portion of the recent views and determinations of His Majesty's Government, in so far as it has been possible for them to become acquainted with them; they pray the House to believe in their sincerity; they desire, as the representatives of a people who have ever in their councils of that country shown strong attachment to the British Empire, not to forget the sentiments of respect they owe to the House, and which its high attributes require; but at the same time it would be culpable in them to sanction by their silence any misconception with regard to the nature of the improvement and reforms required, or to the constitutional and practical system of government which they desire to see established in that province, and with which they believe to be equally in accordance with the true principles of the constitution, the incontestable rights of the inhabitants of that province, and their natural and social position, and with their wishes, interests and necessities; when they solemnly repeat, that the principal object of the political reforms, which the House of Assembly and the people of that province have for a great number of years used every effort to obtain, and which have frequently been detailed to the House, is to extend the elective principle to the Lower Council of the provincial legislature, which, by its opposition to the people, and by reason of its imperfect and vicious constitution, has proved insufficient to perform the functions for which it was originally created; to render the executive council directly responsible to the representatives of the people, conformably to the principles and practice of the British Constitution as established in the United Kingdom; to place under the wholesome and constitutional control of the House of Assembly the whole public revenue raised in that province, from whatever source derived; to obtain the repeal of certain Acts passed by the Parliament of the United Kingdom, in which the people of that province have not been represented, with regard to the internal affairs of that province, making its territory and best resources the subject of unfair speculation and monopoly, and which hold to be a violation of the rights of the legislature and of the people of that province; to ensure equal rights and impartial justice to all classes of the inhabitants of that province; to abolish sinecures and the accumulation of incompatible offices; to redress the numerous abuses which prevail in the various departments of the public service; to obtain for the provincial legislature, with regard to the internal affairs of the province, and more especially over the executive council, the control of the waste of the public moneys thereof, for the benefit of all classes of His Majesty's subjects, without distinction, that essential control, which would be the direct consequence of the principles of the constitution; when they say, they respectfully repeat to the House these their demands, and declare their firm intention to persevere in asking them, as being alone calculated to ensure the liberty, peace and welfare of that province, and the confidence of the people in the government, and to cement their political union with the United Empire, they can scarcely fear that they should not be understood by the House; they will, however, add to their humble declarations some new facts, which must tend yet more to convince the House of the justice of what they ask, and of the correctness of the view they take of the common interest of the mother country, and of that colony. They are bound in the first place to express their satisfaction at the recall of the evil spirit of dissension, and respect, at the appointment as his successor of a distinguished personage, who, independently of his qualifications as an individual, of which they have no motive for doubting, was, from his previous habits and position, more likely to comprehend their wishes and their wants. At the opening of the present session of the provincial Parliament, they had to applaud the principles of order and justice announced in the speech delivered from the throne, by his excellency the Governor in Chief of that province, on divers matters connected with the administration of the government, and which might become the subject of their deliberations; in their firm hope that the efforts of His Majesty's Government to do full justice to the people even in matters of that country, held the strong attachment to the constitution, in a spirit of enlightened liberality, they have by their answer shown that confidence could still exist on their part, and that of the people in His Majesty's Government; they believed so much the more firmly, that the declarations of which they have just spoken, and the extraordinary attributions and circumstances which accompanied the usual powers of His Majesty's representative, were their own guarantee that the essential and vital objects which were only spoken of to them as matters for the future deliberation and decision of His Majesty and Parliament, would be looked at in the same comprehensive spirit, and with the same views, and, above all, that the researches and determinations adapted to throw light on the solution of these weighty questions, would not be restrained by any formal refusal of the demands which were to form the matter of investigation, nor by any final determination to maintain at all events the pretensions raised from divers subjects of colonial policy by His Majesty's responsible ministers, and which called forth the remonstrances of the House of Assembly and the people; functions which, as His Majesty's representative, was pledged on his honour to perform to them, were to be equally the subject of research and deliberation; they thought, that without bringing forward unjust and inapplicable theories of metropolitan domination and colonial abatement, without recurring to a system proved false by memorable examples, regard would be had exclusively to the principles of the constitution, the mutual interests of all parties, and the peace, welfare, rights, wishes and wants of these important portions of the British dominions; it could not be otherwise, as it was their anxiety that they were brought to suppose, from the knowledge which reached them, at first indirectly, and afterwards by the official channel, of certain extracts from a despatch dated the 17th July 1835, addressed by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, to certain persons in Lower Canada (unacknowledged as they moreover are with the tenor of the other parts of the same document, and with any subsequent instructions) that in point of fact, the researches authorized by His Majesty, for the purpose of ascertaining the means of doing justice to His Canadian subjects, were on several of the most essential points limited by preconceived opinions and understood expressions in the instructions herebefore set forth; they are bound on this head to declare, that in the face of obstacles like these, if His Majesty's Government should persist in maintaining them, and without the assent of the mother country, to the essential reforms they expect, no measures of minor importance can have the effect desired; that the delay occasioned by the investigations announced, will serve only to embolden the enemies of the people of that province and of His Majesty's Government in their hopes of dissension and violence, and that the best intentions, or even acts on the part of the head of the provincial executive, even in conjunction with the efforts of the House of Assembly, and of the people, might be wrecked in contending against the deep rooted system of vice and abuse which has robbed His Majesty's government in that province of all efficiency and respect, and has endangered the liberties and safety of the inhabitants of Canada. At the head of the reforms which they persist in considering as essential, is the introduction of the principle of popular election into the constitution of the Legislative Council of the province, and to the people of that country, might be made to understand the liberties and safety of the inhabitants of Canada. At the head of the reforms which they persist in considering as essential, is the introduction of the principle of popular election into the constitution of the Legislative Council of the province, and which might be the direct consequence of the pretended doctrine of the rights of the province, and of that colony. They are bound on this head to declare, that in the face of obstacles like these, if His Majesty's Government should persist in maintaining them, and without the assent of the mother country, to the essential reforms they expect, no measures of minor importance can have the effect desired; that the delay occasioned by the investigations announced, will serve only to embolden the enemies of the people of that province and of His Majesty's Government in their hopes of dissension and violence, and that the best intentions, or even acts on the part of the head of the provincial executive, even in conjunction with the efforts of the House of Assembly, and of the people, might be wrecked in contending against the deep rooted system of vice and abuse which has robbed His Majesty's government in that province of all efficiency and respect, and has endangered the liberties and safety of the inhabitants of Canada.
oppression and abuses; they continue in like manner to believe that any partial reform which shall stop short of the introduction of the elective principle, will be altogether insufficient, and will, as leaving the inherent vice untouched, bring back the same short of the introduction of the elective principle, to the House, and that no other proof that the past and present acts of that body, is needed to remove all doubt as to the nature and spirit of the improvement to be introduced into it; they look, in this respect upon the Act of 1791, giving legislators for life to the Canadian provinces, at the mere pleasure of the executive authority, as an unfortunate experience in the advantages of the constitution, and to the subversion of the institutions of the province, to that of the high court of Great Britain, and would force them to regret their allegiance to Great Britain, and to the common welfare of the people. Respecting as they do the expression of the royal pleasure, they yet regret that the Ministers of the Crown should have declared that His Majesty was most unwilling to admit that the question of an elective legislative council was a subject of debate in that province; they beg to be permitted to represent to the House, that it is not within the province of the Colonial Secretary to limit the subjects which are to engage the attention of the House of Assembly, and the people it represents, within the required forms, with the view of improving the laws and condition of the province. Against this infringement of the liberties of the subject, by one of the responsible servants of the Crown, they dare to appeal to the supreme authority of the empire, to that of the high court of Parliament. They do not intend to discuss the historical points of English colonial government on which they venture to differ with His Majesty's Ministers. Time has solved the problem, and they firmly believe that those happy countries to which these questions refer, would never have attained the degree of prosperity which they now enjoy, either under the old colonial government, or under a system like that which successive Colonial Ministers have established and maintained in that colony. On the subject of the Executive Council, they abstain from entering on any details, because they hold this question to be closely connected in practice with the other more important subjects of colonial policy; they confine themselves to saying, that the full and entire recognition of the rights of the House of Assembly, and of the people by those whom His Majesty are pleased to call to His councils, and their constitutional responsibility based upon the practice of the United Kingdom, will be essential motives for confidence in His Majesty's Government. They have also asked, and they now again ask, for the repeal of certain noxious nous Acts, of which the people of the country have complained; they wish, among others, to mention the Act of sixth year of our late Sovereign King George the Fourth, chapter 69, commonly called "the Tenures' Act," which grants certain privileges to a company of individuals residing chiefly in London, whose object is to make the lands of that province a subject of speculation. With regard to the former of these Acts, its nature and its effects, their complaints have been so general, and so numerous, that they abstain from repeating them; they will only add, that recent decisions of the superior tribunals of the country have refused any validity to the proceedings of the pretended court of Escheats established by the said Act, which has in fact merely served as a pretext for creating several sinneres, paid out of the public revenue of that province, and which they have not recognized, and will never recognize. They pray the House, then, that being at length convinced of the baneful effects of the said Act, on the social institutions of that province, the common rights of its inhabitants, and the settlement of the waste lands therein, without its containing one redeeming beneficial provision, but when, on the contrary, it has tended solely to favour the seignor, while it professes to be intended for the relief of the mass of the serjeants, it may please the House to concurrence in other branches of the Parliament in effecting the immediate repeal of the said Act, in order that the provincial legislature may be no longer prevented from enacting laws (as it has the right to do) on the numerous subjects which it has been pretended to regulate by the said Act, and in order that they in particular, as one branch of that legislature, may do justice in that behalf to their constituents, in a manner adapted to their interests and their wants, with which they have better means of being acquainted than any authority sitting without that province. On the subject of the latter of the said Acts, they have, as well before it was passed, and with the knowledge and approbation of His Majesty's Ministers while it was in progress through the Houses of Parliament, as since that time, made equally numerous representations. They know that one of the effects of this Act, besides authorizing monopoly in improved lands, already owned and occupied by the people of that province, has been to confirm the illegal sale of nearly a million of acres of the waste lands of that province, made to the said company, in addition to the unusual privileges it confers on the said company, with regard to the application of the proceeds of the said sale,—privileges which belong solely to the provincial legislature, whose powers have been therein usurped. Such a sale is also closely connected with the incontestable right of British subjects inhabiting that province, and of those who come to settle therein, not to be taxed without their free consent expressed through their representatives. The said sale has rendered impossible the free settlement of the most advantageous portion of the accessible lands, and, properly speaking, the only portion of these lands which had escaped the action of the system of fraud, speculation and monopoly which the servants of His Majesty's Government in that province have constantly maintained in this department. They humbly believe, that, independently of the high considerations aforesaid, an essential point of the public law of the country has been lost sight of, namely, that the waste lands of that province are not of the same nature as the hereditary and proprietary property belonging to the crown, any more than they had that character when they were held by his Most Christian Majesty; they formed then, and they form at this day, part of the public domain of the State, which in the several dependencies of the empire, is committed to His Majesty's paternal care, for the benefit of their inhabitants and of other subjects of the empire who may wish to settle therein, and is subject to the supreme authority of Parliament; and they conceive that in that province the provincial Parliament is fully and exclusively invested with this authority, the exercise of which they will never willingly renounce; they believe they have given too many proofs that they are perfectly disposed to exercise it for the advantage, as far as they can, of those classes of His Majesty's subjects, to render it possible that any consideration foreign to the laws and constitution, should induce the Parliament of the United Kingdom or His Majesty's Ministers, forcibly to abridge on this point the rights of the provincial Parliament. If other arguments than those drawn from constitutional law, and from the public law of the country, were requisite to demonstrate the correctness of these views of this question, they would say, that in practice, other portions of the public domain of that province, which were a source of profit at an earlier period, have continued to be administered as having precisely the same character as before the cession of the country; that in divers instances no objection has been raised to various acts of the provincial Parliament on matters therewith connected; and that from the moment when the very act which defines the forms of their present constitution went into operation (a substance which cannot but have weight with the House), His Majesty's Government has recognized the nature and destination of the waste lands of that province, by the very circumstance of reserving, and continuing to this day to reserve, a seventh part thereof, to belong more particularly to the Crown, and to be under its special control. Instead of this seventh, the executive authorities have taken possession of the whole of these lands, of which they have disposed for the personal advantage of their members, and of their friends and subalterns, for the purpose of planting corruption in the representation, and among the people, of securing an undue responsibility in the provincial administrations, and of withdrawing them altogether from the control and influence of the House of Assembly. To justify their former waste, and to retain the same means of bad government for the future, the same authorities established as a doctrine what had theretofore been only a culpable act, and these pretensions, rendered powerful by their own effects, have unhappily made their way to His Majesty's throne, and to the Supreme Council of the United Kingdom. Under the ancient government of Canada, the settlement of the wild lands, under a system as regular and easy to be adapted to the circumstances of the country, the means, manners and locality, by its inhabitants, and by others of their fellow subjects who come to settle among them, was regarded as a point so essential, that a great portion of the ancient law of the country relates to this subject, and lays down rules which ensure the right of the population to obtain lots of land for the purpose of cultivating them, and which establish the relative rights of all parties interested; they conceive, that the power of ensuring the efficiency of these laws, of modifying them or enacting others in their stead, in cases of need, has devolved solely upon the provincial Parliament; they regret, that since the change of domination, the executive authority has been confounded upon others under the Tenures' Act, on the one hand, and the pretensions of the executive to dispose of these lands without control, on the other hand, have entirely nullified the advantages which were best adapted to advance the moral and physical welfare of the people, and to give stability to their institutions and to their political existence, as a happy and affectionate portion of His Majesty's subjects; they are sure that the people of Canada, of whatever origin, have equally had reason to complain of the vices and abuses above mentioned; they cannot believe, that while rights so essential were recognized and respected under an absolute unconditional government, the operation of the British constitution, though imperfect... imperfect it application to that province, will be absolutely insufficient to maintain them. The House cannot but know that the climate of that portion of the world, and other peculiar causes, render the clearing of land most difficult, and that there are many of the chief resources of the surplus population of the old settlements, and the surest mode of investing the very moderate capital possessed by the people of the country; the resources which they would wish his Majesty's Government, with regard to the matters relative to the said Act to confirm, or of which it may have been pleased to promise, and which it will afford them opportunity to exact, to bring them under a wise system of management established under the authority of the provincial Parliament, would be equally necessary as a provision for the support of the provincial government, and for the completion of the numerous local improvements made requisite by the increase of the population, the emigration from the United Kingdom, and the state of a rising country; these resources are so important in both these respects, that if left to the unstrained disposal of the executive, they would destroy the constitution, purchase the adherence of men made powerful by the authority vested in them, and give the administration ample pecuniary means equivalent to the other revenues of the province, and consequently the power of governing arbitrarily in defiance of the authority of the legislature. They state, as a fact, that such has been in effect the system which has prevailed in that province, and has been the instrument of a unanswerable source of evils and abuses. They attach so much importance to this subject, that they are firmly of opinion, that without the legislative and constitutional authority of the provincial Parliament over the lands of the provincial domain, and the revenue arising from them, the power vested in the legislature to make laws for the peace, welfare and good government of that province would be altogether nugatory. The House may infer from this, how much they differ from His Majesty's Minister, when in one of the extracts from despatches above-mentioned, while commenting on the tenure of public offices in the province, in a manner which seems to them but little applicable to the subject, he appears to wish to entitle the influence of the representatives of the people over the persons composing the administration, because the House of Assembly must be animated by the spirit of the people, while they regard this latter circumstance as a most fortunate one, and as a pledge for the due and efficient conduct of public officers, and for the security of those whose affairs they administer; they therefore pray the House to be pleased so to act as to procure the repeal of the said Act passed in favour of the land company, and also to adopt constitutional means for amending all the undue privileges incompatible with the rights of that province, which it is the object of the said Act to confirm, or of which it may have been the source. They also humbly pray the House to be pleased, with regard to the matters relative to the public domain and the land of that province, to concur in recognizing the rights of its legislature and of the Inhabitants of that province, to the end that they be no longer prevented from labouring as a part of that legislature, to render available all the resources of the country for the support of His Majesty's government, and for the equal benefit of all the subjects of the Empire who inhabit that province, or may come to settle in it, and more especially to ensure to all without distinction the means of settling on the waste lands, under an easy system, and on such conditions as shall be found most advantageous. On the subject of the independence of the Judges, they see with pleasure that there exists no difference between the views of His Majesty's Government and their own; they regret that their efforts to carry these into effect have been rendered dispensable by which they have not only rendered the character of the legislative council worse, while it was pretended to improve it, have convinced them that it would be of no advantage to the due administration of justice to proceed on the same basis. They will not, however, abandon the consideration of the subject, and they will attentively examine any plan which shall appear to them well adapted for the attainment of the desired end. But that this wholesome doctrine has been lost sight of, and the necessity which exists that their effects should be remedied.

remedied by laws, in making of which they have a to participate. They would esteem themselves happy, if this explanation of their views remove any unintentional mistake into which His Majesty's Government are fallen, in constructing their former representations. If they have, in them, dwelt more especially on this subject, it is because, until lately, it was enveloped in that province in a system of secrery, by which the rights of the Provincial Parliament were violated and rendered nugatory, and which has been most injurious to the interests of the government; and also because His Majesty's Ministers seem to agree in the opinion that these matters should be left in the hands of the Provincial Legislature, and not in those of the Governor, who has not the same tendency.

They are rejoiced at His Majesty's gracious declaration, that He is disposed to admit the control of the representatives of the people over the whole public revenue raised in that province. They regard the fulfilment of this promise as of the highest importance. In stating ex-ceptionly in the preceding portions of this Petition, the rights which they humbly believe to belong to the people of that province, they wish to present the subject in its true point of view, in order that no misconception may hereafter retard the desired result.
In its deliberations on this result, it is impossible that His Majesty's Government may have fallen, in construing their intentions into which His Majesty's Ministers seem to agree in the opinion that these matters should be left in the hands of the Provincial Legislature, and even in opposition to the votes of the House of Assembly, or in opposition to the waste of the public proper-

But they cannot admit that their servants of His Majesty have appeared to them to have the same tendency. On the subject of the waste lands, they will here add, that they consider them as of much greater importance with regard to their free settlement, than with regard to the immediate pecuniary revenue which might be derived from them: by disposing of them at too high a price, or in larger portions than would suffice to meet the demands of such of His Majesty's subjects as should be desirous of creating funds which might enable them to continue to support the public service. It remains for them to speak of an important and extensive subject,—the public revenue and expenditure of the province. They are engaged to obtain the recognition of their rights on the ground of secresy, by which the rights of the Provincial Legislature over the sources of revenue in question, has been recognized by a long course of practice; that with regard to the casual and territorial revenue, of which they have the same tendency.

portant and extensive portion of it, namely, the whole of the waste lands and saleable timber in that province; so that they appear to have assigned to the fund, which they have procured by the sale of the said lands and timber, without lawful authority, the name of His Majesty's hereditary revenue. It is sufficient to examine the purposes to which this part of the revenue from the past years has been applied, to be convinced that their opinion of this application is by no means erroneous, and that these purposes have only an almost infinitely distant relation to the essential wants of the civil government and of the inhabitants of that province; and which they have already expressed their opinion as to the nature of these charges. His Majesty's Government cannot deny, that on every occasion which may be ecessary to ensure the efficient and beneficial management of the said lands and timber.
They shall likewise give their attention to the nature of the other charges, with the view of making the result of their deliberations known to His Majesty's Government. They have, however, already declared that they could not recognize the sinecures created under the Tenures' Act. With regard to the several proposals which have been passed out of this fund, it is their wish to express no premature opinion here, and they will merely remind the House that they have hitherto been paid in opposition to the determinations of the House of Assembly. If they see the desired arrangement effected, they shall receive with respect, and shall take into consideration with the liberality they have always exercised (regard being had to the circumstances of each case and to the country of the parties concerned), all recom-mandations from His Majesty requesting appropriations on their part, of the public monies for constitutional purposes. Having thus exposed their opinions on the essential points of the extracts from despatches, the annexed recognition of the motives of religious persecution and political party feeling, which allegations, the Petitioners humbly submit to your Honour; that it is only by the Petitioners further state, that whatever appalling misery, dissensions, heart-burnings and crimes, as set forth in the Petition of said Nicholas Agyard Vigers, there may, be, have been produced by the conduct and unconstitutional interference of the Roman Catholic priests, previously to, during and subsequent to the several elections for Members of Parliament for that county since the year 1830, many of whom have, from their chapel altars, as also at public meetings, delivered harangues of a most inflammatory nature, and denouncing such freethinkers as should dare to vote against their wishes; that in consequence of such harangues, Roman Catholic congregations have been disturbed on Sabbath days by the forcible expulsion from their chapels of respectable individuals, their pews have been torn from the places which they occupied, and destroyed, and numerous other outrages perpetrated on the persons and property of such Roman Catholic electors as resisted the mandates of the priests; that the Petitioners have further to state, that mobs, headed by Roman Catholic priests, have perambulated the county, visiting the houses of electors, and endeavouring to coerce them by intimidation, to vote contrary to their wishes; that the farming labourers of many electors who refused to comply were compelled to quit their employers' service at the busiest season of the spring; that electors were forcibly carried to a distance from the county, to prevent them from voting for candidates who would not be dictated to by these priests, and detained until the elections had terminated; that these, and a multitude of other grievances, so occasioned by the unconstitutional conduct of the Roman Catholic priests of that county, with the details of which the Petitioners are unwilling to trespass on the House, and under which the Roman Catholic tenantry of the Petitioners have been long suffering, causes the Petitioners humbly to solicit the House to institute a thorough inquiry into the whole of this matter, and pass such legislative enactment as may in future control the dangerous and unconstitutional power exercised by the Roman Catholic clergy at elections for Members of the House, as otherwise no Roman Catholic can with safety exercise his constitutional privileges.

Mr. Alston reported from the Committee on the London and Blackwall Commercial Railway; and, the London and Blackwall Commercial Railway Bills, as follows:

That the Committee were unable to commence its sittings till the 21st of March last, in consequence of the Engineers of both the above Lines being also the Engineers for two of the competing Lines of Railway proposed from London to Brighton; That since the 21st of March the Committee has sat 31 days:

That 83 witnesses have been examined before them, many of whom were a considerable time under examination:

That the case of the Commercial Blackwall Railway engaged the sole attention of the Committee in the examination of witnesses for and against the Bill up to the 14th instant:

That since that time witnesses have been examined in favour of the London and Blackwall Railway, and the evidence is now proceeding:

That in consequence of two conflicting Lines having been referred to the Committee, and of the great number of witnesses who have been, and yet remain to be examined, it will not be possible, with justice to the parties interested, for the Committee to conclude the evidence, and make their Report, within the time limited by the House for that purpose:

That the promoters of neither of the Bills are chargeable with any delay, or any attempt to delay the proceedings of the Committee, but that unavoidable interruption took place in the proceedings, in consequence of Sir John Rennie, the Engineer of the Commercial Blackwall Line, being in the act of giving evidence before the Committee on the Brighton Railway at the time he was required to be examined before this Committee, and a subsequent illness of the said Sir John Rennie (which altogether occasioned a delay of a fortnight), during which this Committee was compelled to adjourn, it being their opinion that the due course of proceeding would be to examine Sir John Rennie before any other engineering witnesses; and that a different course of proceeding would have led to confusion, and still greater delay.

The Committee therefore recommend, that the time for making their Report be enlarged to the 30th day of June next.

Mr. Speaker acquainted the House, that he had received, from the Deputy Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper in Ireland, a Petition of Talbot Glascoch, Esquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return for the City of Kilkenney, and the said Petition was laid upon the Table.

A Petition of Talbot Glascoch, of the city of Dublin, Esquire, Recorder of Baltinglass, &c. was read; setting forth, That Petitioner was invited to stand as a Candidate for the representation of Kilkenney, for which purpose a new Writ was ordered, and notice given by the Returning Officers of said city that a new Election would be held on Tuesday, the 17th day of May, between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock on said day; which notice was not taken, and not according to the law of the land; that Petitioner was accordingly proceeded to the Court, precisely at the hour of eleven o'clock, when Petitioner was sent for by Tony Perroll, Esquire, the conducting agent of Daniel O'Connell, the other Candidate for Kilkenney, to his house or offices, near to the City Court-house; that Petitioner, believing that at all events no deception would be practised with a view to preventing Petitioner being proposed and seconded, for which he was prepared, was then requested by said Tony Perroll, Esquire, to oblige him by not opposing said Daniel O'Connell, and requesting to know the grounds of Petitioner's opposition to him; Petitioner unhesitatingly unhesitatingly communicated with said avowed agent the grounds of his opposition, videelicet, that the said Daniel O'Connell was incapacitated to take his seat, even though returned, and that Petitioner would petition the House against his continuing to sit, should he be returned; that the Petitioner was led into a deceitful security that the Election would not have been proceeded with, at least for a few minutes after eleven o'clock, the more particularly as the conducting agent of the person who was returned remained at his own residence, while Petitioner proceeded to the City Court-house, where, in a few minutes after eleven o'clock, the said Daniel O'Connell was declared duly elected; that Petitioner, finding he was the unpopulous Candidate, and that the Returning Officer decided that he had declared Mr. O'Connell duly elected, that Petitioner merely remonstrated upon the indecent haste and deception which had been practised by means of treachery and fraud; Petitioner therefore prays that he may be permitted to support, by proof of the fact before the bar of the House, that a systematic sanction of anticipating the proper period of Election was practised even by the Returning Officers and that, without imputing corrupt motives, Petitioner undertakes to prove that the Returning Officers declared Daniel O'Connell, Esquire, duly elected before half past eleven o'clock, although they had previously advertised that the Election was to be held between eleven and twelve o'clock; thereby deluding the Candidates that no deception would have taken place, particularly when the proof of the agency of the deceivers can be brought home to the party non-inculpated; that no proclamation was made, or any interval of time elapsed, from the moment the Returning Officer declared said Daniel O'Connell duly elected, without a single voter having polled; that the notice of the said Election was even short, according to the law of the land; that, as evidence of the indecent hurry and fraud by means whereof the said Daniel O'Connell was declared duly elected, the Petitioner undertakes to prove before the House, or any Committee that may be appointed for that purpose, the following facts; and that, although said Daniel O'Connell might have been amidst an uproarious tumult declaimed for over eleven o'clock on Tuesday, when the Petitioner demanded a poll, and had in attendance two registered Electors for the purpose; yet the Return was not made upon the Writ of Election, nor the deed perfected until nearly twelve o'clock; the Petitioner was declared duly elected about eleven o'clock on Tuesday, and that some of the documents necessary to complete the formal Election of said Mr. O'Connell having been forgotten at the Court-house, the same was supplied and signed by the Returning Officers at the house of Kenny Purcell, Esquire, attorney, and conducting agent for said Daniel O'Connell, and that said Kenny Purcell immediately left Kilkenny with all the original papers relative to said Election; and that said Kenny Purcell having been at a distance from the Court-house, had informed the Petitioner that he had been declared duly elected even before the time specified by the law; and that they had previous advertised that the Election was to be held between eleven and twelve o'clock; thereby deluding the Candidates that no deception would have taken place, the Petitioner demands that the Return be stricken out of the record; that Petitioner shall be thought necessary by the several parties on the hearing of the matter of the said Petition.

Timber Duties.
A Petition of the Legislative Council of the province of New Brunswick, in Provincial Parliament assembled, was presented, and read; setting forth, that the Petitioners, having had under their consideration the Resolutions reported to the House in the last Session of the Imperial Parliament on the subject of the Duties on Timber imported into the United Kingdom, humbly represent to the House, the expediency of the alteration in the present Duties contemplated by the said Resolutions has occasioned great alarm in those provinces, and which is by no means confined to those whose interests would be more immediately affected by the change, which is proposed, but is to them demonstrates the paramount importance of the timber trade with the parent State to one-third of its present extent, and thereby promoting emigration, and to the means of cheap conveyance from the United Kingdom, also exhibit the principal item in the cost of the lumber; that the demand for provisions for the persons and provender for the cattle engaged in the business enables the farmer to realize at his own door good prices for his surplus produce, and to become in his turn a larger consumer of domestic and foreign goods; that the proceeds of their shipments of lumber to the United Kingdom are returned to them chiefly in British manufactures, and that the great interests of agriculture and commerce are thus mutually promoted, they go hand in hand in extending the settlement of the country, and advancing its importance as a portion of the British Empire; that the collector of His Majesty's Chest at Lunenburg, before the House of Assembly a comparative statement, for the last seven years, of the tonnage and seamen employed in the export trade of the province which is annexed to the Petition, and to which the House of Assembly must refer; this statement shows, that between the years 1829 and 1835, the tonnage employed has gradually increased from 253,992 tons, navigated by 11,449 men, to 341,216 tons and 14,866 men; that the increase has taken place in the lumber branch, and that of 1,266 vessels cleared in the last-mentioned year, 1,623 were destined for the United Kingdom, of which 967 were laden with lumber and only 56 with other goods; that these facts, which they demonstrate the paramount importance of the timber trade to that province and its relative importance to the United Kingdom, also exhibit the serious manner in which their means for paying the fixed branch of public service with deep annoyance in the Duties, and they trust will convince the House that the injury which the change would inflict on that province would not be so serious as to prevent their producing the great amount of lumber, they annually ship, and that would extend to all classes of the community, and paralyze every branch of its industry; that this trade, so important in other respects, is likewise of essential service to those provinces, by affording them the means of carrying part of their produce to Quebec and Montreal; and thereby promoting emigration, and to the emigrants themselves equally serviceable, in addition to 150,000l. per annum, and the loss of which or the diminution thereof consequent to the decrease of shipping arriving in the country would infict a severe blow on the resident population of Quebec and Montreal; that the severity of their climate is known to the House, and repeated failures of the grain crops attest the precariousness of agricultural pursuits in the lower districts of the province; the inquiry in which the House of Assembly has been engaged proves that the farmers in those parts of the country rely in a considerable degree on the manufacture of deals for the means of supporting their families, and that without this resource the distress on particular occasions would have been greatly aggravated; the House of Assembly may hence observe, that the large floating capital embarked in this branch of their trade is chiefly disbursed for labour, which constitutes the principal item in the cost of the lumber; that the demand for provisions for the persons and provender for the cattle engaged in the business enables the farmer to realize at his own door good prices for his surplus produce, and to become in his turn a larger consumer of domestic and foreign goods; that the proceeds of their shipments of lumber to the United Kingdom are returned to them chiefly in British manufactures, and that the great interests of agriculture and commerce are thus mutually promoted, they go hand in hand in extending the settlement of the country, and advancing its importance as a portion of the British Empire; that the collector of His Majesty's Chest at Lunenburg, before the House of Assembly a comparative statement, for the last seven years, of the tonnage and seamen employed in the export trade of the province which is annexed to the Petition, and to which the House of Assembly must refer; this statement shows, that between the years 1829 and 1835, the tonnage employed has gradually increased from 253,992 tons, navigated by 11,449 men, to 341,216 tons and 14,866 men; that the increase has taken place in the lumber branch, and that of 1,266 vessels cleared in the last-mentioned year, 1,623 were destined for the United Kingdom, of which 967 were laden with lumber and only 56 with other goods; that these facts, which they demonstrate the paramount importance of the timber trade to that province and its relative importance to the United Kingdom, also exhibit the serious manner in which their means for paying the fixed branch of public service with deep annoyance in the Duties, and they trust will convince the House that the injury which the change would inflict on that province would not be so serious as to prevent their producing the great amount of lumber, they annually ship, and that would extend to all classes of the community, and paralyze every branch of its industry; that this trade, so important in other respects, is likewise of essential service to those provinces, by affording them the means of carrying part of their produce to Quebec and Montreal; and thereby promoting emigration, and to the emigrants themselves equally serviceable, in addition to it is not only with reference to the capital sunk in fixed property that the House of Assembly must regard every measure tending to cramp or destroy this essential branch of their commerce; the great alarm occasioned by the foregoing Petitions must have the effect of excluding the leading articles in the cost of the lumber; that the demand for provisions for the persons and provender for the cattle engaged in the business enables the farmer to realize at his own door good prices for his surplus produce, and to become in his turn a larger consumer of domestic and foreign goods; ployer's good wages immediately on their arrival, whereby many obtain funds for the purchase of lands which their previous occupation has fitted them to clear, and the trade is thus again instrumental in advancing the settlement of the country; that, without dwelling upon the serious consequences which, in a national point of view, would attend the destruction of this branch of their trade, the House of Assembly entreat the attention of the House to the fact, that if those now engaged in it should be compelled to relinquish it, and the policy of the Empire should thereafter suggest the expe-dience of reviving it, the measure could only be accomplished by a very considerable outlay of capital, which it would be in vain to look for without a higher and more permanent protective Duty than is now afforded, and even under such advantages it would require several years to restore the trade to its present extent and efficiency; wherefore they humbly pray that the House will favourably consider their representations, and make no change in the Duties on timber and deals imported into the United Kingdom unfavourable to the interests of the North American colonies, but leave the said colonies in the enjoyment of the trade without alteration.

Lettor Stealing (Scotland) Bill.

Thring's Estate Bill.

Shrewsbury School Estate Bill.

The Lords do not insist on the Amendments made by their Lordships to the Bill, intituled, An Act to provide that Persons in Scotland accused of Letter Stealing shall not be entitled to Liberation on Bail, unless in certain cases; to which this House has disagreed: And also, that a new scheme, founded on the principles recommended by the Committee, be adopted.

The Lords have a Bill, intituled, An Act for consolidating the Rectories of Alford and Hornblotten, in the County of Somerset, and for settling the estates in the part of the Lords by the Lord President of the Council, who acquainted them, that the Lords being desirous at all times of maintaining a good correspondence with the House of Commons, have desired this Conference on the subject-matter of the two Conferences of the 9th and 15th days of February last.

The Lords concur in the next Resolution communicated by the Commons, mark 5, viz. "That, to secure the publicity and preservation of the Statutes, in respect of form, size of paper or type.

The Lords do not concur in the Resolution communicated at the Conference on the 15th of February last, viz. "That it is the opinion of this House, That the parchment record of an Act of Parliament, the ordinary mode of writing, gives a permanence to, and the characters impressed upon, the parchment record expeditiously.

The Lords do not insist on the Amendments made by their Lordships to the Bill, intituled, An Act for consolidating the Rectories of Alford and Hornblotten, in the County of Somerset, and for settling the estates in the part of the Lords by the Lord President of the Council, who acquainted them, that the Lords being desirous at all times of maintaining a good correspondence with the House of Commons, have desired this Conference on the subject-matter of the two Conferences of the 9th and 15th days of February last.

The Lords concur in the first Resolution of the Commons, viz. "That the Resolution of the House of the 7th of May 1801 (which Resolution was adopted by the House of Lords), be rescinded, and that a new resolution, founded on the principles recommended by the Committee, be adopted.

The Lords do not concur in the second and third Resolutions of the Commons; viz. "That the whole number of copies of Statutes for promulgation be printed of one uniform size;" and "That the Statutes for promulgation be of the royal octavo size, continuously printed," for the following, among other Reasons:

Because the Lords are of opinion, That it is convenient for the public service that there should be a distinction between the Statutes for promulgation; and that it is of the highest importance that there should be one printed in separate Acts, for the purpose of the earliest possible distribution after which they are passed.

Because the Lords think it also of essential advantage that these two editions, the one printed in separate Acts, and the other continuously, should both be prepared and carried on at the same time, quite independently of each other, so that there would be no possibility of making the saving which some have supposed might be obtained by changing the one into the other as occasion might require; and they see no good purpose which could be answered in both editions being printed in one uniform size.

Because the convenience of the different offices, courts and classes of persons included in the promulgation order, is better consulted by the different sizes, than by one uniform size.

Because the octavo form is not the most economical; and, although more portable, and therefore more convenient for use of Session, is found that reason not so well adapted for permanent deposit in places, courts and offices, for the use of which the Statutes are promulgated, as the folio or quarto sizes.

Because no material saving could be effected by adopting one size rather than another, so long as the same sized type is used; and the Lords do not think it advisable that in all the Statutes printed for promulgation, the smaller type now used in the quarto edition should be adopted.

Because the Lords are of opinion that there is no mode of writing upon parchment, which could upon the whole be advantageously substituted for the ingrossing hand now in use.

Because, although the substitution of round hand for the ingrossing hand would afford greater facility for reading quickly the Acts so written, it does not appear to the Lords that this consideration is sufficient to decide the question. It can very rarely happen that any person has occasion to read quickly the parchment record of an Act of Parliament, the object is rather to preserve an uniform, durable and correct record of the Acts of the Legislature, which shall be legible at a distant period, with ordinary care, than merely to afford facility for reading the record expeditiously.

Because the mode in which the ink is transferred to the characters impressed upon, the parchment by the ingrossing hand, gives a permanence and an uniformity which cannot be obtained by the ordinary mode of writing.

Because it appears to the Lords that the adoption of the plain round hand would afford a greater facility of falsifying an Act of Parliament or other record record by interpolation or otherwise, than the use of the ingrossing hand. Because they learn also, that no advantage would be gained in point of expense, nor in the saving of time, by the proposed change.

Under these circumstances, the Lords regret that they cannot concur in this Resolution of the Commons; but as the difficulty of reading the ingrossing hand is principally found in the proper names of places and persons, they think that this part of the difficulty would be removed by directing that the proper names of places and persons should in future be written in round hand.

And the Lords have directed us to communicate to the Commons a printed Copy of the Report of the Select Committee on the subject-matter of the Resolutions of the Commons, together with a printed Copy of the Minutes of Evidence upon which they passed the said Resolutions now communicated to the Commons.

A Motion was made, and the Question being proposed, That leave be given to bring in a Bill to extend the protection of Copyright in Prints and Engravings to Ireland:—And a Debate arising thereupon; And a Motion being made, and the Question being put, That the Debate be adjourned till Thursday next; The House divided:
The Yeas to the new Lobby;
The Noes to the old Lobby.
Tellers for the Yeas, [Sir Robert Inglis, 80.]
Tellers for the Noes, [Mr. O'Connell, 109.]
So it passed in the Negative.

Then the main Question being put:
Ordered, That leave be given to bring in a Bill to extend the protection of Copyright in Prints and Engravings to Ireland: And that Mr. Buckingham and Mr. Aglionby do prepare, and bring it in.

A Petition of the Lord of the Manor, and Owners of Common Fields' Occupiers of arable land in the open fields of Incluse Bill, the township of Roselston, in the parish of Mapleton, praying that the Common Fields Inclosure Bill may pass into a law, was presented, and read; and ordered to lie upon the Table.

Ordered, That the Select Committee appointed to Harbours of inquire into the alleged deficiency of protection for Refuge. Ships on the North-eastern Coast of England, and the propriety of admitting of contribution of passing Tolls for the maintenance of Harbours of Refuge on that Coast, have Power to report their Opinion thereupon, together with the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them.

Mr. Bethell reported from the said Select Committee; and who were instructed to extend their examination to the North-west Coast of Wales, particularly to that point called Great Orme's Head; and to whom several Petitions were referred; That they had examined the matters referred to them, and had come to Resolutions, which they had directed him to report; together with the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them; and the Resolutions of the Committee were read, and are as follow:

1. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, That from the Frith of Forth to the mouth of the Thames, there is no Harbour which, in the strict acceptance of the term, can be called a Harbour of Refuge; that all are only Harbours, and only accessible at certain times of the tide.

2. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, That Vessels engaged in the Coasting Trade are particularly particularly exposed to severe on-shore winds from the north, north-east, to south-east.

3. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that there are three Harbours upon that Coast, viz. Whitby, Scarborough, and Burlington, which have been long maintained under the authority of often renewed Acts of Parliament, by a small passing toll on coal in aid of the local funds which are levied on Vessels, that Whitby a toll is fixed of 1d. per Newcastle chaldron, or 2d. on ten tons per London measure; for Scarborough ½d. per Newcastle chaldron; for Burlington 3d. per Newcastle chaldron, or ½d. on ten tons per London measure: The last Act for was in the year 1827, and has no limitation; the last Act for Scarborough Harbour was passed in the year 1823, for twenty-one years; the last Act for Burlington Harbour was passed in the year 1816, for twenty-one years.

4. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that, although under peculiar circumstances, the Harbour of Whitby has afforded protection to many Vessels, yet that it is very dangerous to enter in a gale of easterly wind blowing on shore; that there is no safe roadstead; and that, from the construction of the Piers, there is so wide an opening to the swell on-shore wind; that there is no safe roadstead; and that from the construction of the Piers, it is very dangerous to enter in a gale of north-easterly gales, that Vessels cannot ride in it safely during a gale below the bridge.

5. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that there is no safe roadstead at Scarborough in an on-shore wind; that although in the present state of the Harbour, the entrance in a severe gale of wind on shore is attended with great danger, yet that as many as a hundred and seventeen Vessels have taken refuge there during one storm; and that in the course of fifteen years, one hundred and eighty-four Vessels have found refuge there in a disabled state, most of which, but for the existence of that Harbour, must have been lost: A plan for the improvement of that Harbour has been submitted to the Committee, and it is the opinion of competent witnesses, that if that plan were carried into effect, it would afford a safe and more capacious Harbour, and easy of access during on-shore gales, particularly to Vessels embayed between Flamborough Head and Whitby Rocks: The expense of these improvements is estimated at £49,000; that the local dues and tolls collected from Vessels trading to the Port, are quite unequal to the support of the existing Works.

6. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that Burlington Bay affords peculiar advantages to the Coasting Trade: The promontory of Flamborough Head running out nearly five miles in the sea, and on which a Lighthouse is erected, forms a natural breakwater, under which Vessels of any depth and to any number can ride safely in northerly and north-easterly gales; that although the Bay is distant from a mile and an half to two miles from the best anchorage ground, Burlington Harbour is situated; that in consequence of the dilapidated state of the Harbour, the Commissioners have, since the passing of the last Act, proceeded to construct new works which are necessary for maintenance and improvement; that about sixty yards of the new North Pier, being the outer end, are completed; that it is the opinion of Mr. Walker, an eminent engineer, who has lately examined the Harbour, that this constantly increasing demand can only be regularly met by an uninterrupted intercourse, at all seasons of the year, between London and the Ports of exportation on the north-east Coast of England; that the Vessels so engaged are during many months of the year exposed to violent gales of on-shore winds, on an iron-bound Coast, to the great danger of life and property.

7. Resolved, That at the bottom of this Bay, distant from a mile and an half to two miles from the best anchorage ground, Burlington Harbour is situated; that in consequence of the dilapidated state of the Harbour, the Commissioners have, since the passing of the last Act, proceeded to construct new works which are necessary for maintenance and improvement; that about sixty yards of the new North Pier, being the outer end, are completed; that it is the opinion of Mr. Walker, an eminent engineer, who has lately examined the Harbour, that this constantly increasing demand can only be regularly met by an uninterrupted intercourse, at all seasons of the year, between London and the Ports of exportation on the north-east Coast of England; that the Vessels so engaged are during many months of the year exposed to violent gales of on-shore winds, on an iron-bound Coast, to the great danger of life and property.

8. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, from a statement of the funds, presented during the Session to the House of Commons, and inserted in the Minutes of Evidence taken before the Committee, that more than one-third of the expenditure which has been paid has been defrayed from the local funds; but that unless adequate funds in aid of the local funds are granted, not only the works now in progress must be suspended, but that the whole Harbour will shortly go to decay; that it is, therefore, the recommendation of the Committees, that if the Harbour were once completed, that the local funds would be sufficient for its maintenance.

9. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that from thirty to forty Vessels on an average yearly run for this Harbour in different states of distress, and that on the 1st of last May not fewer than twenty-six Vessels took refuge in this Harbour during a very severe storm: But the Committee are of opinion, that a very imperfect view of the importance of this Harbour to the Coasting Trade would be taken, if it were confined merely to the number of Vessels which may actually seek there an asylum; upon the frequent and long continuance of north-easterly gales, the vast number of Vessels which are at those times collected in the Bay, the large supplies of provisions and other necessaries which are frequently required, the very heavy surf which during continued north-easterly gales does not allow a Vessel to land on the open beach, the high charges which would under such circumstances be made by Boutinieres from the shore, when all these facts are carefully weighed, there is no doubt that the value of such a Harbour be duly appreciated.

10. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, That a very convenient and capacious Harbour which would be accessible in north-easterly winds, and at all times of the tide, could be formed at Redcar, near the mouth of the Tees, where nature appears to have done a great deal towards the formation of such a Harbour; also, that a spot a little further south than Scarborough, called Filey Bay, affords great facilities for the same purpose: But the Committee cannot recommend to Parliament, that works of such magnitude necessarily attended with a very heavy expenditure, should be provided for by the sinking toll, either upon Vessels or their cargoes; whether the interests of humanity or other great national objects may require that such Ports should be formed and kept up at the public expense, are points upon which the Committee are not prepared to offer an opinion.

11. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that although much evidence of a conflicting nature (both with respect to the general effects of Harbours of Refuge and the proper means of their support) has been offered to the Committee, upon a careful consideration of all the circumstances of the existing Harbours, to which their attention has been directed, with reference to their situation, their construction, their their maintenance, the state of their funds, the sanction of the present system by oft-renewed Acts of Parliament, combined with a due regard to the claims of humanity, and the safety of the valuable lives of an immense body of Seamen, the Committee recommend,

First. That a Passing Toll, not exceeding the present amount, upon all Coals exported from the Ports on the north-eastern Coast of the Kingdom, passing southwards, should be continued or granted under due regulations.

Second. That, as soon as the works now in progress, or the proposed improvements in the existing Harbours shall be completed, the said Tolls shall cease, or be modified in such manner as Parliament may limit.

Third. That Vessels engaged on voyages in which they have paid the Passing Tolls, shall be exempt from all charges on entering the said Harbours in a state of distress during such voyage.

13. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, that on the north-west Coast of Wales there is a great deficiency of Harbours of Refuge for Ships sailing to and from Liverpool; that great facilities are offered for such a Harbour between the Great and Little Orme's Head, which would prevent very great losses; an appearance of the Return extracted from Lloyd's Books, and would be a good station for Pilots required for taking Vessels into the Mersey.

Ordered, That the Report do lie upon the Table; and be printed.

A Petition of Talbot Glascock, was presented, Kilkenny City and read; setting forth, That the Petitioner lately Election. transmitted a Petition relative to the Election for the city of Kilkenny, and which Petition is ordered by the House to be taken into consideration on the twenty-first day of June instant; That, on learning from the published proceedings of the House, that the Petitioner's late Petition was received, he hastened to comply with the anticipated mandate which he knew would come from the House, and thereupon, as soon as practicable, he repaired to London, in order to comply with all requisites, and particularly to enter into the necessary securities to prosecute his complaint against the undue return of Mr. Daniel O'Connell as still sitting Member for the City of Kilkenny: that on Friday, the third day of June instant, he repeatedly called at the office of the Clerk of Recognizances in Parliament-street, and also on Saturday, the fourth day of June instant, but was not fortunate enough to find the principal, or any representative, at his office to have the names of his sureties taken; that he called again repeatedly on Monday, the sixth day of June instant, when he at length saw Mr. Rose, who informed him, that the office had been kept open until twelve o'clock of the Saturday night preceding, to enable the Petitioner to comply with the rules as to his sureties, the papers relative to which had been prepared and ready, it is humbly submitted, that as Sunday was a dies videlicet, by terrorism; that it appears by the respectable of the constituency of the city of Kilkenny, give the security to prosecute that Petition; that the third day of June instant, by the Speaker, and, Electors of Kilkenny was only received on Friday, was then, on Monday, too late; that the Petitioner waited upon, and had a personal interview with Major Green, the stipendiary magistrate of the district in which the election was advertised to be holden, for the purpose of procuring a police force to preserve the peace on the hustings, but he suggested, in order to provide such police force, it would be necessary that Petitioner his request upon the Sheriffs of Kilkenny, the returning officers, calling upon him in his magisterial capacity to supply such civil and clerk of the (attorney) Sheriff when the moment the Writ had been moved for and ordered attendance, and a poll was demanded of trial, but Petitioner does not impute all the

of the seventeenth of May, previous to ten o'clock, was duly elected at eleven o'clock; that Petitioner does not impute all the of the seventeenth of May last; that there-was not a single policeand the other a local attorney; that each of the Sheriffs, being an attorney, was employed to prepare of the said Daniel O'Connell, to London, who was dispatched thence to Kilkenny the moment the Writ had been moved for and ordered that when any notice of its advertisement
of trial, but Petitioner does not impute all the
of the seventeenth May, between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock on said day; that Petitioner, was ready to pay all legal fees attendant upon the contested election, when said clerk intimated that the matter had been all along managed by but Petitioner charges and proffers to prove the following facts: that the late Member for Dublin, induced or influenced a Member of the other House of Parliament, and a Peer of the Realm, used in his public capacity to supply such civil and moment the Writ had been moved for and ordered that when any notice of its advertisement

of trial, but Petitioner does not impute all the
of the seventeenth May, between the hours of eleven and
evidence of the said Kenny Purcell himself, who, though an attorney, Petitioner believes to be a man of honour, and he knows he will and must declare whether in the entreaty said Mr. Purcell made to Petitioner not to attempt to go to the hustings on the morning of the 17th May last, he did not-intimate that there would be personal danger attendant upon the consequences of his opposing Mr. O'Connell; that Petitioner then asked of said Mr. Purcell to procure him a hearing at the hustings, at all events, and that said Mr. Kenny Purcell stated, that he could not even procure a hearing for himself in opposition to Mr. Daniel O'Connell, for whom he happened to be then conducting an agent; that Petitioner did, notwithstanding, proceed to the hustings, accompanied by his proposer and secondor (both registered electors), who demanded a poll; and, though in a terrific tumult, the said Mr. O'Connell might, amidst the noisy din of democracy, have been declared to be duly elected, without any opportunity being afforded to other candidates to prove their pretensions, or even electors to make a choice, and without one real or recognized registered voter having been polled for said Mr. O'Connell, or one proclamation pronounced. Petitioner respectfully requests the House may take such measures as may be consistent with the honour of the House, and the dignity due to the House of Lords, with a view to require the attendance of a Cabinet Minister, who may be induced to acknowledge the fact of an exercise of unconstitutional power or pernicious, to negative the impugnation; and that in the House should deem this not a case of election but of riot and attempt at intimidation, that at all events a new Writ may be ordered for the City of Kilkenny, if the House should not be pleased to erase events a new Writ may be ordered for the City of Kilkenny, if the House should not be pleased to erase the name of said Mr. Daniel O'Connell, and substitute in his place that of the Petitioner.

A Message from the Lords, by Mr. Martin and Mr. Rompall:

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations (Ireland), and to place the management of all corporate property under Commissioners, appointed by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and to frame the said Act into a law. It appears from the Minutes of the House of Lords, that, in pursuance of an Instruction from the Lords, the Commons have altered the Bill in various parts, and a change of Title has been consequently rendered indispensable.

By the Bill returned from the Lords it is proposed to abolish Municipal Corporations throughout all Ireland, and to place the management of all corporate property under Commissioners, appointed by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and holding their offices during their pleasure.

The Bill, as amended, founded on a new principle, bearing a new Title, and varying in its enactments from the Bill sent to the other House of Parliament, must therefore be considered as an original measure. The Commons are far from questioning the undoubted right of the Lords to exercise their undoubted powers and privileges in modifying or rejecting legislative measures submitted to them; but as the due and careful examination in each House of Parliament of the principle and details of all legislative enactments passing through the various stages as prescribed by the orders, ancient usages and constitution of Parliament, is essential to the making of just laws, and as such due and careful examination is rendered difficult, if not wholly impossible, if original Bills are transmitted in the form of Amendments from the one House of Parliament to the other, the Commons trust that the course pursued on the present occasion by the Lords may not be drawn into precedent.

But while the Commons have felt it to be their duty to state the Reasons which preclude them from agreeing to the Bill as amended, yet, from an earnest desire... desire to maintain undisturbed that good understanding and correspondence between the Two Houses which they consider essential to the well-being of the British Monarchy, and from a conviction of the evil consequences of leaving great and admitted grievances without present and adequate redress, they have proceeded to take into their consideration the Lords' Amendments, in an earnest hope that such a measure may be thereon founded as shall meet the concurrence of the other House of Parliament, as shall be consistent with the principles of legislation adopted in the reforms of the Municipal Corporations of Great Britain, satisfying the just expectations of His Majesty's subjects in Ireland, and thereby maintaining and strengthening the union between Great Britain and Ireland.

The Commons disagree to the Amendment proposed by your Lordships Pr. 1. 1., the said Amendment being to leave out from the word " Whereas " to the word " be " in l. 11., for the following Reasons:

Because the restoration of the Preamble, as it passed the House of Commons, is rendered necessary by the alterations which it is proposed to make in the clauses.

The Commons propose to add the words " And whereas " before the words " it is expedient " in the words proposed to be inserted by your Lordships Pr. 1. 1. 1.

The Commons disagree to the Amendment Pr. 1. l. 23. 24.; they also disagree to the Amendment l. 28. Pr. 1. l. penult. The Commons propose to leave out the words " Schedule (A.)" in the Amendment proposed by your Lordships, and to insert the word "Schedules."

The Commons agree to the Amendments Pr. 2. 1. 1. 2. and in l. 3., and in l. 3. and 4., and in l. 7. and in l. 10., and in l. 11. and 12., and in l. 18.

Pr. 3. l. 3. and 4. The Commons disagree to the Amendment Pr. 3. l. 5. 12. l. 13. l. 29. l. 31. l. 34. l. 35.: Pr. 4. l. 2. l. 13.

The Commons disagree to the Amendment Pr. 4. l. 29. the said Amendment being to leave out from the word " the " to the word " provided " in l. 33., for the same reasons as are stated for disagreeing to the Amendment Pr. 5. l. 20.; and propose to amend the words proposed to be inserted by your Lordships adding before the words " Commissioners for the time being " the words " or to," and l. s. in the said Amendment, after the words " be no such," to insert the words " Bo-

The Commons agree to the Amendments Pr. 5. in l. 7. and in l. 19.

The Commons have taken into consideration the Amendment proposed by your Lordships Pr. 5. l. 20., the said Amendment being to leave out from the word " purchase " to the word " And " in Pr. 11. l. 13., including therein six Clauses. The Commons proceeded to consider the said Amendment Clause by Clause. The Commons disagree to so much of the said Amendment as relates to the leaving out the first of the said Clauses, namely, from the word " purchase " Pr. 5. l. 20. to the word " And " Pr. 6. l. 19., for the following Reasons:

Because the Commons cannot consent to abolish a branch of the Institutions of this free country which is coeval with the earliest connexion between Great Britain and Ireland, which is founded upon charters granted by His Majesty's royal predecessors, and is recognized by the statute law of the realm at various periods, more particularly in the Act of Settlement and the Act of Union between Great Britain and Ireland.

Because, as the Imperial Parliament has passed laws for Great Britain to regulate the affairs of banking corporations, but providing a permanent system of municipal government, the Commons are not prepared to consent to any enactment for Ireland irreconcilable with those sound principles which have given content and contentment to the inhabitants of the corporate Cities and Towns in Great Britain, and have been conducive to the common weal.

Because it appears to the Commons essentially necessary to the best interests of Great Britain and Ireland, and to the maintenance of the legislative union between the two Countries, that the same general principles of legislation should be applied to both parts of the Empire, subject to such modifications as local circumstances may render indispensable or expedient.

Because, if the rights, immunities and franchises granted and continued to municipal corporations in Great Britain are in Ireland abolished or withheld, the Commons are apprehensive that a spirit of distrust and discontent will be produced in Ireland, lessening the confidence reposed in the decisions of Parliament, endangering the public tranquility, and thereby impairing the strength, the resources and the security of the British Empire.

Because the Commons consider the discharge of local duties, and the enjoyment of local privileges, under a system of self-government, as established in the Acts for the Reform of the Municipal Corporations of Great Britain, to be among the most efficient guarantees and securities for peace, good order and contentment, and to afford the surest means of directing the active ambition of the fou-

The Commons disagree to so much of the said Amendment as relates to the leaving out of the second of the said Clauses, namely, from the words " this Act," Pr. 6. l. 19. to the word " And," Pr. 7. l. 4. for the reasons already stated; but the Commons propose the following Amendments to the said Clause, to leave out in Pr. 6. l. 23. from (" B.") to "respectively," l. 25. and also to leave out from the word " Parliament," l. 35. to the end of the Clause Pr. 7. l. 4.

The Commons disagree to so much of the said Amendment as relates to the leaving out of the third of the said Clauses, namely, from the word " direct," Pr. 7. l. 4. to the word " And," Pr. 9. l. 25. for the reasons already stated; but the Commons propose to amend the said Clause by leaving out from the word " Borough," Pr. 7. l. 36. to the word " Provided," Pr. 8. l. 12. and in l. 21. by leaving out from " Ten pounds " to the words " for " the space," in l. 23.

The Commons disagree to so much of the said Amendment as relates to the leaving out of the three remaining Clauses, namely, from the word " School," Pr. 9. l. 25. to the word " And," Pr. 11. l. 13. for the reasons already stated.

The Commons agree to the Amendments Pr. 11. l. 35.

The Commons disagree to the Amendments Pr. 11. l. 38. and in l. penult, Pr. 12. l. 1. and in l. 2. 3. 4. and 5.

The Commons propose to amend the Amendment Pr. 12. l. 8. by leaving out from the words " notwithstanding he " to the word " shall " in l. 12. and in the same Amendment, l. 15. by leaving out from the words " notwithstanding he " to the word " shall " in l. 17. in the words proposed to be inserted by your Lordships after the word " passed " in Pr. 12. l. 15.
The Commons have taken into consideration the Amendment proposed by your Lordships Pr. 12. l. 8. the said Amendment being to leave out from the word “office” to the word “And,” Pr. 35. l. 29. including therein Twenty-two Clauses. The Commons proceeded to take into consideration the said Amendment Clause by Clause. The Commons disagree to leaving out of the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth of the said Clauses, namely, from the word “passed,” Pr. 12. l. 8. to “And,” Pr. 26. l. 3. for the reasons already stated.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the thirteenth of the said Clauses, namely, from the words “such Borough,” Pr. 26. l. 3. to the words “And be it Enacted,” Pr. 27. l. 35. for the reasons already stated; but they propose to amend the said Clause by leaving out from the words “his debts,” Pr. 26. l. 24. to the words “or shall occupy,” Pr. 27. l. 5.

The Commons disagree to leaving out the fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-first and twenty-second of the said Clauses, namely, from the words “property therein,” Pr. 27. l. 35. to the word “And,” Pr. 32. l. 29.

The Commons disagree to the Amendment Pr. 35. l. 39. and also to the Amendment in I. 39. also to the Amendment in I. 37. 38. penult. and also to the Amendment in I. ult. and also in the same line to the leaving out of the words from “(A.)” to “in” in Pr. 36. l. 22. but they propose to amend the said words so proposed to be left out by leaving out the words “and (C.)” after “(B.)” and also by leaving out from the words “the provisions of this Act,” Pr. 36. l. 19. to the words “provided also in” “Borough,” Pr. 36. l. 23.

The Commons disagree to the words proposed to be inserted Pr. 36. l. 22. instead of the words proposed to be left out, and also to the words proposed to be inserted after the word “which,” and also to the Amendment Pr. 36. l. 24. and in I. 27. and in I. 29. and in I. 30. and in I. 31. and in I. 35. and to the Amendment in Pr. 37. l. 3. and in I. 4. and to the words proposed to be added to the end of the same Clause after the word “offices.”

The Commons proceeded to the consideration of the Amendment Pr. 37. l. 4. the said Amendment being to leave out from the word “office” to the word “And,” Pr. 67. l. 9. and in Pr. 67. l. 3. including therein Twenty-five Clauses. The Commons proceeded to consider the said Amendment Clause by Clause. The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the first of the said Clauses, namely, from the word “offices,” Pr. 37. l. 1. to the word “And,” Pr. 43. l. 26. for the same reasons.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth of the said Clauses, namely, from the word “men” “tions,” Pr. 38. l. 4. to “And,” Pr. 43. l. 26. for the same reasons.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the ninth of the said Clauses, from the words “hold “offices,” Pr. 43. l. 26. to “And,” Pr. 43. l. 18. for the same reasons; but propose to amend the said Clause by leaving out from the words “One thou- “sand pounds,” Pr. 44. l. 22. to the word “over,” l. 24. and from the word “debt,” l. 26. to the word “that,” l. 10.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fif- “teenth, sixteenth and seventeenth of the said Clauses, namely, from the words “by him,” Pr. 45. l. 18. to the word “And,” Pr. 56. l. 28.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-third and twenty-fourth of the said Clauses, namely, from the words “of such County,” Pr. 56. l. 28. to the word “And,” Pr. 63. l. 21.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the twenty-fifth of the said Clauses, namely, from the word “Court,” Pr. 63. l. 21. to the word “And,” Pr. 67. l. 3. for the same reasons.

The Commons proceed to the consideration of the said Amendment Clause by Clause. The Commons disagree to leave out from the word “funds,” Pr. 72. l. 25.

Because the conduct of the several Corporations in Ireland, as set forth in the Reports presented to Parliament, has been such as to render it wholly inexpedient to continue in office by one general Enactment all the serv- vants of such Corporations, intrusted as they are with the performance of duties highly important to the merchantile and commercial interests of the several Cities and Towns in Ireland.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out of the twenty-sixth of the said Clauses, namely, from the words “of such County,” Pr. 71. l. 11. for the same reasons.

Because the grant of such compensation, with- out reference to duties of office performed by the party claiming compensation, is unprece- dented, and likely to lead to injurious re- sults.

Because the payment of pensions, allowances, and annual sums, without reference either to the time at which such pensions, allowances or annual sums were granted, or to any public services rendered by the persons to whom such grants have been made, whether sup- ported by an alleged established usage or a previous resolution, may entail on the Cities and Towns of Ireland charges created con- trary to law, unsupported by any just autho- rity, and may thus continue and sanction abuses of trusts, augmenting the local bur- thens and diminishing the revenue applicable to the common good.

The Commons disagree to the Amendments Pr. 71. l. 21. l. 35. l. 26. l. 29. l. 30. Pr. 72. l. 1. l. 6. l. 10. being the whole of the Amendments proposed to be made to the Clause commencing Pr. 71. l. 29. and ending Pr. 72. l. 25. for the same reasons.

The Commons proceed to consider the Amend- ment to leave out from the word “fund,” Pr. 72. l. 25.
the word "And," P. 110. l. 15. including therein thirty-two Clauses.

The Commons disagree to leave out the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second, and the twenty-third Clauses, from the word "find," Pr. 72. l. 25. to the word "And," Pr. 99. l. 26. for the following Reasons:

Because such Clauses are rendered necessary by the Clauses proposed by the Commons to be reinstated.

The Commons disagree to the leaving out the Clause Pr. 99. l. 26. from the word "Act," and propose to amend the same by leaving out the words "Schedules (A.) (B.) and (C.)" Pr. 99. l. 38. and 39. and in-serting the words "Schedule (A.)"

The Commons disagree to leaving out the Clause commencing Pr. 100. l. 11. and ending Pr. 102. l. 5.

The Commons disagree to leaving out the Clause commencing Pr. 102. l. 5. and ending Pr. 102. l. 39. and propose to amend the same by leaving out the words "Schedules (A.) (B.) and (C.)" l. 13. and in-serting the words "Schedule (A.)"

The Commons disagree to the leaving out the twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth, thirtieth, thirty-first, and thirty-second of the said Clauses, namely, from the word "satisfied," Pr. 110. l. 39. to the word "And," in Pr. 110. l. 15.

The Commons disagree to the Amendments, Pr. 110. l. 17. l. 18. l. 30. l. 31. and in Pr. 111. l. 25. l. 27. l. 33. and in Pr. 113. l. 8. and in Pr. 115. l. 17. l. 22. l. 27. and in Pr. 116. l. 1. l. 8. l. 17. l. 19. l. 20. l. 29. and in Pr. 117. l. 2. l. 19. l. 21. and in Pr. 119. l. 10. l. 10. and in Pr. 120. l. 4. l. 7. l. 8. l. 10. in Pr. 121. l. 17. l. 18. l. 20.

The Commons proceeded to consider the Amendment Pr. 121. l. 1. the said Amendment being to leave out from the word "passed" to the word "And," in Pr. 131. l. 9. the same including therein six Clauses.

The Commons agree to leave out the first and second of the said Clauses, namely, from the word "passed," Pr. 121. l. 21. to the word "And," in Pr. 124. l. 9. The Commons disagree to leaving out the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, of the said Clauses, namely, from the word "satisfied," Pr. 124. l. 9. to the word "And," Pr. 131. l. 8.

Clause (L) The Commons propose to amend the Clause (L) in the following manner: To leave out from the word "Whereas," in l. 1. to the end of the Clause, and add the following words: "by the said recited Act of the ninth year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Fourth, it is amongst other things, enacted, that upon the application of any number of householders to the Lord Lieutenant or other Chief Governor or Governors of Ireland to authorize the carrying of the said Act into execution, and for that purpose to order and direct that a Meeting shall be convened under the said Act with respect to the Commissioners elected thereunder, care shall be taken to see that the powers and duties of the said Commissioners are such as to impose an obligation upon the legislature to extinguish or remodel all such Corporations, a continuance of the existing corpators in the discharge of their duties is expedient and good. Because the property of many of the existing Corporations has been granted in trust for paving and improving several of the Cities and Towns in Ireland, and for other public uses, and consequently these enactments would continue the powers of the existing Corporations, or of the governing bodies and leading members thereof, by a law which proposed to provide for their absolute abolition and extinction. Because these enactments would in some cases have the effect of converting a terminable tenure into an office or trust for the life of the party, and that, not in the case of persons appointed or elected with such intent, but for the benefit of such as are customarily in office on a given day.

Because such enactments might create an impression, that, whilst the legislature proposed to abolish the existing Corporations, care was taken to continue and to sanction the power and authority of the existing corpators.

Clause (K) The Commons propose to amend Clause (K) proposed by your Lordships, in the following manner: To leave out from the word "that" in Pr. 131. l. 1. to the end of the Clause, and add the following words: any householder of any of the Towns mentioned in the first section of the said Schedule (C.) to direct that the said recited Act shall be carried into execution in all or any of the said Towns, and for that purpose to direct that any Two or more Justices of the Peace resident within Ten miles of such town or towns shall convene a Meeting for the purpose of carrying the said Act, as altered by this Act, into execution, and shall preside thereat, and such order and direction shall be signed and published in the same manner as an order made under the said recited Act is thereby directed to be signed and published; and at every Meeting so convened, the persons who under the provisions of the said Act would be entitled to vote at a Meeting convened under the said Act shall be entitled to vote; and it shall not be lawful for the said Meeting to determine that the provisions of the said Act shall not be carried into execution as directed by such order; but the persons so assembled and entitled to vote shall proceed to elect Commissioners, as directed by the said Act, from among the persons qualified according to the provisions of said Act: Provided always, how- ever, that in case a poll shall be demanded, it shall not be continued longer than the hour of four of the clock in the afternoon on the second day of polling, but may be closed before that hour after the lapse of one hour without any person having tendered his vote, and the Commissioners elected as aforesaid shall have all the powers, rights and privileges which Commissioners elected under the said recited Act now have, and shall continue in office for the same period, and be bound to perform the same duties, and be liable to the same penalties as the Commissioners under the said Act are, and new Commissioners to supply their places shall be elected as is provided by the said Act with respect to the Commissioners under the provisions thereof," for the following Reasons:

Because these enactments of the Lords, if not amended, are wholly at variance with the facts of the case, as appearing on the face of the Report of the Commissioners presented to both Houses of Parliament.

Because if the malversation and abuse of trust by existing Corporations, be such as to impose an obligation upon the legislatures to extinguish or remodel all such Corporations, a continuance of the existing Corporators in the discharge of their duties is expedient and good.

Because the property of many of the existing Corporations has been granted in trust for paving and improving several of the Cities and Towns in Ireland, and for other public uses, and consequently these enactments would continue the powers of the existing Corporations, or of the governing bodies and leading members thereof, by a law which proposed to provide for their absolute abolition and extinction. Because these enactments would in some cases have the effect of converting a terminable tenure into an office or trust for the life of the party, and that, not in the case of persons appointed or elected with such intent, but for the benefit of such as are customarily in office on a given day.

Because such enactments might create an impression, that, whilst the legislature proposed to abolish the existing Corporations, care was taken to continue and to sanction the power and authority of the existing Corporators.
words: "The Commissioners of every Borough named in Schedule (C.) shall be trustees for executing the powers and provisions of all Acts of Parliament made before the passing of this Act, or of any Act or Acts already in force, for securing charitable uses and trusts, and of all trusts (other than charitable uses and trusts) of which the Body Corporate, or any of the members thereof in their corporate capacity, was or were sole trustees before the passing of this Act, or of any Act or Acts of Parliament made before the passing of this Act, or of any Act or Acts of Parliament already in force, or of any Act or Acts of Parliament made, or any Act or Acts of any trust or office for such time as the person by whom such vacancy has been made, and to hold his trust or office for such time as the person by whom such vacancy has been made would regularly have held it," for the Reasons already stated.

Clause (M.) The Commons propose to amend Clause (M.), proposed by your Lordships, in the following manner; to leave out from the word "And" and l. 1. to the end of the Clause, and add the following words: "Whereas it may be expedient that the powers now vested in the Trustees or Commissioners appointed under any Act of Parliament for paving or lighting or cleansing, or supplying the water, or improving certain Boroughs named in the said Schedule (C.), or certain parts thereof, save and except as hereinafter mentioned, should be transferred and vested in the Commissioners of such Boroughs respectively; Be it Enacted, That the Trustees or Commissioners appointed by virtue of any such Act of Parliament as last aforesaid, wherein the trustees, or the persons whose trusts they may be, are not beneficially interested, may, if it shall seem to them expedient, at a meeting to be called for that purpose, transfer in writing all the powers vested in them as such Trustees or Commissioners appointed under any such Act or Acts of Parliament as aforesaid, to the said Commissioners of the said Borough; and the said Commissioners of such Borough shall thenceforth be Trustees for executing the several Powers and provisions of any such Act or Acts of Parliament, and shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties as if their names had been originally inserted in such Act or Acts, (or as if they had been elected under the provisions of any such Act or Acts of Parliament, as such Trustees respectively.)"

Clause (N.) The Commons propose to amend Clause (N.) proposed by your Lordships, in the following manner: To leave out from the word "That," l. 2. to "all " in l. 4., and insert "on the first election of Commissioners under the said recited Act and this Act, in any of the towns mentioned in the said Schedule (C.), in which Commissioners have not been elected, and are not now acting under the said Act," and l. 14. to leave out "(A.)" and insert "(C.)" and l. 27. to leave out "appointed by virtue of this Act," and insert "so elected," and after the word "to," l. ult., to insert "and in each of said towns in which there are at present Commissioners who have been elected under the provisions of the said recited Act, All such mansions, advowsons, messuages, town halls, public and other buildings, lands, rents, hereditaments, leasehold estates, goods, chattels, money, debts, stocks, funds, securities, estates of every description, lands, rents, and interest of such Body Corporate, member or member of the Body Corporate, or any of the members thereof in their corporate capacity, is or are or shall be seised or possessed, or entitled for any estate or interest whatsoever, except as aforesaid, all the estate, right, title, and interest of such Body Corporate, member or members, shall become in the same manner vested in such Commissioners, subject as aforesaid."
"said." The Commons consider these Amendments necessary, for the following Reasons:

Because the estates and personal property of Corporations, being granted for local purposes, will be most advantageously administered by those who are at once locally interested and locally responsible.

Because, in so far as these corporate funds are applicable to the purposes of paving, watching and lighting, and other analogous public services, which must otherwise be provided for by local taxation, it is just that the parties authorized and empowered to impose these taxes should also be intrusted with the management and application of the corporate estates.

Because the effect of placing the management of these estates and funds in the hands of Commissioners holding office during the pleasure of the Lord Lieutenant would be the creation of an undue influence in the several Cities and Towns, inconsistent with their freedom and political independence.

Because the transfer of the right of nominating various public servants and officers from a local authority to Commissioners holding office during the pleasure of the Lord Lieutenant will increase the patronage of the Crown, and is unsupported by the suggestion of any adequate grounds either of necessity or of expediency.

CLAUSE (C). The Commons propose to amend Clause (C), by leaving out from the word "who," Fo. 1. l. 3. to "shall," in l. 6., and in l. 8. leave out the words "Schedule (A.)," and insert "Schedules," and in l. 11. after the words "same to the" insert the words "Clerk, and hold lands, tenements and hereditaments for the purposes of paving, watch- ing and lighting, and analogous public uses, applicable to the purposes of paving, watch- ing and lighting, and other analogous public services, which must otherwise be provided for by local taxation, it is just that the parties authorized and empowered to impose these taxes should also be intrusted with the management and application of the corporate estates.

CLAUSE (R). The Commons propose to amend the Clause (R.), by leaving out the word "appointed," l. 5. and inserting "elected," and by leaving out all the words from the word "shall," in the same line, and inserting the words "have full power to purchase and hold lands, tenements and hereditaments for the purposes of this Act, and may sue and be sued in the name of their clerk for the time being."

CLAUSE (Q). The Commons propose to amend Clause (Q). by leaving out all the words from the first word "And" and inserting the words "whereas it may be expedient that the powers now vested in the Trustees or Commissioners appointed under sundry Acts of Parliament for paving or lighting or cleansing, or supplying with water, or improving certain Boroughs named in the said Schedule (C.), or certain parts thereof, save and except as hereinafter mentioned, should be transferred to and vested in the Commissioners elected or to be elected as aforesaid in such Boroughs respectively; Be it Enacted, That the Trustees or Commissioners appointed by virtue of any such Act of Parlia- ment as last aforesaid, wherein the Trustees, or the persons whose trustees they may be, are not beneficially interested, may, if it shall seem to them expedient, at a meeting to be called for that purpose, transfer in writing all the powers vested in them by such Acts or Acts of Parliament as aforesaid to the said Commis- sioners of such Borough: and the said Commis- sioners of such Borough shall thereupon be Trustees and shall hold the several powers and the provisions of any such Act or Acts of Parliament, and shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties as if their names had been originally inserted in such Act or Acts (or as if they had been elected under the provisions of any such Act or Acts) as such Trustees respectively," for the following Reasons:

Because the effect of placing the management of their estates and funds in the hands of Commissioners holding office during the pleasure of the Lord Lieutenant would be the creation of an undue influence in the several Cities and Towns of Ireland, inconsistent with their freedom and political independence.

Because the transfer of the right of nominating various public servants and officers from a local authority to Commissioners holding office during the pleasure of the Lord Lieutenant will increase the patronage of the Crown, without the suggestion of any adequate grounds either of necessity or of expediency.
CLAUSE (C 1.) The Commons propose, l. 15. after the word "Commissioners" to insert " or Council, as the case may be;" l. 20. after the word " the" insert " said Council or;" in the same line leave out " appointed, and insert " elected;" l. 21. after " Act," insert " or elected as aforesaid;" l. 22. after " said " insert " ecclesiastical;" Fo. 2. 1. 8. after the " insert " Council of;" l. 9. after the " insert " Borough of;" and leave out from " Fund" to " Councils." 1. 16.

Because the enactment that such surplus revenue may be applied to the public benefit of the several Towns is vague and indeterminate, and leaves too wide a discretion for the nominees of the Lord Lieutenant. Because it is proposed in this Enactment to sanction the appropriation of corporate revenues to the use of local boards or trustees acting under a statutory authority; and the public revenues of the Cities and Towns may thus be applied to purposes of limited usefulness, by which the general interests of the inhabitants may not be promoted. Because this Enactment may sanction a misapplication of the corporate funds from the public purposes to which they were originally destined, and to which for the benefit of the country they should still continue to be applied.

2. The Commons disagree to the Amendment to leave out from " Wicklow" Pr. 188. 1. 12. to "Ardee," 1. 12.
3. The Commons disagree to the Amendment Pr. 188. 1. 14. To leave out "4 112."
4. The Commons disagree to the Amendment Pr. 188. 1. 10. 11. 12. 13. To leave out "Stran- bane, 4 | 12. The Provost, Free Burgesses, and Commonalties of "N.
5. The Commons disagree to the Amendments made by your Lordships to the Title of the said Bill, for the following Reasons:
6. The Commons have felt it to be incumbent on them to state the foregoing Reasons for their Disagreement with certain of the Amend- ments sent to them by the Lords.
7. In the Bill, as now amended, the Commons have consented to confine the establishment of Town Councils to Twelve considerable Cities and Towns, of which the wealth and importance render them well suited to such system of local government. The Commons have further provided for the local govern- ment of Twenty Cities and Towns of lesser extent and population, by applying to them the enactments of a Statute specially relied upon in the Amendments of the Lords. Within these several Cities and Towns it cannot be doubted but that the wealth, the intelligence, and the public spirit of the inhabitants will supply both a constituent and a representa- tive body fully qualified for the performance of local duties. The Commons have excluded from the immediate operation of the Bill as returned to the Lords, Eighteen Towns, in which the necessity of the legislative interference is less apparent.
8. The Commons have endeavoured to maintain a good understanding between the Two Houses by not insisting on many provisions con- tained in the Bill as it originally passed their House.
9. The Amendments to which the Commons have still felt it their duty to refuse their concur- rence are such as appear to them to be wholly irreconcilable with the principle of the Bill as introduced, and no less at variance with the principles adopted in reforming the Municipal Corporations of Great Britain. From these leading principles the Commons think it would be inexpedient, unwise and unjust to depart. In an Address carried by both Houses to the foot of the Throne, a determination was expressed to preserve and violate the Legislative Union, but at the same time to remove all just causes of com- plaint, and to promote all well-considered measures of improvement. Were the present Corporations of Ireland, or the governing bodies thereof, to be continued in the exercise of their functions, proved and admitted as has been their scandalous abuse of trust, the Commons feel that a just cause of complaint would remain unremoved. And if a Bill were permitted to become law extinguishing in Ireland all traces of those Municipal In- stitutions which have existed for upwards of six centuries, and which at no former period even during internal commotion and civil war, it was ever proposed to abolish, the Commons do not conceive that enactments of such an unprecedented nature would come within the description of those well con- sidered measures of improvement which Par- liament has pledged itself to promote.

Ordered, That a Conference be desired with the Lords upon the subject-matter of the Amendments made by their Lordships to the said Bill.—And that Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer do go to the Lords, and desire the said Conference.

The House...
Amendments made by the Lords to the Bill, intituled, "An Act for making a Railway from Leeds to Derby, to be called, 'The North Midland Railway.' That the Committee had drawn up Reasons accordingly, which they had directed him to report to the House, as follow:

The Commons disagree to the Amendment made by your Lordships in Pr. 235, l. 15, it being after the word "up" to insert the words "unless any of such boards, stones or other conspicuous marks shall have been removed or obliterated without the privity of the said Company, in which case the same shall be restored as soon as circumstances will permit," for the following Reasons:

The Commons consider, that when a toll is to be levied upon any class of His Majesty's subjects by the authority of Parliament, there ought not to be any difficulty in ascertaining what toll can be legally exacted, and that for that purpose a Table of Tolls, perfectly clear and legible, ought to be fixed up, and always continued in such state at every place or station where toll may be demanded. The Commons consider, that the Amendment made by your Lordships would open a door for evading this provision, so essential for preventing revenue being demanded and taken from those authorized to be taken by Parliament.

The Commons decline giving any other reasons, trusting that what they have already stated will be sufficient to induce your Lordships not to insist on your said Amendment.

The said Reasons, being read a second time, were agreed to.

A Message from the Lords, by Mr. Drummond, Message from the Lords.

Sir, The Lords have agreed to the several Bills following, without any Amendment; viz.

A Bill, intituled, An Act for improving and main- tening the Navigation of the River Suir, and for making and constructing a Ship Canal at Carrick-on-Suir.

A Bill, intituled, An Act for regulating and im- proving the Town of Galway, in the County of the same Town; and also the Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An London Grand Junction Railway Bill, at or near the Regent's Canal, in the Parish of Saint Pancras, in the County of Middlesex, or Device, of whatever description, used in Salmon fishing; the construction and regulation of Cruives; the regulation of Mill Leas or Courses, and the removal of Dams and obstructions in all Rivers, Streams or Waters; and to report their Opinion thereon; and to report the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them.

Mr. Patrick Stewart reported from the said Select Committee, that who were instructed to inquire into the increase or decrease in the numbers or weight of Salmon, Grilse and Sea Trout taken in the several Rivers and Sea Coasts of Scotland since the Act 9 Geo. 4. c. 39, came into operation; and to report to the House specially thereon; and to whom several Petitions were referred; That they had con- sidered the matters referred to them; and directed him to make a Report thereof to the House, together with the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them.

Ordered, That the Report do lie upon the Table; and be printed.
Ordered, That the Managers who managed the last Conference do manage this Conference:—And the Names of Mr. Ridley Colborne, Mr. Oswald, Mr. M‘Bride, Mr. Ewart, Mr. Young, Mr. Ward, and Mr. Chalmers, were added to them.

Then the Names of the Managers were called over; and they went to the Conference:—And being returned:

Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer reported, that the Managers had met the Lords at the Conference, which was managed on the part of the Lords by the Duke of Wellington, who acquainted them, that the Lords, on consideration of the Reasons given by the Commons at the last Conference for disagreeing to several Amendments made by their Lordships to the Bill, intituled, “An Act for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations and Borough Towns in Ireland,” do insist upon some of the Amendments to which this House hath disagreed, for which they gave their Reasons; and do not insist upon other of the said Amendments to which this House hath disagreed; and do agree to some of the Amendments made by this House to the Amendments made by their Lordships, without any Amendment, and to other of the said Amendments with certain Amendments, to which they desire the concurrence of this House; and do not disagre to other of the said Amendments:—And the same were read, and are as follow:

The Lords participate in the conviction expressed by the Commons, that a good correspondence between the Two Houses is essential to the well-being of the British Monarchy; and it is always a subject of regret to them, when in the performance of their duty, they are compelled to take a different view of any important measure from that which has been adopted by the House of Commons.

The Lords are earnestly desirous of removing all just causes of complaint, and of promoting all well-considered measures of improvement in all parts of the United Kingdom.

Impressed with these feelings, the Lords were anxious to co-operate with the Commons in carrying into effect some of the important objects of the Bill for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in Ireland, although there was one principle in that Bill which they were unable to concur. They assented to the dissolution of corporations, the practical effect of whose constitution is a subject of reasonable dissatisfaction. It did not appear to them that any other object to be established in its place than that particular form of local government which was proposed by the Commons, but they were not without the hope that the Two Houses might agree upon provisions which, accomplishing at once their common object of removing a just cause of complaint, might at the same time secure the due administration of justice in Cities and Towns, preserve the corporate property for their respective benefit, and leave their local government under Acts voluntarily adopted.

The Lords coincide in the opinion that it is not generally expedient to introduce in the form of Amendments matters which may seem to require the more mature consideration which is given in its successive stages to an original Bill; but on this occasion the most convenient mode of procedure appeared to be that which enabled the Lords to make the fullest communication of their views to the House of Commons.

The Lords remain strongly impressed with the belief that the system of local government proposed by the Commons, would in the actual state of Ireland be the present cause of party triumph, and the continued source of party and religious dissensions.

The Lords earnestly desire the tranquillity of Ireland, and zealously co-operate in the discharge of their common duty to the country, may at no distant period devise such measures of Reform in the administration of local affairs as may give real

They are prepared to do equal justice to all,—but it cannot always be assumed that by the grant of similar institutions to countries differing in their circumstances, equal justice will be done.

The Lords are unable to acquiesce in the proposition now made by the Commons, that corporations, as re-constructed by the Bill, shall be confined to twelve Cities and Towns, because it is in those Cities and Towns of larger population that the most extensive evils would, in their opinion, result from such re-construction.

The Lords disagree to the Amendment whereby the existing Corporations are to be continued in eighteen Towns; they are reluctant to circumscribe the extent of the general relief they deem it expedient to grant.

Neither are the Lords prepared to concur in the proposition that the Act of the ninth year of the late King George the Fourth, to make provision for the lighting, cleansing and watching of Towns in Ireland, and to give the power of taxation for such purposes to elective Commissioners, should be imposed upon twenty Cities and Towns.

Anxious that there should exist the power of taxation for local purposes wherever its existence might be desired by the inhabitants to be taxed, the Lords had not suggested any alteration of that Act.

They had afforded new inducements to its voluntary adoption, by giving the means of placing the surplus property of the Corporations to be abolished at the disposal of the Commissioners who might be elected in the Towns with which such Corporations are respectively connected.

The Lords readily acquiesce in the desire of the Commons, that, wherever that Act may be adopted, the whole corporate property shall be at once transferred to the management of the Commissioners elected under its provisions.

But the Lords must call to the recollection of the Commons, that hitherto the inhabitants of towns in Ireland have very generally refrained from availing themselves of the power of local government and taxation so offered to them.

To render indispensable the election of Commissioners, to whom would be confided the power of raising taxes for local purposes, would undoubtedly be in accordance with the principle adopted in the reformation of Municipal Corporations in Great Britain; but the Lords cannot but apprehend that the proposed intervention of the Legislature to over-rule a manifest reluctance to be so governed and to be so taxed would not, as the Commons appear to anticipate, have any tendency to satisfy the just expectations of His Majesty’s subjects in Ireland, or to maintain and strengthen the Union.

The Lords have abstained from insisting upon several Amendments to which the Commons appear to attach much importance.

They acquiesce in the opinion that offices connected with the administration of Justice in Ireland should be removed from local influence, and placed under the direct authority of the Crown. They have willingly consented not to insist upon Amendments which conflicted with the immediate application of the principle thus established.

It will be a matter of sincere regret to the Lords if their adherence to the more important Amendments made by them in the Bill, and their inability to concur in the new propositions made by the Commons, should have the effect of leaving a just cause of complaint without a full and present remedy.

The Lords will, however, still entertain the hope that the Two Houses of Parliament, maintaining the good understanding which happily subsists between them, and zealously co-operating in the discharge of their common duty to the country, may at no distant period devise such measures of Reform in the administration of local affairs as may give real contentment by effecting real improvement, and promote prosperity by promoting social and religious peace in the cities and towns of Ireland.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment in Pr. 1, l. 1, to leave out from "Whereas" to "Be" in l. 11, for the following Reason:

Because the retention of the Preamble as amended by the House of Lords is rendered unnecessary by the other Amendments on which they insist.

The Lords do not agree to the Amendment made by the Commons to insert the words "And whereas" before the words "it is expedient in the Amendment made by this House in Pr. 1, l. 1, the same being rendered unnecessary by the last Amendment.

The Lords insist upon their Amendments disagreed to by the Commons, and do not agree to the Amendments made by the Commons, as far as Clause (B.) added by this House to the Bill, for the following Reasons:

Because the Bill as it passed the House of Commons, having practically extinguished all existing Municipal Corporations in Ireland, and the Lords having assented to that provision, the question between the two Houses is no longer whether Corporations should be abolished, but whether they should be re-constructed.

Because in the present state of Ireland the general ease and contentment of the inhabitants of cities and towns therein would not be effected without modifications of the principle of local government, as applied to England and Scotland, respectively, different from and more extensive than those which have been proposed by the Commons.

Because the public good is the only true object of legislation, and according to the difference of circumstances that object is to be equally attained by different measures in different parts of the United Kingdom.

Because confidence in the decisions of Parliament follows the well-considered adaptation of measures to the position of those for whose benefit they are desired; and a spirit of distrust and discontent would be produced by institutions similar in name, but dissimilar in their results.

In the said Clause (B.) the Lords agree to the Amendment made by the Commons.

The Lords agree to the Amendment made by the Commons in Clause (C.) added by this House to the Bill.

The Lords do not insist upon Clauses (D.) and (E.) added by this House to the Bill.

The Lords insist upon Clause (F.) added by this House to the Bill, for the following Reason:

Because it is similar in effect to another provision contained in a Clause proposed to be inserted by the Commons in a subsequent part of the Bill, and the omission of which is proposed by the Lords.

The Lords do not insist upon Clause (G.) added by this House to the Bill.

The Lords protest against Clause (H.) added by this House to the Bill, for the following Reason:

Because it is necessary, consistently with other Amendments proposed by the Lords, to make a temporary provision for the discharge of the duties of the officers to whom the Clause refers.

The Lords do not insist upon their Amendment in Pr. 67, l. 4.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment in l. 6, to leave out from "said" to "Treasurer" in l. 16, but propose to insert the following words instead of those previously inserted, "Body Corporate named in the said Schedule (A.) who shall be in.

The Lords do not insist upon their Amendments in l. 9, and in l. 10, to which the Commons disagree.

The Lords insist upon their Amendments in l. 13, and in l. 14, to which the Commons disagree.

The Lords propose in l. 11, to leave out the word "or" in the Bill, for the purpose of carrying into effect the last-mentioned Amendment.

The Lords do not insist upon their Amendments in l. 13, and in l. 14, to which the Commons disagree.

The Lords do not insist upon their Amendments in l. 13, and in l. 16, being as follows:

L. 15. Leave out "the Council.

L. 16. Leave out "out of the Borough Fund," and insert "as hereinafter is mentioned.

The Lords do not insist upon their Amendments in l. 13, and in l. 23, to which the Commons disagree.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment in l. 26, being as follows:

L. 29. Leave out from "the" to "Treasurer" in l. 29.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment in l. 30, to which the Commons disagree, the said Amendment being as follows:

L. 30. Leave out "Borough," and insert "Commissioners to be appointed in pursuance of this Act.

But the Lords protest at the end of the said Amendment to add the following words: "or elected "or to be elected as hereinafter is mentioned," for the purpose of carrying into effect the principal Amendments made by the Commons to Clause (N.) added by this House to the Bill.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment in Pr. 68, l. 11, to leave out from "compensation" to "And" in Pr. 71, l. 20, for Reasons already stated, but propose to insert the following proviso: "Provided always, That no person shall be entitled to any compensation in respect of the abolition of his office, or of his removal therefrom, under the provisions of this Act, if he shall have been appointed to such office since the Sixteenth day of February in the present year.

The Lords do not insist upon their Amendments in l. 29, and in l. 30. The Lords insist upon their subsequent Amendments to the said Clause, for Reasons already stated.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment from Pr. 72, l. 25, to Pr. 116, l. 15, being the omission of thirty-two Clauses, for the following Reasons:

Because the first and second of such Clauses contain regulations respecting the Corporations proposed to be abolished.

Because the third of such Clauses contains regulations respecting property held upon charitable trusts, and which, for the Reasons hereinafter mentioned, are insufficient.

Because the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh of such Clauses contain regulations for transferring trusts and powers under Acts of Parliament to Members of the Corporations proposed to be abolished.

Because the eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteen, sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth of such Clauses contain regulations of police, which the Lords consider to be sufficiently provided for by the Act passed in the present Session of Parliament for establishing a Constabulary Force in Ireland.

Because the remaining Clauses contain regulations respecting the Corporations proposed to be abolished.

The
The Lords insist upon their Amendments to which the Commons disagree, and disagree to the Amendments made by the Commons, from Pr. 110. L 15. to Clause (N.) added by this House to the Bill, for the following Reasons:

The Lords have taken into their consideration the Reasons annexed by the Commons to the proposed Amendment to Clause (L.), which Reasons apply to other subsequent Clauses, to which the Commons equally disagree.

The Lords observe that the Bill, as passed by the Commons, continued certain trusts in certain Corporations, being Trustees casually in office on a given day, notwithstanding those persons might have ceased to hold such office by virtue of which they were such Trustees; and that the Clauses objected to were intended to prevent the detriment which might have arisen from the provision made by the Commons that all such trusts shall cease on a day named, and the Lord Chancellor then make such orders as he might see fit for the appointment of Trustees and the administration of the trust estate, if Parliament should not have sooner otherwise directed.

The Lords were of opinion that it was inexpedient to throw upon the Lord Chancellor a duty he could not satisfactorily discharge; the more especially as no provision was made by the Commons for the security of the trust property in the event of the duty imposed upon the Lord Chancellor not being in every case performed.

The Lords therefore thought it desirable to continue the several trusts in the several persons in whom they were continued by the Bill as it passed the House of Commons, until Parliament should otherwise provide.

The Clauses objected to contain other Enactments obviously necessary to meet cases which, arising out of the proposed abolition of Corporations, had not been provided for by the House of Commons; but all such enactments, proceeding upon the same principle, are of a temporary character, subject to the future direction of Parliament.

For these Reasons the Lords insist upon these several Clauses.

In the said Clause (N.) the Lords agree to the Amendment made by the Commons in L. 16. to leave out from "That" to "all" in L. 4, but propose to amend the words inserted by the Commons as follows, "on the said First day of January One thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, and thenceforth until the first election of Commissioners so to be elected."

The Lords do not agree to any of the Amendments made by the Commons to Clause (Q.) added by this House to the Bill, but propose the following Amendments to carry into effect the Amendments made by the Commons to Clause (N.), to which the Lords have agreed:

Fol. 1. L. 12. Leave out "to be appointed," and insert "in whom the property of such Corporation respectively shall be vested."

Fol. 1. L. 13. Leave out of " the said," and insert "such."

Fol. 2. L. 13. After " Commissioners" insert "respectively."

Fol. 2. L. 15. Leave out from " as" to " Corpo- rate" in L. 16, and insert "such body."

Fol. 2. L. 1. After " Commissioners" insert "respectively."

Fol. 2. L. 2. Leave out "the said," and insert "such."

Fol. 2. L. 3. After " Commissioners" insert "respectively in whom the same shall for the time being be vested."

The Lords do not agree to the Amendment made by the Commons to Clause (Q.) added by this House to the Bill for the following Reasons:

Because it is necessary to provide for the security and management of corporate property, and the right of nomination to some offices of small value, required for the collection of such property, or otherwise necessary, cannot, in the apprehension of the Lords, create an influence inconsistent with the freedom and independence of the several cities and towns in Ireland.

In Clause (R.) added by this House to the Bill:

The Lords propose the following Amendment for similar Reasons to those assigned to Clause (O.).

L. 2. After " Commissioners" insert " elect or."

The Lords agree to the Amendment made by the Commons to the said Clause in L. 3, to leave out "appointed," and insert "elect"; but propose to add after " elected, " the words following: in "any town in possession of the said corporate" and "also the Commissioners to be appointed," for the Reasons before stated.

The Lords do not agree to the Amendment made by the Commons to the said Clause, to leave out from "shall" in L. 4, to the end of the Clause, for the same Reasons.
the purpose of inserting "have full power to purchase and hold lands, tenements and heredita-ties for the purposes of this Act, and may sue " and be sued in the name of their Clerk for the " time being," for the following Reason:
Because the Amendment proposed by the Lords appears to them to be necessary with a view to the title to the lands which the Commissioners are by that Clause empowered to purchase.
The Lords insist upon Clause (S.) added by this House to the Bill, to which the Commons disagree, for the Reasons already assigned, but propose the following Amendment thereto:

pointed as aforesaid," for similar Reasons to those assigned to Clause (O.)

ers," insert "respectively."

cstances of the right of patronage, to which these provisions were intended to apply.

1. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Committee, that however much it might be considered of advantage to establish a general system throughout Scotland for making, altering or repairing the Roads at present under the operation of either General or Local Statute Labour Acts, it would be inexpedient to enforce a measure subjecting all parts of that country to a system which, in practice, might not be beneficial to some districts, but detrimental when applied to other districts; at the same time, your Committee submit that, in coming to the above conclusion, and objecting to the general application of an Act superseding the Local Statutes now enforced, they are of opinion that some alterations may advantageously be made, and regulations generally enforced, by which the system will be materially corrected.

2. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Committee, that the qualification of Trustees ought to be established upon an uniform principle throughout Scotland; and that persons in possession of property to the amount of Fifty pounds of real or valued rent, or being the eldest son, or in the absence of the Proprietor, his factor or mandator, should be qualified to vote at Meetings held for the purpose of appropriating the Funds levied under the Statutes in force in their respective counties.

3. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Committee, for the improvement of all Roads not under Turnpike Acts, for suggesting and regulating alterations which will be generally beneficial, for the purpose of extending and improving the advantages to be derived from the system now in operation, it is expedient that the several Counties be divided into Districts, that control over the Statute Labour Commutation, shall be exercised, not parochially, but by District Trustees, subject to the revival of General Meetings, and under the inspection and direction of experienced and responsible District Overseers.

4. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Committee, that in future the assessment ought to be exclusively laid upon Land, or upon Houses valued at or above a yearly rent of Two pounds; and that Labourers and others now personally assessed, not possessing Land or Houses to the amount of Fifty pounds of real or valued rent, should be exempted from all future charge.

5. Resolved, That if appearing that frequent, and in the opinion of this Committee, well-founded complaints have been made regarding the present application of Funds levied in Royal Burghs and other Towns, it is submitted that, in future the Muses-

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do issue his Warrant, or Warrants, for such persons, papers and records, as shall be thought necessary by the several Parties on the hearing of the matters of the said Petitions.

Ordered, That the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the Management and Affairs of the Record Commission, and the present state of the Records of the United Kingdom, have Power to report their opinion and observations thereupon, from time to time, to the House.

County Election Polls Bill.

A Motion was made, and the Question being proposed, That the Order of the day, for the Committee on the County Election Polls Bill, be now read; and an Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question by leaving out from the word "That" to the end of the Question, in order to add the words "an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, praying that He will be graciously pleased to issue His Royal Orders that a placard, intituled, 'Emigration to Van Diemen's Land,' which the several Postmasters throughout the Kingdom have been directed to put in a conspicuous place in their several Post Offices, and to circulate among the Chiral Authorities, be withdrawn," instead thereof.

And the Question being put, That the words proposed by your Lordships after "purpose" will render your Lordships Pr. 5. 1. 17. for the following Reasons:

Because, if there are any vacancies among the Councillors of a warded Town, they are to be supplied by election of the Burgessess of several Wards, and not of all the Burgessess of the Borough, which is rendered doubtful by your Lordships' Amendment.

The Commons agree to the Amendments made by your Lordships as far as Pr. 4. 1. 18.

The Commons propose to amend the Amendment made by your Lordships in Pr. 4. 1. 18, by inserting "or Auditors" after "Assessors."

The Commons agree to the Amendment made by your Lordships Pr. 4. 1. 20.

The Commons disagree to the Amendment made by your Lordships Pr. 3. 1. 21., for the following Reason:

Because, if there are any vacancies among the Councillors of a warded Town, they are to be supplied by election of the Burgessess of several Wards, and not of all the Burgessess of the Borough, which is rendered doubtful by your Lordships' Amendment.

The Commons agree to the Amendments made by your Lordships as far as Pr. 5. 1. 25.

The Commons disagree to the Amendments made by your Lordships Pr. 5. 1. 25., for the following Reasons:

Because the Commons did not propose, for the like Reason, to give a casting vote to the Councillor chosen by the greatest number of votes, whom they have selected to preside at the meeting; and although the Commons have agreed to the Amendment made by your Lordships in substituting for that purpose a member of the Council chosen by lot, the Commons think it inexpedient to entrust greater powers to an individual chosen by lot, for they had thought fit to entrust the same to one who had already received manifest proof of confidence placed in him by his fellow burgesses.

Because it is not necessary that any member of the Council should have a casting vote, according to the provisions which the Commons had made for giving the election of Aldermen to the Burgessess, in case the Council should not agree within a reasonable time.

The Commons disagree to the Amendment made by your Lordships in Pr. 6. 1. 17.; but the Commons propose to amend the Clause commencing Pr. 6. 1. 17, by omitting in Pr. 7. 1. 3. "Councillor or Councillors elected by the greatest number of votes," and inserting 4 s 4 "Alderman" 11th July. A. 1836.

a Justice of the Peace for the said Town and

The said Reasons, being read a second time, were agreed to.

Ordered, That a Conference be desired with the Lords upon the subject-matter of the Amendments made by the said Lords in the said Bill: And that Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer do go to the Lords, shall be paid and payable thereon; (that is to say), for every Sheet or piece of Paper wherein any Newspaper shall be printed, a Duty of One penny, subject to such provisions respecting the size of

Resolved, That this Committee is not in a situation to pronounce any opinion upon the legal question, how far the Property of the Royal Dublin Society, partly acquired by former Parliamentary Grants and partly out of the Funds arising from Private Subscriptions, be of the nature of Public Property; but they are of opinion, that it is expedient that, in reference to future Parliamentary Grants, it should be fully understood that the members composing that Society are to be considered as Trustees administering a Public Fund, and not as entitled to an absolute right of property in the advantages arising from the Parliamentary Grants; and in reference to the existing Property, that a clear and distinct guarantee should be given by the Society, that the Public should be entitled to the full and entire use of that Property as at present enjoyed.

Resolved, That it is expedient that the admission of all respectable individuals to a participation in the advantages arising from the Parliamentary Grant to the Royal Dublin Society is most desirable; and in order to guard against the capricious exercise of the power of rejection, it is advisable that its Bye-laws should be re-considered; and that hereinafter no individual be excluded, notwithstanding one-third of the members present may have voted for his rejection, unless at least Forty members shall have voted against his admission; and, regarding the admission Fee, that it be left optional whether the Candidate shall pay a Life Composition of Twenty Guineas, or a Fee of Five Guineas, and Two Guineas Annual Subscription; and that persons admitted on these terms shall cease to be members, if at any time their Annual Subscriptions shall be One year in arrear, unless the party so in arrear shall make a declaration in writing to the Council, that he has been absent from the Kingdom during the period for which the arrear has been incurred.

Ordered, That Mr. Angerstein do carry the Bill to the Lords, and desire their concurrence.

Ordered, That the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the condition, management and affairs of the British Museum, have Power to report their opinion thereupon, together with the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them.

Mr. Entwistle reported from the said Select Committee; and to whom the Report which, upon the 6th day of August, in the last Session of Parliament, was made from the Select Committee upon the same subject; and an Account, and several Petitions upon the subject of the British Museum, were referred:—That they had considered the matters to them referred; and had come to several Resolutions, which they had directed him to report, together with the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them, with an Appendix; and the Resolutions of the Committee are as follow:

1. Resolved, That the great accessions which have been made of late to the Collections of the British Museum, and the increasing interest taken in them by the Public, render it expedient to revise the Establishment of the Institution, with a view to place it upon a scale more commensurate with, and better adapted to, the present state and future prospects of the Museum.

2. Resolved, That this Committee do not recommend any interference with the Family Trustees, who hold their offices under Acts of Parliament, being of the nature of national compacts.

3. Resolved, That though the number of official Trustees may appear unnecessarily large, and though practically most of them rarely, if ever, attend, yet no inconvenience has been alleged to have arisen from the number; and the Committee are aware that there may be some advantage in retaining in the hands of Government a certain influence over the affairs of the Museum, which may be exercised on special occasions; yet if any Act of the Legislature should ultimately be found necessary, a reduction in the number of this class of Trustees might not be unadvisable.

4. Resolved, That, with regard to the existing elected Trustees, the Committee think it very desirable that the Trustees should take steps to ascertain, whether some of those whose attendance has been the most infrequent, might not be willing to resign their Trusteeships,—That in future it be understood, that any Trustee hereafter to be elected, not giving personal attendance at the Museum for a period to be fixed, is expected to resign his Trustee-ship, being, however, re-eligible upon any future vacancy.

5. Resolved, That in filling up vacancies it would be desirable that the elective Trustees should not in future lose sight of the fact, that an opportunity is thus afforded them of occasionally conferring a mark of distinction upon men of eminence in literature, science and art.

6. Resolved, That the extension of the Collections which has taken place, and the still greater extension which may be looked for, render a further division of duties necessary; that at the head of each department there be placed a Keeper, who shall be responsible for the arrangement, proper condition and safe custody of the Collection committed to his care.

7. Resolved, That it is desirable that the heads of each department shall meet once in Three months for the purpose of consulting with reference to any matters of detail relating to the internal arrangements of the Museum, which they may desire jointly to submit to the Trustees in writing, and their reports to be considered, and that the office of Secretary be not combined with the Keepership of any department.

8. Resolved, That whenever there may be a vacancy in the office of Principal Librarian, or in that of Secretary, it is desirable that the distribution of the duties be reconsidered, and that the office of Secretary be not combined with the Keepership of any department.

9. Resolved, That it is desirable that the hours during which the Museum shall be open on public days be hereafter from ten o'clock until seven throughout the months of May, June, July and August; and that the Reading Room be opened throughout the year at nine o'clock in the morning.

10. Resolved, That it is desirable that the Museum be hereafter opened during the Easter, Whitsun and Christmas weeks, except Sundays and Christmas-day.

11. Resolved, That it is expedient that the Trustees should revise the Salaries of the Establishment, with the view of ascertaining what increase may be required for the purpose of carrying into effect the foregoing Resolutions, as well as of obtaining the whole time and services of the ablest men, independently of any remuneration from other sources; and that when such scale of Salary shall have been fixed, it shall not be competent to any Officer of the Museum paid thereunder, to hold any situation of emolument or entailing duties.

12. Resolved, That it is desirable that the heads of departments do consult together as to the best method of preparing on a combined system, an improved edition of the Synopsis of the Museum; that each officer be responsible for that part which is under his immediate control, and attach his signature to such part, and that the work be prepared in such a manner as to enable each part to be sold separately, which should be done at the lowest price which will cover the expenses of the publication.

13. Resolved, That it is expedient that every execution should be made to complete within the shortest time, consistent with the due execution of the work,full and accurate catalogues of all the Collections in the Museum, with a view to print and publish such portions of them as would hold out expectations of even a partial sale.

14. Resolved, That it be recommended to the Trustees, that every new accession to the Museum be forthwith registered in detail, by the officer at the head of the department, in a book to be kept for that purpose; and that each head of a department do make an Annual Report to the Trustees of the Accessions within the year, vouched by the signature of the principal Librarian of desiderata, and of the state and condition of his own department.

15. Resolved, That it be recommended to the Trustees to take into consideration the best means of giving to the public a facility of obtaining Casts from the Statues, Bronzes and Coins, under competent superintendence, and at as low a price as possible.

16. Resolved, That the Committee are well aware that many of the alterations, which they have suggested, cannot be carried into effect, except by increased liberality on the part of Parliament, both with respect to the establishment of the Museum, and also with respect to the augmentation of the Collections in the different departments; but they confidently rely on the readiness of the Representatives of the people to make full and ample provision for the improvement of an establishment which already enjoys a high reputation in the world of Science, and is an object of daily increasing interest to the people of this Country.

Ordered, That the Amendments made by the Lords to the Prisoners' Council Bill be taken into consideration upon the subject-matter of the Conference on Tuesday last, relative to the Amendments made to the Bill, intituled, An Act to explain and amend an Act to provide for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales;—And then the Messengers withdrew.

And the Messengers were called in; and Mr. Speaker acquainted them therewith:—And then they again withdrew.

Ordered, That the Managers who managed the last Conference do manage this Conference:—And the names of Mr. Fox Morley, Mr. Alston, Lord Viscount Elbrington, Mr. Gore Langton, Sir Charles Lenox, and Sir George Grey, were added to them.

Then the names of the Managers were called over; and they went to the Conference:—And being returned;

Mr. Attorney General reported, that the Managers had met the Lords at the Conference, which was managed on the part of the Lords by the Marquis of Salisbury, who acquainted them, that the Lords, having taken into consideration the Reasons given by the Commons at the last Conference, for disagreeing to several Amendments made by their Lordships to the Bill, intituled, An Act to explain and amend an Act to provide for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales, do insist upon some of the Amendments to which this House hath disagreed, for which they gave their Reasons; do not insist upon other of the said Amendments to which this House hath disagreed, for which they gave their Reasons; do not insist upon other of the said Amendments, with certain Amendments, to which they desire the concurrence of this House; and the same were read; as follows:

The Lords agree to the Amendments made by the Commons as far as Pr. 4. 1. 21.

The Lords propose to make the following Amendment in the original Bill:

Pr. 4. 1. 25. After "assessors" insert "and auditors," in order to give effect to the Amendment made by the Commons in Pr. 4. 1. 18, to which the Lords have agreed.

The Lords agree to the Amendments made by the Commons as far as Pr. 4. 1. 25.
Ordered, That the Commons disagree, for the following Reasons:

Because by the Act for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales, the presiding officer at Municipal Elections has a casting vote, and the Amendment objected to by the Commons is in accordance with this principle.

Because the casting vote appears to have been given to the presiding officer solely as an expediency to obviate the inconvenience of non-election, arising from an equality of votes; inconsistency, it was provided, that in the first election of Councillors the Mayor should act with the joint powers of Mayor and Assessors, that Mayor being the officer of the corporate body which it was deemed fit to abolish, and being without any manifest proof of the confidence of his fellow burgesses under the new law.

Because it seems advisable rather to incur the risk of the possible effect apprehended by the Commons, that of giving the preponderance to one of two equal parties—a risk inseparably attached to a casting vote—than to make enactments at variance with those naturally considered and recently sanctioned by Parliament.

The Lords insist upon their Amendment in Pr. 6. l. 17. to which the Commons disagree, for the following Reasons:

Because by the same Act the election of the Mayor and Aldermen was confined to the Councillors, and the Amendment objected to by the Commons is likewise in accordance with this principle.

Because it appears expedient that occasional defects in the working of an Act should be supplied by provisions not going beyond the occasion which requires them, and not contravening the principles of the measure they are intended to amend.

The Lords insist upon Clause (L), added by this House to the Bill, to which the Commons disagree, for the following Reasons:

Because the inconvenience which would arise from allowing the management of the Charitable Trusts to devolve upon the Lord Chancellor on the 1st of August next, appears to be greater than that which would result from prolonging the powers of the present Trustees, with the view of enabling Parliament to mature a measure for the future administration of such Trusts.

The Lords agree to the Amendments made by the Commons as far as Clause (Z), added by this House to the Bill.

The Lords agree to the Amendment made by the Commons to the said Clause (Z), with the following Amendments:

L. 12. Leave out from "affect to" to "which" in l. 13. and insert "any right or privilege;" and in l. 13. after the "insert" Chancellors, Masters and "Scholars of the said University or the said;"

L. 15. After "lawfully" insert "have or enjoy or."

L. 16. After "enjoyed" insert "touching such "grant of Licenses.

Ordered, That the said Reasons and Amendments be taken into consideration upon Thursday, the 28th day of this instant July; and be printed.

And the Question being again proposed, That the Order of the day, for taking into further consideration the Report on the Charitable Trustees Bill, be now read:

An Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question, by leaving out from the words "That "the" to the end of the Question, in order to add the words "Report be taken into further consideration upon this day three months," instead thereof.

And the Question being put, That the words proposed to be left out stand part of the Question:

The House divided:

The Yeas to the old Lobby;

Tellers for the [Mr. Vernon Smith, Yeas; Mr. Edward John Stanley;]

PRAYERS.

Ordered, That the said Account do lie upon the Table.

Ordered, That the Committee have leave to sit and proceed; and to make their Report on or before Wednesday next.
Colonial Lands.

Ordered, That the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the different modes in which in Land has been and is at present disposed of in the Australian Colonies, in the Cape of Good Hope and the West Indies, with a view to ascertain that mode which would be most beneficial in future both to the Colonies and to the Mother Country, have Power to report their opinion thereupon, together with the Minutes of the Evidence taken before them, with an Appendix; and the Resolutions of the Committee are as follow:

1. Resolved, That it appears to this Committee that, since the year 1795, the Sales of Waste Land in the United States have produced a sum of $2,767,439 dollars; or 12,439,049L sterling, without including the first quarter of the present year (1836), during which the Land Sales amounted to 4,439,650 dollars; and that the revenue derived, annually, from this source, has advanced, progressively, from 4,836 dollars (which was the amount received in 1796), to 11,000,000 of dollars (which was the amount received in 1835), with every prospect of a farther increase, the estimate for the present year being 20,000,000 of dollars, and the receipts for the quarter ending 31st March 4,439,650 dollars.

2. Resolved, That the Land Sales in the United States appear to be conducted upon an uniform and well-organized system, which is applied to the whole Federation; there being a General Land Office established at Washington, under the charge and responsibility of officers, who have no political duties whatsoever, with 40 subordinate District Land Offices in other parts of the Union; that these Land Offices are connected with a Surveying Department, upon so extensive a scale, that the Land actually surveyed amounts to 110,000,000 of acres, over and above the 40,000,000 of acres already disposed of; that all Land is offered for Sale by Auction, at an upset price fixed by the Legislature, and that purchasers have the security of an Act of Congress both for the performance of the conditions upon which they buy the Land, and for the permanence of the system under which they acquire it.

3. Resolved, That it does not appear to the Committee, that, in the British Colonies included within the reference to this Committee, any regular or uniform system of Sale was adopted up to the year 1831, although certain conditions were attached to the purchase of Waste Land, under the name of Quit Rents, Money Payments or cultivation of the soil, which it was found impossible to enforce effectively. These conditions, moreover, were exceedingly various and fluctuating, productive of little advantage to the State, and often injurious to the Colonists themselves, by allowing vast tracts of waste Land, either as grants to individuals, or as reserves for various public purposes, to interpose between the settled districts, and thus to interrupt the progress of cultivation and improvement.

4. Resolved, That, in the year 1831, the principle of uniformly affixing a price to Land was introduced by Lord Ripon's Regulations, which required that all Land should be disposed of by auction, at a minimum upset price, and for ready money only, by the colonial authorities, the sale being declared void, and the deposit of 10 per cent. forfeited, if the purchase were not completed within a month. But, it is the opinion of the Committee, that the new system, although its effects are shown to have been highly beneficial already, has not yet been productive of all the good which may be expected to flow from it, when brought to more extended operation under a system of superintendence similar to that of the United States, and with the guarantee of an Act of Parliament.

5. Resolved, That the Committee, therefore, recommend that the principle established by Lord Ripon's Regulations should be afforded by an Act of the Legislature, in order to give to this system a character of permanency and stability, which it does not possess at present.

6. Resolved, With regard to the minimum price, which ought to be affixed to Land in the first instance, the Committee pronounces no opinion, conceiving that the whole tenor of the Evidence goes to prove that it must vary according to the circumstances of each Colony, and can only be determined, in any one, by the test of experience.

But it appears to the Committee, that the whole of the arrangements connected with the Sale of Land, including both the price and the precise mode of sale, should be placed under the charge of a Central Land Board, resident in London, and made responsible either to some existing department in the Government, or to Parliament directly, as may be deemed expedient: That this Board, acting through Local Boards established in the Colonies, should be charged with the superintendence of the Surveying Department, as with the care of so directing the stream of Emigration, which may be expected to flow into the Colonies from the Mother Country, as to proportion, in each, the supply of labour to the demand.

7. Resolved, That, with a view to this latter duty, in the opinion of the Committee, it is most expedient that, with the exception of the West India Sugar Coast, to which it will appear by the Evidence that a different system of Colonization might be more suitable, but where the application of the same principle appears to be equally desirable, the net proceeds of the Land Sales in these Colonies, the climate of which is not unfavourable to the European frame, should be employed as an Emigration Fund; each Colony being furnished with emigrant labour in exact proportion to the amount of its own Land Sales.

8. Resolved, That the Committee sees reason to believe that, by a judicious selection of the Emigrants, and by giving a preference to young couples recently married, a great effect might be produced, in opposite senses, upon the state of the population here and in the Colonies, by the removal of a much smaller number of persons than might at first be thought necessary. The Committee beg to refer to certain Tables prepared under their direction by Mr. Lewis, and annexed to the Report, to exemplify their meaning.

9. Resolved, That it appears to the Committee that it would be perfectly practicable to raise, upon the security of the future Land Sales, the funds necessary to set on foot an extensive Emigration, upon a scale sufficiently large to meet the exigencies of the Colonies and of the Mother Country.

10. Resolved, That in this, as in all their other recommendations, the Committee have looked with quite as lively an anxiety to the welfare of the Colonies as to that of the Mother Country; that, in all matters connected with Emigration, they conceive the interests of the two to be inseparable; one thing wanting in the Colonies, being provided that free or hired labour, a superabundant supply of which is occasioning great local suffering in other parts of the Empire; while the transfer of this supply of labour to the Colonies, by enabling them to turn to other parts of the Empire, cannot fail to open new channels of industry and commerce, both to them and to the Mother Country, and thus to enhance inestimably the prosperity of the United Empire.

Ordered, That the Report do lie upon the Table; and be printed.
