviation of this pressure.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I have not yet received the further Report of the Commission appointed to consider the state of the several Dioceses of England and Wales; but I have reason to believe that their recommendations upon most of the subjects submitted to them are nearly prepared. They shall be laid before you without delay, and you will direct your early attention to the Ecclesiastical Establishment, with the intention of reviewing it more efficiently for the public purposes for which it has been instituted.

Another subject which will naturally occupy you is the state of the Tithe in England and Wales; and a measure will be submitted to you, having for its end the rendering this mode of providing for the Clergy more fixed and certain, and calculated to relieve it from that fluctuation and those objection to which it has hitherto been subject.

The principles of toleration by which I have been invariably guided must render Me desirous of removing any cause of offence or trouble to the conscientious of any portion of My Subjects; and I am therefore satisfied that you should consider whether measures may not be framed which, whilst they remedy any grievances which affect those who dissent from the doctrine or discipline of the Established Church, will also be of general advantage to the whole body of the Community.

The speedy and satisfactory administration of Justice is the first and most sacred duty of a Sovereign; and I earnestly recommend you to consider whether better provision may not be made for this great purpose in some of the departments of the Law; and more particularly in the Court of Chancery.

I trust that you will be able to effect a just settlement of the question of Tithe in Ireland upon such principles as will tend at length to establish harmony and peace in that Country.

You are already in possession of the Report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the state of the Municipal Corporations in Ireland; and I entertain a hope that it will be in your power to apply to any defects and evils which may have been shown to exist in those institutions a remedy founded upon the same principles as those of the Acts which have already passed for England and Scotland.

A further Report of the Commission of Inquiry into the condition of the poorer classes of My Subjects in Ireland will speedily be laid before you. You will approach this subject with the caution due to its importance and difficulty; and the experience of the salutary effects already produced by the Act for the Amendment of the Laws relating to the Poor in England and Wales may in many respects assist your deliberations.

I rely upon your prudence and wisdom, and upon your determination to maintain, as well as to amend, the Laws and Institutions of the Country; and I commit these questions of domestic policy, to which I have deemed it My duty to direct your attention, into your hands, persuaded that you will so treat them as to increase the happiness and prosperity, by promoting the religion and morality, of My People.

A Motion was made, and the Question being proposed, That an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, the expression of the wishes of the House, that the humble Thanks of this House for His Majesty's most gracious Speech from the Throne:

That we are deeply concerned that His Majesty has still to lament the continuance of the Civil Contests in the Provinces of Spain, and that we are persuaded that the prudent and vigorous conduct of the present Government of Spain inspires His Majesty with the hope that the authority of the Queen will soon be established in every part of her Dominions; and that the Spanish Nation, so long connected by friendship with Great Britain, will again enjoy the blessings of internal tranquility and union:

To assure His Majesty, that, being already in possession of the Report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the state of the Municipal Corporations in Ireland, we partake of the hope entertained by His Majesty, that it will be in our power to apply to any defects and evils which may have been shown in these institutions, or remedied upon the same principles as those of the Acts which have been already passed for England and Scotland:

To thank His Majesty for the information that a further Report of the Commission of Inquiry into the condition of the poorer classes of His Majesty's Subjects in Ireland will speedily be laid before us; and to assure His Majesty that we shall approach this subject with the caution due to its importance and difficulty; and that we feel that the experience of the salutary effects already produced by the Act for the Amendment of the Laws relating to the Poor in England and Wales may in many respects assist our deliberations:

An Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question, in the last paragraph but two; by leaving out from the word "Ireland" to the end of the paragraph, in order to add the words, “we will proceed without delay to the consideration of any defects and evils which may have been proved to exist in those institutions, for the purpose of applying such remedies as may obviate all just cause of complaint, and insure the impartial administration of justice,” instead thereof.

And the Question being put, That the words proposed to be left out stand part of the Question;

Sir John Wrottesley reported from the Committee Address an an Address accordingly; and the same was read; as followeth:

Most gracious Sovereign,

We, Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in Parliament assembled, beg leave to return Your Majesty our humble Thanks for Your most gracious Speech from the Throne.

We acknowledge with thankfulness the expression of the satisfaction with which Your Majesty again meets the great Council of the Nation assembled in Parliament, and Your Majesty's anxiety to avow Yourself of our advice and assistance; and we assure Your Majesty, we also rejoice that the present state of public affairs, both at home and abroad, is, such as to permit us to proceed without delay or interruption to the calm examination of those measures which will be submitted to our consideration.

We assure Your Majesty we have learned with much satisfaction, that Your Majesty continues to receive from Your Allies, and generally from all Nations, the powerful and conciliatory effect of the measures which it is equally Your Majesty's wish to cultivate with Your Majesty those friendly relations which it is equally Your Majesty's wish to maintain with them, and we are convinced that the intention, by which happily subsists between this Country and France, is a pledge to Europe of the continuance of the general Peace.

We are much gratified to be informed that Your Majesty, desirous on all occasions to remove causes of dissension between other Powers, has offered Your mediation in order to compose the difference which has arisen between France and the United States, and that this offer has been accepted by the King of the French, while the answer of the President of the United States has not yet been received; and we participate in the confident hope entertained by Your Majesty, that a misunderstanding between two Nations so enlightened and high-minded, will be settled in a manner satisfactory to the feelings and consistent with the honour of both.

We are deeply concerned that Your Majesty has still to lament the continuance of the Civil Contest in the Northern Provinces of Spain, and feel persuaded that the measures which Your Majesty has taken, and the engagements into which Your Majesty has entered, sufficiently prove Your Majesty's deep anxiety for its termination; we rejoice that the proclamation of martial law, which has resulted from the present Government of Spain, inspires Your Majesty with the hope that the authority of the Queen will soon be established in every part of her Dominions, and that the Spanish Nation, so long connected by friendship with Great Britain, will again enjoy the blessings of internal tranquility and union.

We humbly acknowledge Your Majesty's goodness in having given directions that the Treaty which Your Majesty has concluded with the Queen of Spain, for the suppression of the Slave Trade, should be laid before us.

We beg leave to convey to Your Majesty our Thanks for having directed the Estimates for the Year to be prepared, and to be laid before us, without delay, and for Your Majesty's gracious assurance that they have been framed with the strictest regard towards the Maritaine strength of the Country, and of giving adequate protection to the extended Commerce of Your Majesty's Subjects; and we also, with pride, acknowledge Your Majesty's earnest recommendation, by considering whether better provision may not be made for this duty of a Sovereign, and we will attend to Your Majesty's earnest recommendation, by considering whether better provision may not be made for this great purpose in some of the departments of the Law, and more particularly in the Court of Chancery.

We trust that we shall be able to effect a just settlement of the question of Tithe in Ireland, upon such principles as will tend at length to establish the condition of the poorer classes of Your Majesty's Subjects in Ireland, will speedily be laid before us, and we assure Your Majesty that we will approach this subject with the caution due to its importance and difficulty, and that we feel that the experience may have been shown to exist in these institutions, and that we will attend to Your Majesty's earnest recommendation, by considering whether better provision may not be made for this great purpose in some of the departments of the Law, and more particularly in the Court of Chancery.

We humbly request Your Majesty, that being already in possession of the Report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the state of the Municipal Corporations in Ireland, we partake of the hope entertained by Your Majesty, that it will be in our power to apply to any defects and evils which may have been shown to exist in these institutions;
for the amendment of the Laws relating to the Poor in England and Wales, may in many respects assist our deliberations.

We ask Your Majesty to afford us a remedy founded upon the same principles as those of the Acts which have been already passed for England and Scotland.

We thank Your Majesty for the information, that a further Report of the Commission of Inquiry into the condition of Your Majesty's Subjects in Ireland, will speedily be laid before us, and we assure Your Majesty that we shall approach this subject with the caution due to its importance
and difficulty, and that we feel that the experience of the salutary effects already produced by the Act for the amendment of the Laws relating to the Poor in England and Wales, may in many respects assist our deliberations.

Your Majesty may securely rely upon our deter-nation to maintain as well as to amend the Laws and Institutions of the Country; and we receive these questions of domestic policy, to which Your Majesty has deemed it Your duty to direct our attention, with the fiercest determination of so treating them as to increase the happiness and prosperity, by promoting the religion and morality, of Your Majesty's People.

And the ballot for the Committee of the House to try the validity of the said Return took place on the same afternoon on which the said second sum of one thousand pounds had been so received in respect of such Return, the said John O'Connell, Esquire, a Member of the House, to the said Daniel O'Connell both attended the ballot for the Committee of the House, by which the validity of the said Return was to be tried, and the said John O'Connell in fact ballotted as a Member to serve on the said Committee, and the said John O'Connell was elected as a Member of the Committee, and the said Daniel O'Connell forthwith issued a notice to all the Electors of the county of Carlow to attend the said ballot, and to give directions, that there be laid before this House, a Return of the Number of Persons coming to be returned by the said Daniel O'Connell, Esquire, a Member of the House, and Alexander Raphael, Esquire, late a Member of this House, for procuring the Return of the said Alexander Raphael, Esquire, for the said county, was offered to be presented;

And Mr. O'Connell, being in his place, the said Petition was presented, and read; setting forth, That from various statements and letters lately published, bearing respectively the signatures of Alexander Raphael, Esquire, late Sitting Member for the said county of Carlow, and of Daniel O'Connell, Esquire, now sitting Member for the city of Dublin, it appears that shortly before the last Election for the said county of Carlow, a certain agreement or traffic was set on foot between the said Daniel O'Connell and Alexander Raphael, whereby the said Daniel O'Connell and Alexander Raphael, having been returned as Member; that the said traffic or agreement was represented by the said Daniel O'Connell to the said Alexander Raphael as a "safe speculation," and was concluded upon and carried into effect by both parties accordingly; that, in pursuance thereof, and before the said Election, the said first sum of one thousand pounds was placed by the said Alexander Raphael for the use of the said Daniel O'Connell, in the hands of the said Alexander Raphael's solicitor, from whom the said Daniel O'Connell one thousand pounds, for his said Daniel O'Connell one thousand pounds, for his said Daniel O'Connell, and Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and that the ballot for a Committee of the House, to give directions, that there be laid before this House, a Return of the Number of Persons coming to be returned by the said Daniel O'Connell, Esquire, a Member of the House, and Alexander Raphael, Esquire, late a Member of this House, for procuring the Return of the said Alexander Raphael, Esquire, for the said county, was offered to be presented;

And Mr. O'Connell, being in his place, the said Petition was presented, and read; setting forth, That from various statements and letters lately published, bearing respectively the signatures of Alexander Raphael, Esquire, late Sitting Member for the said county of Carlow, and of Daniel O'Connell, Esquire, now sitting Member for the city of Dublin, it appears that shortly before the last Election for the said county of Carlow, a certain agreement or traffic was set on foot between the said Daniel O'Connell and Alexander Raphael, whereby the said Daniel O'Connell and Alexander Raphael, having been returned as Member; that the said traffic or agreement was represented by the said Daniel O'Connell to the said Alexander Raphael as a "safe speculation," and was concluded upon and carried into effect by both parties accordingly; that, in pursuance thereof, and before the said Election, the said first sum of one thousand pounds was placed by the said Alexander Raphael for the use of the said Daniel O'Connell, in the hands of the said Alexander Raphael's solicitor, from whom the said Daniel O'Connell one thousand pounds, for his said Daniel O'Connell one thousand pounds, for his said Daniel O'Connell, and Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and that the ballot for a Committee of the House, to give directions, that there be laid before this House, a Return of the Number of Persons coming to be returned by the said Daniel O'Connell, Esquire, a Member of the House, and Alexander Raphael, Esquire, late a Member of this House, for procuring the Return of the said Alexander Raphael, Esquire, for the said county, was offered to be presented;
the said Alexander Raphael, whom the said Daniel O'Connell thus, in consideration of the said two sums, engaged to recommend to the electors of Carlow, was the person to forward the same, and had been described to the said Daniel O'Connell himself, who was personally little acquainted with him, as "a faithless creature, with whom no person ever had a dealing without being sorry for it;" that nevertheless, the said bargain proceeded, and was concluded on the terms of pecuniary payment above mentioned; that, in the execution thereof, the first sum of one thousand pounds was paid by the said Alexander Raphael to the said Daniel O'Connell, and the second sum of one thousand pounds was shortly afterwards paid by him to the use of the said Daniel O'Connell, and was on the 28th day of July last received by the said John O'Connell, Esquire, also a Member of the House, on the part and by the direction of the said Daniel O'Connell, to the full amount, although at that time the said Daniel O'Connell had expressed to the said Alexander Raphael, that he the said Daniel O'Connell "doubted whether there would be more than the show of a contest," that the said Alexander Raphael was thereby proposed and recommended to the electors of the county of Carlow in a published letter or address to them from the said Daniel O'Connell; that the said Alexander Raphael was returned as duly elected to the said Carlow, and that the further sum of one thousand pounds was shortly afterwards paid by him to the use of the said Daniel O'Connell, and was on the 10th of June last by his son John O'Connell, Esquire, also a Member of the House, on the part and by the direction of the said Daniel O'Connell, to the full amount, although at that time the said Daniel O'Connell had expressed to the said Alexander Raphael, that he the said Daniel O'Connell "doubted whether there would be more than the show of a contest;" that the said Alexander Raphael was thereby proposed and recommended to the electors of the county of Carlow in a published letter or address to them from the said Daniel O'Connell; that the said Alexander Raphael was returned as duly elected to the said Carlow, and that the further sum of one thousand pounds was shortly afterwards paid by him to the use of the said Daniel O'Connell, and was on the 28th day of July last received by the said John O'Connell, Esquire, also a Member of the House, on the part and by the direction of the said Daniel O'Connell; that the criminality of the traffic and transactions above stated is, if possible, aggravated by the circumstances that the said Daniel O'Connell, who appears to be the principal conductor thereof, is one of those professed reformers who appeared to be the most zealous in the cause of Parliamentary purity, and who himself took the keenest part against the old system of boroughmongering, and was particularly strenuous in his exertions to expose and punish the malpractices alleged to have been committed at a recent Election at Jassyick; that although the said Daniel O'Connell has complained with acrimony of the publication of the letters between himself and the said Alexander Raphael containing evidence of the traffic hereinafter alleged, the Petitioners humbly insist that such publication ought to be carried yet further by the production of another letter not set forth among those which the said Daniel O'Connell has given to the world, being a letter from the said Daniel O'Connell to the said Alexander Raphael, and described by the said Alexander Raphael as conveying an intimation not only of the power of the said Daniel O'Connell, to compensate the said Alexander Raphael for the expected loss of his Seat, upon Petition, by some other arrangement, the nature and lawfulness whereof should be the subject of strict inquiry; the Petitioners, therefore, anxious that the principles of Reform be fully and fairly carried into effect in all cases, and against all offenders alike, do humbly pray the House to inquire strictly into the circumstances of the said transactions, including the contents of the said unpublished letter, and to take such measures as the House shall see fit, for protecting the rights of Parliamentary Election, and bringing to punishment all persons, of whatever political party, who may be found guilty of violating the same.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration upon Tuesday next.

Ordered, That the Petition be printed.

A Motion was made, and the Question being pro—Orangeism, proposed, That it is the opinion of this House, That Orangeism has been productive of the most baneful effects upon the character and administration of public justice in Ireland; that its prevalence in the Constabulary and Peace-preservation Forces and Yeomanry Corps of that Country has led individual members, as well as large bodies of the above descriptions of force, to the gross neglect and violation of their public duty, and to the open, daring and lawless resistance of the Magistracy of the Executive Government, on various occasions; that it has entailed discord and strife amongst a people whose interest as well as duty it is to live in peace and harmony amongst one another; that systematic and surreptitious introduction of Orangeism into every branch of the military service, into almost every part of the Empire, in direct violation of orders issued in 1822 and 1829, by the Commander-in-Chief of His Majesty's Forces, and the absolute power and control vested in his Royal Highness Ernest Duke of Cumberland, by its governing bodies, the Grand Lodges of England and Ireland, together with the rank, station, influence and number of that formidable, yet secret confederacy, are well calculated to create serious apprehensions in the minds of all His Majesty's loyal subjects, and demand the adoption of the most speedy and effectual measures for the suppression of a system incompatible with the peace and happiness of the people of Ireland, with just and impartial Government, and pregnant with danger to the rightful succession to the Throne and the free institutions of this Empire—And a Debate arising thereupon.

that of reciprocal advantage; but they cannot refrain from remarking, that while the Mother Country blights the agricultural and manufacturing energies of Calcutta, by the imposition of excessive Duties on Sugar, Coffee, Rum, Silk and Cotton, and other articles, as specified in a Schedule which accompanies the Petition, India is forced to bribe British manufacturers into competition with its own industry, unaided by machinery, at a light Duty of two-and-a-half per centum, which is the same rate of Duty as Government imposes in Calcutta upon the manufactures of Bengal, and further to impose prohibitory Duties on foreign manufactures to protect the British; the Petitioners beg most earnestly to submit for the consideration of the House the justice and expediency of removing the obstacles above stated, and encouraging the cultivation and export of the important articles above enumerated, by equalizing the Duties on them with those imposed on similar productions of other British Colonies.

Poole Borough.

A Motion was made, and the Question was proposed, That a Select Committee be appointed to inquire into the circumstances attending the late Election of the Municipal Council of the Borough of Poole:—And the said Motion was, with leave of the House, withdrawn.

Poole Borough.

A Petition of Burgess of the Borough of Poole, was presented, and read; setting forth, That by the Municipal Corporation Act, Poole is placed in Schedule (A), with two wards, six Aldermen, and eighteen Councillors; that one ward is called the south-east ward, and the other the north-west ward; that the south-east ward list shows one hundred and sixty-eight; that the north-west ward list shows two hundred and fifteen burgesses; that by the said Act each ward was to be elected nine Councillors; that the election of Councillors for the said borough took place on the 26th day of December last, and that on the 29th the Mayor published the names of eighteen Councillors, but without the number of votes given to each; that Robert Major and George Lodgard, two of the Councillors declared by Robert Slade, the Mayor, as having been elected in the south-east ward, were not duly elected, being substituted for George Cooney and Samuel Saltar, who ought to have been returned; that, at the commencement of the next term after the said election, application was made by His Majesty's Attorney General to the Court of King's Bench for a writ against the said Robert Major and George Lodgard, calling on them to show cause why writs in the nature of Quo Warranto should not issue against them; that the affidavits filed in support of this application clearly proved that only one hundred and fifty-nine burgesses polled in that ward, of whom eighty-eight voted for Saltar, and eighty-seven for Conan; Major having only seventy-six, and Lodgard only seventy-four; that the rule was made absolute on the 29th day of January last, without any cause being shown by the said Major and Lodgard; that, as the law stands, the Petitioners are advised of the impossibility of the causes being tried before the Summer Assizes, and of the judgment being obtained before Michaelmas Term; that the Council so unduly returned met on the 31st day of December, and elected six Aldermen from a party in the borough to which the then Mayor and Town Clerk resided, and to annul all subsequent appointments, and that, although Robert Henning Parr, the then Town Clerk, was one of the principal persons in the Mayor's party, one Thomas Arnold, also of the same party, was, on the 1st day of January last, elected Town Clerk; that it is understood, and verily believed by the Petitioners, that the appointment of Thomas Arnold in the place of Robert Henning Parr, was to enable the latter to claim compensation from the borough fund; that more than two-thirds of the Council (including the Aldermen therein), being a party of whom Parr is one, will, as the Petitioners verily believe, award him any compensation, however extravagant; that the Petitioners are advised that in such case no protest can be made, so as to subject the sum awarded to the revision of the Lords of the Treasury; that besides the appointment of Aldermen, every other office has been filled up by men of the same party as the Mayor, whilst every person not of such party has been removed, without regard to respectability or competency; that the Petitioners having been advised that although the election of certain Councillors may be set aside, and although Aldermen may have been (who without such improper Return as aforesaid would not have been) elected, yet that it will be impossible to set aside the election of such Aldermen, and consequently to remedy any other intervening evils; it is now necessary for the Petitioners humbly submit to the House, that the existing law of the land is insufficient to apply an adequate remedy to the case of the Petitioners, and that the election of the Aldermen in which the borough is placed is by the before-mentioned undue Return; and praying the House to take into its serious consideration the inefficiency (as the Petitioners are advised) of the existing laws to apply an adequate relief to the evils resulting to the borough of Poole, from the undue return of Councillors; and that it may please the House to consider it proper, by Legislative enactment, to set aside the late Election of Councillors, and to annul all subsequent appointments and proceedings, and to enable the burgesses at large to proceed to a new election, under such precautions as shall insure a fair return, or such adequate redress as Parliament in its wisdom may deem just.

Ordered, That the said Petition do lie upon the Table; and to be printed.

A Petition of the Company of Proprietors of the Manchester and Leeds Railway. A Petition of the Company of Proprietors of the North Midland Railway, was presented, and read; taking notice of the application for the Manchester and Leeds Railway Bill; and setting forth, That the North Midland Railway is proposed to cross the Rochdale Canal five times, once under and four times over the same; that such frequent crossings are not necessary for the formation of the said Railway, or some of them may be avoided, and the said Railway may be effected without so direct and prejudicial an inference with the said Rochdale Canal; that it is also proposed to make a Tunnel in the said Railway of one mile and probably two miles in length, in part at the side of, and in other part under or at least so near the said Canal as to be the same in effect as it passes under the same; and the Petitioners believe that the making of such Tunnel will endanger their Canal altogether, and may bring about the same dry by reason of the porous state of the ground which the said tunnel is to pass through the situation where the said Tunnel is pronounced to be made; and that Petitioners have not had time to consider and provide against the said anticipated injuries, and have requested the promoters of the said Railway to postpone their application till the following Session of Parliament, in order that such persons as may be interested and provoked for; that the promoters of the said Railway refuse to listen to this reasonable request, and insist precipitating the undertaking, although the Petitioners believe that they, the promoters, are not fully and duly prepared for so momentous a mea-ure, affecting interests of so great a magnitude and importance; that the Petitioners are advised and believe that the promoters of the said Railway have many points omitted to comply with the Standing Orders of the House, and particularly in the first requisite of lodging Plans and Sections with the Clerks of the Peace of the several counties through which the said Railway is proposed to pass in the true spirit and meaning of the Standing Orders of the House, which, as Petitioners conceive, requires the Plans and Sections to be lodged for the use and advantage of the public; that although a plan was lodged with the Clerk of the Peace for the West Riding of the County of York, at his office in Wakefield, on the 30th of November last, by a surveyor employed by the promoters of the said Railway, yet the same surveyor, on the morning of the 1st of December, again obtained possession of the said Plan, and remained in possession thereof for eight successive days, to the exclusion of the Petitioners, and the public, and the surveyor of the Petitioners, in his application for a sight of the said Plan from day to day, for eight days after the said 20th of November, was informed that the said Plan was still in the hands and use of the surveyor of the promoters of the said Railway; and that the Petitioners contend that the Standing Orders of the House have been evaded and not complied with and praying that the Committee on the Petition for the said Bill may be required, for the purpose of inquiring into the several matters aforesaid, and that the Petitioners may be heard by themselves, their agents and witnesses, and that they may have such further relief as to the House shall seem meet.

Intimation of Voter Bill. No. 44.

Mr. Poulter presented a Bill to prevent Threats and Intimidation in the Election of Members to serve in Parliament: And the same was read, as followeth:

Ordered, That it appears by the books of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, produced by its Deputy Grand Secretary, before the Select Committee of this House, that numerous Warrants for constituting and holding Orange Lodges in the Army, have been issued to Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of Regiments of Cavalry and of Infantry of the Line, at home and abroad; to Non-Commissioned Officers of the Staff of several Militia Regiments; to members of other Corps, and to the Police.

Ordered, That it appears by the Evidence, that such Warrants are sent privately and indirectly to such Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates, and that Lodges have been held without the knowledge or sanction of the Commanding Officers of such Regiments or Corps; and further, that every Lodge held in the Army is considered as a District Lodge.

Resolved, That it appears that such Warrants have been issued, and Lodges held in the Army without the knowledge of Lord Hill, although the Grand Lodge of England, by Orders of the Commander in Chief of the Forces (Parliamentary Paper, No. 395, of 1835), addressed in the years 1822 and 1829 to Commanding Officers of Regiments and of Depots, and to General Officers, and other Officers on the Staff, at home and abroad, strongly repudiate the holding of Orange Lodges in the Army, as ‘fraught with injury to the discipline of the Army; and that, on military grounds, the holding of Orange Lodges in any Regiment or Corps, is contrary to order, and to the rules of the service; and that a disregard of this caution will subject offending parties to trial and punishment for disobedience of orders.’

Ordered, That the said Resolutions, and the Evidence taken before the Select Committee on Orange Lodges (Ireland), be laid before His Majesty by such Members of this House as are of His Majesty’s most honourable Privy Council.

Resolved, That an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, praying that He will be graciously pleased to direct His Royal attention to the nature and extent of Orange Lodges in His Majesty’s Army, in contravention of the General Orders of the Commander in Chief of His Majesty’s Forces, issued in the years 1822 and 1829, which strongly repudiate and forbid the holding of Orange Lodges in any of His Majesty’s Regiments, and also, to the circumstance of His Royal Highness Ernest Duke of Cumberland, a Field Marshal in His Majesty’s Army, having signed warrants in his capacity of Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland (some of them dated so recently as April in the present year), which warrants have been afterwards issued for constituting Orange Lodges in the Army.

And a Motion being made, and the Question being proposed, That this House, taking into consideration the evidence given before the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the nature, extent, character and tendency of Orange Lodges, Associations or Societies in Ireland; and of Orange Institutions in Great Britain and the Colonies; and seeing that the existence of Orange Societies is highly detrimental to the peace of the community, by exciting discord amongst the several Classes of His Majesty’s subjects; and, seeing that it is highly injurious to the due administration of justice, that any Judge, Sheriff, Magistrate, Jurymen, or any other person employed maintaining the peace of the Country, should be bound by any secret obligation to, or be in any combination with, any Association unknown to the Laws, and founded upon principles of religious exaltation, that even if justice were impartially administered under such circumstances, which is in itself impossible; yet any connexion with such Societies would create suspicious and jealousies detrimental to the peace and good government of this Country; An Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question, by leaving out from the word "That" to the end of the Question, in order to add the words, "an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, praying that His Majesty will be graciously pleased to take such measures as to His Majesty may seem advisable for the effectual discouragement of Orange Lodges, and generally of all political Societies excluding all persons of a different religious faith, using secret signs and symbols, and acting by means of associated branches," instead thereof.

And the Question being proposed, That the words proposed to be left out stand part of the Question; And the House having continued to sit till after twelve of the clock on Wednesday morning:

Mercurius, 29° die Februarii, 1836:

And the Question being put,—It passed in the Negative.

And the Question being proposed, That the words, "an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, praying that His Majesty will be graciously pleased to take such measures as to His Majesty may seem advisable for the effectual discouragement of Orange Lodges, and generally of all political Societies excluding all persons of a different religious faith, using secret signs and symbols, and acting by means of associated branches," be added after the word "That" in the original Question;—It was resolved in the Affirmative.

Then the main Question, so amended being put;

Resolved, That an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, praying that His Majesty will be graciously pleased to take such measures as to His Majesty may seem advisable for the effectual discouragement of Orange Lodges, and generally of all political Societies excluding all persons of a different religious faith, using secret signs and symbols, and acting by means of associated branches.

Ordered, That the said Address be presented to His Majesty by such Members of this House as are of His Majesty's most honourable Privy Council.

Standing Orders relative to Navigation Bills, and to Bills for making Docks, had not been complied with, inasmuch as the documents required by the Standing Orders to be deposited in the Private Bill Office of the House, had not been so deposited; but it appeared to the Committee, that the omission arose from its having been the intention, until within these few days, that the expense of the new works should be defrayed by subscription, and not by the Glamorganshire Canal Company; but that such intention being abandoned from the inability to obtain subscriptions, it is now wished to raise the necessary sum of money upon the credit of the Tolls of the said Canal, and also appeared to the Committee, that that all the preliminary steps required by the Standing Orders had been complied with, except the depositing the documents in the Private Bill Office, which it was not thought advisable to do without a subscription list or undertaking, and which, for the reason before stated, could not be forwarded in time to deposit before the presenting the Petition; and that the Committee had examined the matter of the Petition.

A Petition of Thomas B once, of the city of Dur-Esquire, was presented, and read; taking notice of the South Durham Railway Bill; and setting forth, That the said Railway is proposed to be carried for nearly a mile, through or over the Petitioner's freehold estate, comprising the number or lordship and township or constabulary of Bradley, otherwise Bradley Hall, in the parish of Wolsingham, in the said county of Durham; that on application being made to the Petitioner, he expressed his dissent to the until his death, the owner, in right of his see, of the same messuages, lands and tenements, and the several properties therein described as owners, being in fact merely lessees or tenants of the said Lord Bishop, and not owners of the property, in the said township of Conforth, as therein stated, and no application whatever was ever made to the said Lord Bishop, as such owner, for his consent; secondly, because in the List of Subscriptions for the said Railway speculation the places of abode and residence of a great number of the persons to whose names the subscribers are (as the Petitioner has had no earlier opportunity of stating and offering to prove the said several omissions and errors; and praying, That the matters herein stated may be inquired into by the House; that the Committee on the Petition for leave to bring in the said Bill may be revived; and that the Petitioner may

Mr. Dilwyn reported from the Committee on the Aberavon Petition for the Aberavon Harbour Bill; that the Standing Orders relative to Harbour Bills and Navigation Bills, had not been complied with, insomuch as no Lists of Assents, Dissents and Neuters, and no Subscription Lists, were deposited in the Private Bill Office; but it appeared to the Committee, that the omission arose from the circumstance that, up to the 17th of February last, it was doubtful whether sufficient funds could be obtained to enable the Aberavon Harbour Company to undertake the proposed new works; and that therefore the solicitor for the Bill, although he had the greatest confidence as to the assent of the assessors, did not feel himself justified in going to the expense of applying to the remaining owners and occupiers, some of whom resided at a great distance, but that subsequently the necessary funds for effecting the purposes of the Act having been procured, the remaining applications were made; and it appears that there are no parties dissenting to the measure; and that the Committee had examined the matter of the Petition.

Two Petitions of Occupiers of lands, houses or premises through or near which the proposed Railway called "The Glasgow and Falkirk Junction Railway," is intended to pass, were presented, and read; taking notice of the Glasgow and Falkirk Railway Bill; and setting forth, That the Petitioners have, upon inquiry, ascertained that their names appeared in the Book of Reference lodged with the Clerks of the Peace, containing a List of the Owners and Occupiers of lands, houses and premises intended to be taken, affected or used for the purposes of the said Railway, the Petitioners' properties being marked in the said Book of Reference with the same numbers which are now set opposite to their respective subscriptions to their Petitions; that although the said Railway, if carried into effect, will thus pass through the lands of the Petitioners, no application whatever has been made personally or in writing to them for their assent to or dissent from the said measure, or to ascertain whether they were nearer in respect of property; but that they have learned, with the utmost surprise, that their names have been put down as assenters to the Railway in the List of Occupants deposited by the promoters of the Bill in the Private Bill Office; that the Petitioners, had they been applied to in terms of the Standing Orders of the House, would have dissented from the said Undertaking, being hostile thereto in all respects; and praying the House to inquire into this evasion of the Standing Orders, and into the misrepresentation made of the assents to the said Bill, and give the Petitioners such relief in the premises as may appear just.

A Petition of Owners and Occupiers of lands, houses or premises through or near which the proposed Railway called the Glasgow and Falkirk Junction Railway is intended to pass, was also presented, and read; taking notice of the said Bill; and setting forth, That the Petitioners have learned that their names appear in the Book of Reference lodged with the Clerks of the Peace, containing a list of the owners and occupiers of lands, houses and premises intended to be taken, affected or used for the purposes of the said Railway, the Petitioners' property being marked in the said Book of Reference with the same numbers which are now set opposite to their respective subscriptions to their Petition; that although the said Railway, if carried into effect, will thus pass through the lands of the Petitioners, the requisites prescribed by the Standing Orders of the House have not been complied with, in so far as the Petitioners have never been applied to by or on behalf of the promoters of the said Undertaking, to know whether they assented to, or were neutrality towards the same; and the Petitioners have therefore learned, with the utmost surprise, that in the List of Assents, Dissents and Neuters deposited in the Private Bill Office of the House, the Petitioners are erroneously stated as having assented thereto; that the Petitioners have thereby been kept in ignorance regarding the said Undertaking; and whether their land and property was to be taken for the purposes thereof, whereby they are aggrieved; and praying, That inquiry may be made into the non-compliance with the Standing Orders, as complained of by the Petitioners, for that purpose, that their Petition be referred to the Committee on the Petition for the said Bill, or otherwise, and that the Petitioners may have such relief in the premises as to the House may seem meet.

And the said Petitions were ordered to lie upon the Table.
A Petition of Owners and Occupiers of lands, houses or premises, through or near which the proposed Railway, called the Glasgow and Fallsirk Junction Railway, is intended to pass, was also presented, and read; taking notice of the said Bill; and setting forth, That the Petitioners have also learned that their names appear in the Book of Reference lodged with the Clerks of the Peace containing a List of the Owners and Occupiers of lands, houses and premises intended to be taken, affected or used for the purposes of the said Railway, that the Petitioners' properties are marked in the said Book of Reference with the same numbers which are now set opposite to their respective subscriptions to their Petition; and that although the said Railway, if carried into effect, will thus pass through the lands of the Petitioners, the requisites prescribed by the Standing Orders of the House have not been complied with in regard to them, as far as the Petitioners are incorrectly stated to have assented to the said Undertaking, in the Lists of Assents, Dissents and Neuters in relation thereto deposited in the Private Bill Office of the House; that the Petitioners did not assent to the said Undertaking, but when applied to on behalf of the promoters thereof, gave the special objections mentioned in the affidavits to be produced in support of the prayer of the Petition; that on these grounds the Petitioners are aggrieved, and have no confidence in the accuracy of the Plans, Sections and Book of Reference of the said Undertaking; and praying the House to make inquiry into the non-compliance with the Standing Orders, as complained of by the Petitioners, and for that purpose to refer the Petition to the Committee on the Petition for the said Bill, or otherwise to refuse to pass the said Bill into a law, or to grant the Petitioners such relief in the premises as to the House may seem meet.

representing to the Petitioner that he had previously obtained the consent of his, the petitioner's landlord, Lord Eldon, the Petitioner was induced, on the assurance of the said railway, to allow himself to be set down as assenting thereto; that the petitioner has been informed and believes, that he was deceived by the said Mr. Tennant, inasmuch as the said Lord Eldon, at the time the application was made to the petitioner, had not given his consent to the said railway; that if the petitioner had not been so deceived and misled by the said Mr. Tennant, he should have given a decided dissent to the said railway, instead of allowing himself to be set down as assenting thereto; and he therefore conceives that in this respect the standing orders of the House have not been complied with; and praying, that the committee on the petition for the said bill may be revived, and that the petitioner may be heard, by himself, his agents or witnesses, before the said committee, or that he may have such other relief in the premises as to the house may seem meet.

A Petition of Tenants of Colonel Henry Bruen, Carlow county resident in the county of Carlow, was presented, and read; setting forth, That the Petitioners are informed, and believe, that a Petition on behalf of Nicholas A. Vigors, Esquire, containing certain allegations against the character of Colonel Bruen as a landlord, has been presented to the House; that the Petitioners are the tenants and neighbours of Colonel Bruen during many years, and having a perfect knowledge of all the official acts, both as a landlord and a resident country gentleman, they respectfully but earnestly state that the charges set forth in the said Petition of N. A. Vigors, Esquire, are unfounded, and they express their deep regret that charges so groundless and unwarrantable could be set before the House so indirectly by the said N. A. Vigors, calculated to hold forth an amiable and indulgent landlord to the indignation of the lower classes of society, who are necessarily unacquainted with the truth or fallacy of the allegations in the said Petition; that the Petitioners take this public opportunity of testifying before the assembled Representatives of the Nation, their deep gratitude to Colonel Bruen, not only as an indulgent landlord, but as a gentleman, whose charities for years have been unbounded; that the Petitioners feel themselves called upon to state to the House, that Colonel Bruen never exerts his authority to eject his tenants, unless where large arrears accumulate from negligence and want of industry, and even then his humanity is equally conspicuous as his indulgence, for he permits them to remove their stock and the produce of their farms, forgiving rent and arrears, and in many cases has granted annuities for life to persons ejected under such circumstances: that the Petitioners believe the list of grievances set forth in the Petition of N. A. Vigors to be wholly unfounded; one solitary instance they respectfully hope will suffice to show the general character of the charges of the said Petitioner; Colonel Bruen obtains the credit of ejecting from the lands of Ballytarsna, nineteen families, consisting of 104 individuals, including twenty-one widows and orphans; now the facts that should have been stated to the House are, that a Mr. Mills is the intermediate landlord of the said property, being only the head landlord, and not a gentleman, whose charities for years have been unbounded; that the Petitioners feel themselves called upon to state to the House, that Colonel Bruen never exerts his authority to eject his tenants, unless where large arrears accumulate from negligence and want of industry, and even then his humanity is equally conspicuous as his indulgence, for he permits them to remove their stock and the produce of their farms, forgiving rent and arrears, and in many cases has granted annuities for life to persons ejected under such circumstances: that the Petitioners believe the list of grievances set forth in the Petition of N. 23d Martii. A. 1836.

to the House, satisfied that such measures will be adopted in vindication of Colonel Bruen's character as the House shall deem wise and expedient; that the Petitioners submit to the House that such accusations were put forward by the said N. A. Vigors in order to impress the House with the idea that Colonel Bruen had used intimidation towards his tenantry to induce them to support him as candidate for the said county of Carlow, which the Petitioners fully prepared to contradict before a Committee of the House; that the Petitioners further beg to state that gross intimidation has been used in numerous instances at and previous to each Election since the year 1831, when Sir John M. Doyle and Mr. Blackney were returned, in order to prevent the tenantry of Colonel Bruen and Mr. Keroguagh from supporting them, which they were most anxious to do; and praying the House to afford an opportunity of fully investigating all matters relating thereto before a Committee of the House.

A Petition of John Alexander, of Milford, in the county of Carlow, was also presented, and read; setting forth, That the Petitioner has read with great astonishment in the public papers a Petition presented by the honourable Member for Greenock, accusing the Petitioner of having used harassing and ruinous measures wantonly as a landlord towards his tenants, and committed acts meting the reprehension of the country at large; that the Petitioner humbly but earnestly prays for public inquiry into the particulars of these statements, as he is anxious of having an opportunity of refuting such calumnies against his character; at the present moment the Petitioner, unwilling to intrude on the House, except as far as necessary for the vindication of his character, humbly declines entering into any detail, further than to state, in reply to that part of the Petition which accuses the Petitioner of having ruined his tenantry by vexatious modes of litigation, that he was forced to recover by legal proceedings the tithe for which he had become liable under Lord Stanley's Bill, and which his tenantry had declared three several times most positively that they never would pay, although not demanded by the Petitioner, until up to four months from the day it became due; the amount of the costs in each case, which the said James Hawes was served; and this case returned by the Petitioner's Law Agent was attacked arrears of rent under the circumstances just stated, but to whom receipts in full were not given, expenses attendant upon a writ of ejectment with false statements which the said James Hawes was served; and this case returned by the Petitioner's Law Agent was under Colonel Bruen, a Member of the House, obtained an abatement in the amount of rent when the circumstances of the times rendered him, as well as most other tenants in the county, unable to pay the very high rents reserved in their leases, which leases were granted them about the year 1827, and are double his present price; that, previous to the County Election in June last, the tenants who contrived arrears of rent under the circumstances just stated, but to whom receipts in full were not given, received instructions conveyed to them in the most guarded manner, that no demand for such arrears would be made if they supported Tory Candidates; if they acted otherwise, all arrears, it was hinted, to the last penny, would be most rigorously demanded; that James Hawes went to the hustings, under these apprehensions, to poll for his landlord, Colonel Henry Bruen, but fearing the displeasure of Heaven, when the Gospels were put into his hands, refused to take the bribery oath, and being thus unable, without incurring the guilt of perjury, to support his landlord, he left the polling booth without voting at all; that for thus hesitating to do which he conscientiously believed would stamp him with the crime of perjury before his Creator, and destroy for ever his peace of mind, he has been persecuted; old arrears, incurred in consequence of the one Petitioner, according to law, in the price of agricultural produce, not through any fault or negligence of the tenant, have been in one round sum exacted, together with law expenses attendant upon a writ of ejectment with which the said James Hawes was served; and this honest, industrious and conscientious man, under a very high rent, will scarcely enable him to escape ruin; and the Petitioners now, to the House, either by himself or agents, the truth of this and other cases of grievous oppression which the Electors, and their connexions in that county, have so long and so patiently endured; and if it be clearly established, of which the Petitioner cannot entertain the slightest doubt, that the people have been persecuted on political and religious grounds, he prays the House to grant them that relief which they confidently hope for from the justice, wisdom and humanity of the House.

And the said Petitions were ordered to lie upon the Table; and be printed.

Reduced Bank Annuities, the annual dividends whereof amount to 900l, and also of a bequest of the late Earl of Bridgewater, consisting of 1,992l. 15s. 7d., in the 3 per cent. consolidated Annuities, and of a small estate in land, valued at about 25l. per annum; that the Establishment is necessarily attended with an expense far beyond the annual produce of the above-mentioned sums, and the Trust cannot, with benefit to the Public, be carried on without the aid of Parliament; and praying the House to grant them such further support towards enabling them to carry on the execution of the trust reposed in them by Parliament, for the general benefit of learning and useful knowledge as to the House shall seem meet.

A Petition of Holders of Debentures, commonly called Pipe-water Debentures, issued by the Corporation of the city of Dublin, praying that a Clause may be inserted in the Municipal Corporations (Ireland) Bill, declaring the said Debentures valid and effectual securities in like manner as all preceding securities of the same nature, was presented, and read; and ordered to lie upon the Table.

Dublin and Kilkenny Railway.

Lord Viscount Clements reported from the revived Committee on the Petition for the Dublin and Kilkenny Railway Bill; and to whom two Petitions, complaining of non-compliance with the Standing Orders were referred; That the Standing Orders relative to Bills for making Railways, had not been complied with, inasmuch as the Section deposited in the Private Bill Office does not specify the levels, and describe the same by feet and inches; and inasmuch as the List of Owners and Occupiers does not state the names of the proprietors who are neuter; and inasmuch as the List lodged in the Private Bill Office contains an entry of the Grand Canal Company as Proprietors on the Line, but does not state whether the Company assented, dissented or was neutral; but it appeared that a letter was received from the secretary of the Grand Canal Company, dated the 25th of November 1835, acknowledging the receipt of an application from the Proprietors of the Kilkenny Railway, which answer the Railway Committee did not know how to interpret, or whether the Grand Canal Company would assent, dissent, or remain neutral, and that this was the ground of their not making amendments to the Lists lodged in the Private Bill Office; and further, that the Standing Orders had not been complied with, inasmuch as the Subscription List lodged in the Private Bill Office does not set forth the sums of money respectively subscribed by two of the persons appearing in the said Lists, and does not contain a full description of the places of abode of some of the subscribers; but it appeared to the Committee, that the designations of the parties subscribing were sufficient to identify them; that further, the Standing Orders had not been complied with, inasmuch as the Section was not lodged with the Clerks of the Peace in Ireland before the 30th day of November 1835, but such Section was admitted to have been lodged previous to or on the 25th day of January 1836, and early in the month of December 1835 every facility of inspection was afforded to the parties now petitioning against the Bill; that further, the Standing Orders had not been complied with, inasmuch as the proposed Railway crosses the River Barrow, and it has been admitted, that no application for assent or dissent was made to the Board of Proprietors of the Navigation of the said River till the month of February 1836, but it appeared that application was made within the proper time to Colonel Rockfort, one of the Directors.

A Petition of Inhabitants of the towns of Northampton, Market Harborough, and Stamford, and who are also Shareholders and Members of the Committee of the Midland Counties Railway Company, in support of the said Company for the formation of a Railway from Leicester, by Market Harborough and Northampton, to join the London and Birmingham Railway at or near Blisworth, with a Branch from Market Harborough to Stamford, and called "The South Midland Counties Railway Company," was presented, and read; setting forth, That the Petitioners, together with many other persons, in or about the month of March last, presented to the House, and were thereupon told that they might be heard, by themselves, their counsel, agents and witnesses, against so much of a certain Bill then and now depending in the House, intituled, "A Bill for making a Railway from Breaches commencing at the London and Birmingham Railway, in the Parish of Rugby, in the County of Warwick, to communicate with the Towns of Leicester, Nottingham and Derby, and with the Mansfield and Pinxton Railway, to be called the Midland Counties Railway," as relates to the extension of the line of the said Railway from Leicester to Rugby; that the reasons stated by the Petitioners for opposing the said Bill were, amongst others, that the line from Leicester to Rugby would divert an immense body of traffic for a great number of years carried on between the metropolis and the Midland and Northern Counties from its present direct route through Northampton and Market Harborough into another channel, to the great prejudice of the Petitioners; that a Railway might be formed from Leicester, by Market Harborough and Northampton, to join the London and Birmingham Railway at Blisworth, which would reduce the distance of travel between the said towns and London upwards of five miles, as compared with the route proposed to be taken by the Midland Company, from Leicester to Rugby; that the line by Northampton and Harfport would be made without a tunnel, whereas there were at least four on the line from Leicester to Rugby, and one of them, namely, that at Kilsby, would be upwards of a mile and a quarter long, and in other respects very objectionable to passengers; and that a Company had then lately been formed for the purpose of making such Railway by Market Harborough and Northampton, with a branch from Market Harborough to Stamford, if they could obtain the sanction of Parliament for that purpose; that such former Petitions were referred by the House to the Committee appointed to consider the provisions of the said Midland Counties Railway Bill; that the Petitioners accordingly attended, by their counsel, agents and witnesses, at the first meeting of the said Committee, when an objection was made by the promoters of the Bill to the Petitioners being heard thereon, as not having a locus standi, and the Committee ordered that the Petitioners should be allowed to examine witnesses on this point on a future day, but that they would not allow counsel to make any observations in support thereof; that the Petitioners, on the day named, produced their evidence, but before the first witness had concluded his examination, the Committee intimated to the counsel for the promoters of the Bill, that unless they could contradict the statements of the witness, they were satisfied the Petitioners had clearly shown themselves to be the promoters of a competing line then being in contemplation, and consequently entitled, under the Resolutions lately passed by the House for the guidance of Railway Committees, to be heard against the Bill; and the counsel for the Bill, being unable to contradict the witness, the Petitioners were allowed to have a locus standi, and admitted to be heard accordingly; that the Petitioners attended, with their counsel, agents and witnesses, for eleven successive days before the said Committee, and during that time, by their counsel, cross-examined the witnesses examined by the promoters of the Bill and required to produce to the Committee a Plan and Section of their proposed line of Railway, and which was done accordingly, except as to a small portion of the Section; that on Saturday the 20th of March last, the Petitioners were informed by the Committee that their case would not be gone into until after the Easter Recess, and inasmuch as the case of other and distinct parties opposing the Bill was then immediately proceeded with, the Petitioners, with their counsel and agents, consequently abstained themselves from further attending the said Committee pending the examination of witnesses by the other parties aforesaid; that on Tuesday, the 29th day of March last, immediately before the rising of the Committee for the Easter Recess, the counsel for the Promoters of the Bill, in the absence of the Petitioners and their counsel made an application to the Committee for an order to the agents of the Bill to deliver to the agents for the Bill a List of the Subscribers to the Petitioners' Company, and a Plan and Section of their proposed line, on a Parliamentary scale, by the following Saturday; that during the time this application was being made, the agent of the Petitioners happened accidentally to come into the committee-room, whereupon the said agent was informed by the Committee of the order they were about to make, when the said agent urged that his counsel and engineer were absent, and that if the Committee thought proper to make such order, he hoped they would allow as long a time as possible; that an order was then made by the Committee as follows, that is to say, "Resolved, That the Promoters of the contemplated Northampton Line deliver to the agents of the Midland Counties Railway, or on or before Saturday, a List of Subscribers to their proposed line, on a Parliamentary scale, on or before the Thursday following;" that their said agent immediately proceeded to the office of Mr. Giles, the engineer employed by the Petitioners, and informed him of the order which had been made, and instructed him to submit no trouble or expense in complying with the said order, if possible, but that Mr. Giles at once said it was utterly impossible for him to measure, plot and plan such an extent of country within the time mentioned, and that he did not know where to find a sufficient number of competent surveyors for the purpose, but that he would as quickly as possible complete the section of the proposed line, and furnish the promoters of the Bill with a list of the proprietors over whose land the proposed line would pass, and which he conceived was all that the promoters of the Bill really required, and that he would communicate to the engineer for the Bill the impossibility of his complying literally with this order; and that Mr. Giles did the same evening proceed to the office of the engineer for the Bill, for the purpose of making such communication, and on finding he had gone into the country, he made such communication to a clerk in his office; that the List of Shareholders in the company of the Petitioners, and whose shares amounted to about 400,000 L., and upon which the whole deposits had been paid, with a memorandum at the foot of such list, stating that the Instrument had been made for shares to double the amount of capital required (such capital amounting to the sum of 1,200,000 L.), but that the remaining shares had not then been allotted was delivered to the agent for the Bill in the course of that day, and the List of the Proprietors over whose lands the proposed line passed, on the 10th of April; that on Wednesday, the 13th of April, being the day on which the Committee first met after the Easter Recess, the Petitioners attended, with their counsel, agents and witnesses, and their engineers with the section of the line, completed on a Parliamentary scale, and with the line of the proposed Railway accurately marked out on the Ordnance Map, and which the engineer for the Bill admitted was sufficient for him or any other engineer across the country within one hundred or two hundred yards; that the Petitioners did not complete a more accurate and minute survey of their contemplated line of railway through Market Harborough and Northampton, upon a Parliamentary scale, sufficient time to produce it before the Committee, in consequence of negotiations having been opened between them and the directors of the Midland Counties Railway Company, the promoters of the Bill, by which it was agreed that the said directors should cause the line proposed and contemplated by the Petitioners to be surveyed by their own engineer, and that if he should report in its favour, it should be adopted by the said directors; that the negotiations were carried on during the whole month of February, and that it was only on the first of March that the resolution of the said directors not to adopt the said contemplated line was communicated to the Petitioners; that in consequence of the said negotiations, the hopes held out thereby that the said contemplated line would eventually be adopted by the said directors, and the delay consequent thereupon, the Petitioners were deprived of the opportunity of completing the said detailed plan and section of such line within the time limited by the Committee, which, but for the said delay so caused as aforesaid, they would have been enabled to do; that under these circumstances, the engineer employed for the Petitioners, stated to the Committee, in his evidence, the impossibility of his complying with the order of the Committee within the short time limited by such order, all the engineers and surveyors he was acquainted with, and upon whose skill he could place reliance, being at this particular time of the year so engaged as to be unable to give their immediate and undivided attention to a survey of this description, and that he knew not where to apply to obtain a sufficient number of competent surveyors for the purpose; that counsel urged the reasons stated in the former Petitions of the Petitioners, why they were not in a more forward state with their plans and sections, as directed to the Committee that, in the spirit of the Resolutions lately passed by the House for the guidance of Railway Committees, they should examine the merits of the contemplated line by Harborough and Northampton, in reference to the interests of the public, if not out of consideration to the Petitioners, as being the promoters of a competing line of railway, but the Committee refused to allow the counsel for the Petitioners to open their case, or to call any witnesses in support of their proposed line; that it was admitted in evidence by the engineer examined on the part of the Bill, that the line contemplated by the Petitioners from Leicester by Market Harborough and Northampton, was practicable, and upwards of four miles shorter than the line proposed by the Midland Company from Leicester to Rugby; that the principal argument used by the Committee to the Promoters of the Bill was, that the line by Rugby would open a communication for the town of Leicester with Birmingham, and the west of England; but the Petitioners are prepared to show, that the traffic between those places is considerable, compared with the importance that would attach to a railway communication between Stanford and the eastern part of the country, with London and the manufacturing and coal districts of Leicestershire and Derbyshire, and which would be advantageously effected by the proposed line by Market Harborough and Northampton, and the branch from Market Harborough to Stamford; the Petitioners feel it incumbent upon them, both in regard to their own interests and that of the public, to represent, for the consideration of the House, that the chairman and two other members of the Committee to whom the Midland Counties Railway Company's Bill was referred, and who have regularly attended the meetings of the Committee, are shareholders to a considerable extent in that Company; that seldom, if ever, more than fifteen or sixteen members attended the meetings of the Committee, and on the day when the Petitioners were precluded from going into their case, only nine members were present; and praying that the same House will be pleased to take the circumstances of their case into consideration, and grant them relief.

Ordered, That the said Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of John Joseph Lawson, printer of The Newspapers, Times Newspaper, Edward Robert Hearns, printer of The Morning Herald, Charles Baldwins, printer of The Times Newspaper, and Thomas McMurtrie, printer of The Evening Post, praying the House not to sanction the proposed restriction on the size of Newspapers, was presented, and read; and ordered to lie upon the Table.

A Petition of Patrick Neill, LL.D., Secretary to Edinburgh, the Caledonian Horticultural Society, praying that he may be heard, by himself, his counsel or agent, against the Edinburgh, Leith and Newhaven Railway Bill, was presented, and read; and ordered to lie upon the Table.

A Motion was made, and the Question being Midland Counties Rail considered; the Petition, which upon the 25th day of April last, was made from the Committee on the Midland Counties Railway Bill, was not taken into further consideration; An Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question, by leaving out, from the words "That the" to the end of the Question, in order to add the words "Bill be re-committed to the former Committee," instead thereof.

And the Question being put, That the words proposed to be left out stand part of the Question: The

A Petition of Inhabitants of Calcutta, in the East Indies, agreed to at a Meeting of the said Inhabitants, held at the Town Hall, on the 4th day of January 1834, convened by the Sheriff, was presented, and read; setting forth, That by the Act passed in the third and fourth year of the reign of His present Majesty, and intituled, "An Act for effecting an Arrangement with the East India Company, and for the employment of the East Indies, agreed to at a Meeting of the said Inhabitants, held at the Town Hall, on the 5th day of January 1835, convened by the Sheriff, was presented, and read; and upon the 30th day of April 1834," the Petitioners feel aggrieved, inasmuch as they humble conceive that only the first of these objects has been in any degree attained; and that, although an arrangement beneficial to the East India Company has been effected, such benefit has been bestowed at the expense of the inhabitants of India of every class, and that no secure or reasonable provision whatever has been made for the better government of His Majesty's Indian Territories; that the arrangement which has been made is one which benefits the East India Company at the expense of the inhabitants of India, is plain, from the provisions of the 12th section of the said Act, by which the whole bond debt of the East India Company in England, as well as the debt called the Territorial Debt, and every other kind of debt and liability whatever, is charged upon the revenues of India, without ex- mination of the accounts by which the Debt (so called) was made to appear territorial; whilst it is further provided by the same section, that neither any stock or effects which the said Company may hereafter come to own, nor the dividend of interest on 10 l. 10s. per cent. by the Act secured to them, nor the dirctors or proprietors shall be liable to or chargeable with any of the then existing debts or liabilities; that such arrangement beneficial to the East India Company alone, is further plain, from the provisions of the 11th section, by which it is provided, that out of the said revenues there shall be paid to the Company for their own use, a dividend of 10 l. 10s. per cent. half yearly; by the provisions of the 12th section, by which 200 l. sterling is to be paid for 100 l. stock at the price of redemption; by the provisions of the 13th section, by which the Company is entitled to demand redemption of their stock, at the rate aforesaid, in case of their ceasing to retain, or being deprived by authority of Parliament of the possession and government of the said territories; and, lastly, by the provisions of the 17th section, by which the said dividend of 10 l. 10s. is to be paid in preference to all other charges payable in Great Britain, which effect, as the East India Company is left in possession of the whole government of India, and the control of the revenues thereof, is as much as to say in preference to all charges whatever; by which enactments, the Petitioners submit, an injustice has been done to the whole body of Indian creditors holding Government promissory notes, given for money unquestionably borrowed on the security of the territorial revenues, and on that security alone; insomuch as their security, which was expressed in terms, and prior in date, has been suddenly and without an opportunity of objection made secondary, in order to pay the commercial capital of the East India Company, with which the commercial assets alone were charged, thus preparing dividends in East India Stock further secured to the Proprietors of the Company, by the provisions of the 14th and 15th sections of the said Act, creating a guarantee fund to accommodate to the amount of twelve million sterling; the territorial creditors are in no wise secured against the injurious effect of a perpetual drain of greatly more than a million and a half sterling annually from India, the revenues of the Company, which, while decreasing, are thus encumbered with an immense additional burthen; that not only has injustice been done to the territorial creditors by these enactments, but the condition of every man and every class of men in India is made worse by the exorbitant provisions of these sections; and no class of men benefited but the proprietors of the East India Company; for the effect of these enactments must necessarily be to reduce the salaries of the European servants of Government of all descriptions, so as to render the reward of labour scanty, and return to their own country always remote, in most cases impossible, to cripple the efforts of the merchant, and diminish commercial activity and enterprise by the exorbitant provisions of the 15th section of the said Act, for the permanent settlement of the land revenue, fixed in 1793 by Lord Cornwallis, should also, at some future, yet no distant period, be set aside, when it shall become evident to all men that the sums charged upon India by this Act cannot be paid without increased taxation; that the Petitioners are so seriously impressed with the belief that the difficulties which must arise in making these payments are so great as to be almost insurmountable, and the discontent that are likely to be produced in the endeavours to meet them, may be so great as to be dangerous, that they deem it necessary to mention other sources of useless expense, created by this Act, that they might not otherwise have thought important enough to call to the notice of Parliament; that the creation of a new Presidency at Agra is calculated apparently for no other end than to increase expense and patronage, inasmuch as, by the provisions of political power and responsibility are taken away from the Governor, and centered in the Governor General of India; and the Petitioners are not aware of any increase of benefit to be expected from the creation of the Upper Provinces of the Presidency, that can compensate for the increase of expense which is beyond doubt; that the extension of episcopal estab- lishments lishments of the Church of England (even though, as the Petitioners admit, the extension has not been as yet effectuated on an extensive scale) is still an entirely useless burthen, and, moreover, a grievance laid upon the great body of the people of India; and the Petitioners submit, that if such extension of episcopal establishments be deemed of importance by the people of England, that the expense thereof should be paid out of the dividends of 101. 10s. per cent. on India stock, or otherwise provided for by law; and that the said territories, nor any natural-born subject of the King of Great Britain, shall, by reason only of his religion, place of birth, descent, colour, or any of them, be disabled from holding any place, office or employment under the said Company, or any other person claiming the said offices or employments, and the great body of the people of India have gained no additional security for better government whatever; that, as far as the inhabitants of Calcutta, and every Englishman throughout the Presidency, have been deprived of the security they before possessed, that no local law repugnant to the law of England should be imposed upon them, while the great body of the people have gained no additional security for good government whatever; that, so far as the inhabitants of Calcutta, and every Englishman not in the service of the East India Company, are affected by the provisions of this Act, they find the security they have enjoyed for more than a century by the East India Company, and the courts established by Royal Charter and the authority of Parliament, and proceeding on the known maxims of English law, threatened by the extraordinary provisions of this Act, which it seems plain shall not be lawful for the Governor General in Council, without the previous sanction of the Court of Directors, to make any law or regulation whereby power shall be given to any Courts of Justice other than the Courts of Justice created by Royal Charter and the authority of Parliament, and proceeding on the known maxims of English law, and which shall abolish any of the Courts of Justice created by Royal Charter and the authority of Parliament, or the public service still remains attached as a personal perquisite to the individuals composing the Court of Directors; and while the Court of Directors itself as a body will not exercise the power, neither the Board of Control nor the Supreme Local Govern-the people of England; and that the permission to reside without license is rendered insecure and valueless by the uncertain state in which the laws respecting it are seen to be left; and that, finally, the injustice under which that country labours, in having extremely high and almost prohibitory duties imposed on one of its staple productions (sugar), and by many other vexatious commercial restrictions, to which differences, is still unreformed, and the several West Indian Colonies are benefited at their expense, an inequality the more striking, since, in the course of the same Session, the Act passed, there was bestowed on the West Indian Colonies, at the expense of England, a compensation for the loss of slave property to the amount of twenty millions sterling; while, by this Act, annual burthens to a sum which it would require nearly twenty millions to redeem, were laid on India for the benefit of one English Company, and no compensation whatever afforded; that no additional security for better government has been gained by any class of men in India, the Petitioners conceive is further plain, from the following facts, viz. that by the 43d section of the Act, an absolute power of legislating is given to the Governor General in Council, with no proviso that saving provisos may be made, or that a proviso be included in any Act, by Parliament, to save the prerogative of the Crown, and supremacy of Parliament itself, from destruction or diminution, by the legislative powers of the Governor General in Council; that the provisions for the repeal or disallowance of any obnoxious laws that may be made in pursuance of such prodigious power, still rests, as it did in substance before, with the Ministers of the Crown; that the provisions of the 46th section afford no protection to the class for which it legislate, and that the provisions of the 47th section for promulgating future laws do not prescribe even the scanty security under the authority of Parliament of a period previous to their enactment, which has been granted even to Ceylon, a country nearly or similarly situated with India; while the provision of the 40th section, that one legislative member of the Council of India is not to be a member of the Company's service, must be looked upon as no security at all, since it will be the Board of Control and the Ministers of the Crown who will henceforward be conferring the important powers of legislation of India to its support, and not the Directors of the East India Company; that, moreover, as appears to the Petitioners, any consideration of the constitution of the new Council of India, in its legislative capacity, is rendered of no importance by the provisions of the 49th section, by which in effect the Legislative Council; and that, whatever may be the result of all these provisions, which they suppose to have been made public at least, if not unconstitutionally conducted; that the Petitioners therefore pray, that the House will be pleased to take in its deliberate consideration the foregoing matters, and apply such remedies, by amendments of this Act, and new enactments, as shall seem calculated to remove the evils complained of by the Petitioners, to retain the securities for their rights and for good government they always had, and really to improve their condition.
