I issued my Warrant on the 26th of November last, for the commitment of Edmund Lechmere Charlton, Esquire, one of the Members for the Borough of Luton, for a Contempt of the High Court of Chancery, to which certain Letter, dated the 24th of October last, to William Brougham, Esquire, one of the Masters of that Court; which was followed by a certain other Letter, dated the 9th of December last, addressed to myself.

I have thought it right to make this communication, for the purpose of accounting for the probable absence of the Honourable Member, and of testifying my profound respect for the Honourable House.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,

To the Right honourable The Speaker.

E. L. Charlton.

31st Jan. 1837.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

We are commanded by His Majesty to acquaint you, that His Majesty continues to receive from all Foreign Powers the strongest assurances of their friendly disposition, and His Majesty trusts that the experience of the blessings which Peace confers upon Nations will tend to confirm and secure the present tranquillity.

His Majesty engaged to give, if it should become necessary, assurance of his protection to the person of the Queen of Portugal, without, however, interfering in those constitutional questions which divided the conflicting parties.

I have just reason to believe that Mr. William Pell (who is a Messenger in the Court of Chancery), and others employed by him, are determined, under the directions of the Lord Chancellor, to interrupt me in my progress to the House of Commons this day; and I humbly request, therefore, as I am thereby deterred from attending, that you will vouchsafe to extend to me your protection.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your obedient, humble servant,
To the Right honourable The Speaker.

Ordered, That the said Letters be printed; and taken into consideration To-morrow.

A Bill for the more effectual preventing Clan-destine Outlawries, was read the first time.

Mr. Speaker reported, that the House had been at serious deliberation those provisions which will be followed by a certain other Letter, dated the 9th of December last, addressed to myself.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your obedient, humble servant,

To the E. L. Charlton.

Ordered, That the said Letters be printed; and taken into consideration To-morrow.

Out of the House of Lords Commissioned Speeches.

Mr. Speaker reported, that the House had been at the House of Peers, at the desire of the Lords Commissioners appointed under the Great Seal for holding this present Parliament; and that the Lord High Chancellor, being one of the said Commissioners, made a Speech to both Houses of Parliament; of which Mr. Speaker said he had, to prevent mistakes, obtained a Copy, which he read to the House, as followeth:

My Lords and Gentlemen,

We are commanded by His Majesty to acquaint you, that His Majesty continues to receive from all Foreign Powers the strongest assurances of their friendly disposition, and His Majesty trusts that the experience of the blessings which Peace confers upon Nations will tend to confirm and secure the present tranquillity.

His Majesty engages to give, if it should become necessary; and His Majesty rejoices that his co-operating force has rendered useful assistance to the troops of her Catholic Majesty.

Events have happened in Portugal, which for a time threatened to disturb the internal peace of that country. His Majesty ordered, in consequence, a temporary augmentation of His Naval force in the Tagus, for the more effectual protection of the persons and property of His subjects resident in Lisbon; and the Admiral commanding His Majesty's squadron was authorized, in case of need, to afford protection to the person of the Queen of Portugal, without, however, interfering in those constitutional questions which divided the conflicting parties.

His Majesty has directed the Reports of the Commissioners appointed to inquire into the state of the Province of Lower Canada to be laid before you, and has ordered us to call your attention to that important subject.

We have it also in charge to recommend for your serious deliberation those provisions which will be submitted to you for the improvement of the Law, and of the administration of Justice; assuring you that His Majesty's anxiety for the accomplishment of these objects remains undiminished.

We are enjoined to convey to you His Majesty's desire that you should consult upon such further measures as may give increased stability to the Established Church, and promote concord and goodwill.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The Estimates of the year have been prepared with the utmost care and attention.

The best security against the mismanagement of Banking affairs must ever be found in the capacity and integrity of those who are entrusted with the administration of them, and in the caution and the prudence of the public; but no legislative regulation should be omitted which can increase and ensure the stability of establishments upon which commercial credit so much depends.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

His Majesty has more especially commanded us to bring under your notice the state of Ireland, and the wisdom of adopting all such measures as may improve the condition of that part of the United Kingdom. His Majesty recommends to your early consideration the present constitution of the Municipal Corporations of that country, the laws which regulate the collection of Tithes, and the difficult but pressing question of establishing some legal provision for the Poor, guarded by prudent regulations, and by such precautions against abuse, as your experience and knowledge of the subject enable you to suggest.

His Majesty commits these great interests into your hands, in the confidence that you will be able to frame Laws in accordance with the wishes of His Majesty, and the expectations of His people. His Majesty is persuaded, that should this hope be fulfilled, you will not only contribute to the welfare of Ireland, but strengthen the Law and Constitution of these Realms, by securing their benefits to all classes of His Majesty's subjects.

Resolved, That an humble Address be presented to His Majesty, to offer our humble Thanks for the gracious Speech which His Majesty has directed to be delivered by the Lords Commissioners.

To express our satisfaction at learning that His Majesty continues to receive from all Foreign Powers the strongest assurances of their friendly disposition, sition, and our participation in His Majesty's con-

WILL. IV.

To state that we lament with His Majesty, that the civil contest which has agitated the Spanish Monarchy has not yet brought to a close, but that we learn with satisfaction that His Majesty has continued to afford to the Queen of Spain that aid and security to the present tranquillity:

To express our regret that events have happened in Portugal which for a time threatened to disturb the internal peace of that country; and to thank His Majesty for having ordered in consequence a temporary augmentation of His naval force in the Tagus, for the more effectual protection of the persons and property of His subjects resident in Lisbon, and for authorizing the Admiral commanding His Majesty's squadron, in case of need, to afford protection to the person of the Queen of Portugal, without, however, interfering in those constitutional questions which divide their interests.

To offer our humble acknowledgments to His Majesty for having directed the Reports of the Commissioners appointed to inquire into the state of Lower Canada to be laid before us, and to assure His Majesty that we will give our attention to that important subject:

Humbly to acquaint His Majesty, that we will not fail seriously to deliberate upon the provisions which may be submitted to us for the improvement of the law and of the administration of justice, and to assure His Majesty that our anxiety for the accomplishment of these objects also remains unabated.

To submit that, in obedience to His Majesty's expressed desire, we will consult upon such further measures, as may give increased stability to the Established Church, and promote concord and goodwill.

Humbly to thank His Majesty for ordering the Estimates of the year to be prepared with every desire to meet the exigencies of the Public Service, in the spirit of a wise economy, and for directing them to be laid before us without delay:

That we rejoice to learn that the increase of the revenue has hitherto more than justified the expectations created by the receipts of former years:

That we are sensible of the importance of an early renewal of our inquiries into the operation of the Act permitting the establishment of Joint Stock Banks:

That we participate in the opinion, that the best security against the mismanagement of banking affairs must ever be found in the capacity and integrity of those who are intrusted with the administration of them, and in the caution and prudence of the public; but we are, nevertheless, persuaded, that no legislative regulation should be omitted which can increase and insure the stability of establishments upon which commercial credit so much depends:

Humbly to assure His Majesty, that we will direct our attention to the state of Ireland, which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to bring especially under our scrutiny; and that, convinced of the wisdom of adopting all such measures as may improve the condition of that part of the United Kingdom, we will take into our early consideration the present constitution of the Municipal Corporations of that country, the laws which regulate the collection of tithes, and the difficult but pressing question of establishing some legal provision for the poor, guarded by prudent regulations, and by such precautions against abuse as our experience and knowledge of the subject may enable us to suggest:

To express our gratitude for the confidence with which His Majesty commits these interests into our hands, and to declare to His Majesty that we entirely share in His Majesty's persuasions that we should be prepared to frame laws upon these matters in accordance with the wishes of His Majesty and the expectations of His people, we shall not only contribute to the welfare of Ireland, but strengthen the lawful constitution of the Realms, by securing their benefits to all classes of His Majesty's Subjects.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Address to be presented to His Majesty upon the said Resolution:—And a Committee was appointed of Mr. Aylesford, Sir Henry, Lord Viscount Palmerston, Lord Viscount Wenlock, Mr. Poulson, Sir John Hobhouse, Lord Viscount Morpeth, Mr. Attorney General, Mr. Solicitor General, Mr. Bernal, Mr. Baring, Mr. Edward John Stanley, Mr. Charles Wood, Mr. Robert Stewart, and the Lord Advocate, or any Five of them:—And they are to withdraw immediately.

Ordered, That the Speech of the Lords Committee Speech referred. sions to both Houses of Parliament be referred to the Committee.

And then the House adjourned till To-morrow.

Mercurii, 1° die Februario. Anno 7° Williemi IV° Regis, 1837.

that a large number of per-sons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register by leases made by a landlord whose interest in the lands and premises had ceased to exist, or had expired; that a large number of persons were admitted to be re- registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who had not in the lands and premises out of which they claimed to register, and who did not produce any deed, lease or instrument, grant or demise in support thereof, and who pro-duced fraudulent and fictitious papers, torn and effaced, alleging they held under some, but from which no trace of any execution of any grantor or grantee, or the nature of the tenure, or statement of any deed, lease or instrument, or of the nature of the tenure, or statement of quantity of land or yearly rent, could be discovered, nor any stamp visible thereon; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who had ceased to be qualified in respect of the lands out of which they claimed to register, having sub-let and sub-divided same; that a large number of per-sons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held as joint tenants under leases made since the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-three; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who had become insolvent, and others whose names were made use of, and whose property or interests in the lands held by them was altogether insufficient to entitle them to be registered; that during the continuance of number of persons whose claims ought to have been rejects, were by virtue of alleged freeholds under leases of land for a life or lives made by a lessor who had not at the time of making the same a free-hold estate therein; that a large number of persons was admitted to be registered, and obtained cer-tificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands of primary jurisdiction; that, pursuant to the Act to amend the Re-presentation of the People of Ireland, a special session for the duty of presiding at the special session was by seve-ral adjournments from the said tenth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, until the fifteenth day of November in the same year, when James Doherty, Esquire, a barrister, was under colour of a warrant professing to be under the hand of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, illegally ap-pointed for the duty of presiding as Deputy to the Assistant Barrister of the said county of Longford, at the said special session for the registration of votes for the said county, the rights, powers and authorities of the said John Francis Fosberry being in no manner revoked, recalled or annulled, and the said John Francis Fosberry still continuing in exer-cise of all the rights, powers and authorities so given to him by the warrant first hereinafore men-tioned, and the appointment of the said James Doherty was wholly void, ineffectual, and contrary to law, and gave to or vested in him no power, authority or jurisdiction whatsoever; and the regis-try so held by him thereunder was coram non jus-tice, and the persons so by him entered on the registry were no right to register; that, from and after the said respective times of their appointments, the said John Francis Fosberry and James Doherty sat daily in the court-house of Longford, in separate courts, and each separately deter-mined the validity of the claims of persons coming forward to register, and each adjudged and declared claimants to be entitled to be regis-tered, and each signed certificates declaratory of the right of such persons to vote; that the list of claimants to be registered was, in obedience to the Act of Parliament, called over three several times; and that, on the twenty-second of November, the said special session for registration of votes was by public proclamation duly closed; that a great num-ber of persons who were not qualified to vote for Knights of the Shire for said County, of persons who had ceased to be qualified by reason of the value of their holdings, were, by many decision of the said John Francis Fosberry and James Doherty, which Petitioner is advised and be-lies to be contrary to law, unduly admitted to be registered, and unduly obtained certificates, which, so long as they continue, will entitle them to vote, and also to re-register, in the production thereof, without further proof on oath; and a large number of per-sons whose registry was invalid, in not being con-formable to law, did in like manner unduly procure certificates objectionable as aforesaid; that a large character, and who were at the same time bound to stand their trials under indentments, framed against them for serious political offences, and by the clergy of the Roman Catholic persuasion, by means whereof a large number of persons in whose names notices had been served, were induced and compelled to come forward and claim to be registered, and to put a false and exaggerated value upon the lands, many of whom frequently declared that they could not re-ister, but that they dare not refuse to come forward and swear as they were desired; that by reason of the said illegal decisions of the said committee, John Francis Fowberry and James Doherty, and of the undue influence and intimidation aforesaid, a great number of persons who ought not to have been and who were not entitled to be admitted to be registered, were unduly put on the registry of the county of Longford as qualified voters, and unduly became possessed of certificates on parchment, declaring them to be registered voters of said county, and entitled to vote at Elections of Members of Parliament to represent the said county; that shortly after said special registry session, in pursuance of a writ for that purpose to him directed, Willoughby Bond, Esquire, the then High Sheriff of said county, who held the said court for the election of two Knights of the Shire to represent the said county of Longford in Parliament; that the Candidates at the said Election were the Right Worshipful Viscount Forbes and Anthony Lefroy (since decesses), Anthony Lefroy, Luke White, and James Holpin Rorke, Esquires, who were severally proposed and seconded, and a poll having been demanded and proceeded upon, the same was continued from the eighteenth December, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, until the twenty-second day of December in same year, when the said Returning Officer declared the said Luke White and Anthony Lefroy to be duly elected, as Petition, and lists were exchanged in the usual manner by them as objectionable and bad; that the Candidates at the said Election were the right Worshipful Viscount Forbes and Anthony Lefroy, who were severally proposed and seconded, and a poll having been demanded and proceeded upon, the same was continued from the eighteenth December, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, until the twenty-second day of December in same year, when the said Returning Officer declared the said Luke White and Anthony Lefroy to be duly elected, as Petition, and lists were exchanged in the usual manner by landlords who had not at the time of making the same a freehold estate therein; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to vote, by leases of land for a life or years, made by landlords who had become insolvent, and others who had become bankrupt, whose interest in the lands and premises out of which they claimed to register, were legally vested in their respective assignees; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered as leaseholders of the value of ten pounds sterling, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to vote, by leases of land for a life or years, made by landlords who had not at the time of making the same an unexpired term of twenty years therein;
that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register by leases antedated and purporting to be for a term of twenty years, and made by landlords who had at the time of the said registry session, was admitted to be registered, that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register, by leases of land for a life or years, made by landlords who had not at the time of making the same an unexpired term of twenty years therein;
that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register, by leases of land for a life or
years, made by landlords who had not at the time of making the same an unexpired term of twenty years therein;
that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register, by leases of land for a life or
years, made by landlords who had not at the time of making the same an unexpired term of twenty years therein;
that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register, by leases of land for a life or
years, made by landlords who had not at the time of mak-
that on which they had formerly registered; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered by said George French and Frederick Lindsey, who held as joint tenants under a large number of persons were served upon an erroneous view, that great and undue influence and intimidation was used to induce and register votes of persons who had not been at all registered; 10 that a large number of persons were altogether insufficient to entitle them to be registered; that great and undue influence and intimidation was used to induce and compel the said persons for whom notices had not been served to attach and Register at the said several quarter sessions, and there, by false representations, undue influence, and by threats, were induced and compelled to place an exaggerated and excessive value upon their lands; that, by reason of the many erroneous and illegal decisions of the said George French and Frederick Lindsey, and of the undue influence and intimidation as aforesaid, a great number of persons who ought not to have been, and who were not entitled to be admitted, were unduly put upon the registry of the county of Longford, and illegally appear therein as qualified voters, and unduly became possessed of certificates on parchment, declaring them to be entitled to vote at Elections of Members of Parliament to represent the said county; that, in pursuance of a writ for that purpose to him directed, Sir Percy Nugent, Baronet, High Sheriff of the county of Longford, proclamation of the time and place of holding thereof having been duly made, proceeded on the twenty-sixth day of December last, to hold his Court for the Election of a Knight of the Shire to represent said county in Parliament, in the room of Lord Viscount Fortes, deceased; that the said Charles Fox, and Luke White, appeared, and were severally proposed and seconded as Candidates at said Election, and a poll having been demanded and proceeded upon, the same was continued from said twenty-sixth day of December last until Friday, the thirteenth day of December, that during the continuance of said poll, many very many of the persons who had been illegally, unduly, and erroneously registered by the said John Francis Fosberry and James Doherty, at said special session, and by the said George French and Frederick Lindsey, at said several quarter sessions, tendered their votes for the said Luke White, and were received; that very many persons who, since the time of being registered and procuring certificates on parchment as registered voters of said county, but who had ceased to be qualified by reason of their having parted with the freehold, and sold or sub-let, and sub-divided the lands out of which they registered, or who had been ejected or removed therefrom, and of persons who had parted with the possession in the whole or in part of the lands from which they registered, of persons whose interest in the lands out of which they were registered had ceased by expiration of the time for which the lands were held; of persons whose title had ceased to exist by reason of the lease or title out of which their interests were derived having expired; of persons who registered as freeholders and whose qualifications as such freeholders had ceased by the falling of the life or lives in their leases; of persons who had registered out of two, three or more instruments, and where the interest derivable under one or more of such instruments had dropped and ceased to exist; of persons who had become bankrupt, and of persons who had become insolvent; of persons whose title and interest in the lands out of which they registered had ceased by the death of the life or lives for which they held; of persons whose votes had been ordered by the Resolution of the House to be removed from the registry of said county, as being bad votes, and who had not been at all registered; of persons who were bribed to vote; of persons who were unduly treated at and before said Election; of persons who, when duly called upon for that purpose, at the time of coming forward to poll, did not take the proper form of oath by law prescribed; and of persons whose registry was imperfect and inofferable, tendered their votes for the said Luke White, and were received; that objections having been made to the votes of the said persons, the Returning Officer and his Assessor declared themselves bound by the production of the certificates on parchment, which they decided to be conclusive evidence of their right of voting, and declared the votes of the said persons to be registered, and to be entered on the poll for the said Luke White; and by the endeavouring to bribe and corrupt the Electors to give their votes for the said Luke White; and by the endeavouring to bribe and corrupt the Electors to give their votes for the said Luke White; and in order further to intimidate, in many instances dug graves near the houses of the said voters; that the clergy of the Roman Catholic persuasion, both publicly and in the chapels, during said period denounced the said Charles Fox as an enemy to the people, and called over, standing at the altars and doors of said chapels, the names of the freeholders in the parishes, and who were usually in the habit of attending at said chapels, and then and there caused and compelled said voters to stand forward and sign a paper, or put their marks thereto, pleading themselves to vote for the said Luke White; that the said Luke White, by himself, his agents, friends and managers, committee-men, partisans, and others on his behalf, were guilty of the most flagrant and notorious acts of intimidation, thereby basely and unlawfully procuring by threats divers other persons to vote at the said Election through fear of being persecuted, and themselves and their families injured and ill-used, and in violation of the rights of the Electors for the said Charles Fox, in violation of the rights of Election, the privileges of Parliament, and freedom of Election; that the said Luke White, by himself, his agents, managers, and friends, and others on his behalf, before, and at and during the Election, were guilty of open and notorious acts of bribery and corruption of the Electors of said county, in order to influence the Electors to give their votes to the said Luke White, and to refuse and forbear to give their votes for the said Charles Fox, and also of attempting and endeavouring to bribe and corrupt the Electors of the said county to give their votes to the said Luke White, and to refuse and forbear to give their votes for the said Charles Fox, in order that the said Luke White might be returned to serve in Parliament for said county, and that the said Luke White having been recently appointed Lord Lieutenant of said county, did, after the issuing of the Writ for the Election of a Member to serve in Parliament, in the room of Lord Viscount Forbes, deceased, and at and during said Election, by himself, his agents, managers, and friends, and others, on his behalf, and at his cost and charge, give, present, and allow to divers persons having votes and claiming to have voices in said Election, money, presents, gifts and rewards, and make promises, agreements, obligations and engagements, to give and allow rewards, gifts and money, to and for divers persons having votes in the said Election, and to and for the use, advantage, benefit and emolument, profit and preferment, of such persons, in order to be elected, and for being elected to serve in this Parliament for said county of Longford, in violation and defiance of the Standing Order and Orders of the House, and of the laws and statutes of this Realm, for preventing bribery at elections of Members of Parliament; and the said Luke White, by himself, his agents, managers, and friends, on his behalf, as well before as at and during the said Election, did, by gifts and rewards, and by threats and promises, and agreements and securities, for gifts and rewards, corrupt, procure, and attempt and ensnare and procure divers persons being and claiming to be Electors of the said county to give their votes to the said Luke White, in order that he the said Luke White might be elected and returned to serve in this present Parliament as a Member for said county of Longford, by all which means and by other illegal practices, the said Luke White obtained a colourable majority over the Petitioner on the poll taken at the said Election, and was illegally returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this Parliament for said county of Longford, to the prejudice and injury of the Petitioner, who was duly elected by a majority of legal votes given for him, and who ought to have been returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this Parliament for said county of Longford; and the Petitioner therefore most humbly prays, That the House will take into their consideration the several matters and things hereinbefore stated, and will remove from the registry of the said county of Longford, and strike off the poll of the said Election, the names of such persons as shall appear to have been improperly admitted to be registered, and to vote as aforesaid, and that the said Luke White may be declared not duly elected or returned; and that the Petitioner may be declared duly elected to serve in this Parliament for the said county of Longford, and his name substituted in the Return for the said county, or that the Election and Return of the said Luke White may be declared to be null and void; and that the House may make such order, and give such further relief in the premises for securing the freedom of Election in said county as to the House shall seem fit.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration upon Tuesday, the 29th day of this instant February, at three of the clock in the Afternoon.

right of voting; that from and after the said respective times of their appointments, the said John Francis Fosbury and James Doherty sat daily in the Court House of Longford, in separate courts, and each separately determined upon the quality of the claims of persons coming forward to register, and each adjudged and declared claimants to be entitled to be registered, and each signed certificates; that the list of claimants so registered was, in obedience to the Act of Parliament, called over several times, and that on the twenty-second day of November, the said special session for registration of voters, was by public proclamation duly closed; that by numerous decisions of the said John Francis Fosbury and James Doherty, a great number of persons who were not qualified, of persons who were disqualified, of persons who were not entitled by value to be registered as voters, for the said County of Longford, were in like manner unduly procured certificates, objectionable as aforesaid; that a large number of persons whose claims ought to have been rejected, were admitted to be registered as freeholders by virtue of alleged holdings under leases of land for a life or lives, made by a lessor who had not at the time of making the same a freehold estate therein; that many persons holding lands by virtue of grants and leases made to them by the Royal Canal Company, and the New Royal Canal Company in Ireland, were admitted to be registered and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, although by an Act of Parliament passed in the thirty-first year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, confirmed and re-enacted by several subsequent Acts, it is provided that it shall not be lawful for any person whatsoever to vote at any Election of any Member or Members of Parliament, by virtue of any grant, lease, or demise, made to him by either of said Companies; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register by leases made by landlords whose interest had been evicted; that a large number of persons were admitted to be registered, and obtained certificates objectionable as aforesaid, who held the lands out of which they claimed to register by leases made to them by the said John Francis Fosbury and James Doherty, who became possessed of certificates on parchment, deeming them to be entitled to be registered; that during the continuance of said special session, great and unnatural excitement prevailed, and great and undue influence, as well by promises as by threats and intimidation, was used by persons of notoriously dangerous character, and who were at the same time bound to stand their trials under indictments framed against them for serious political offences, and by the clergy of the Roman Catholic persuasion, by means whereof a large number of persons in whose names notices had been served, were induced and compelled to come forward, and claim to be registered, and to put a false and exaggerated value upon the lands, many of whom frequently declared that they could not register, but that they dare not refuse to come forward and swear as they were desired; that by reason of the many erroneous and illegal decisions of the said John Francis Fosbury and James Doherty, and of the undue influence and intimidation aforesaid, a great number of persons who ought not to have been, and who were not, entitled to be admitted to be registered, were unduly put upon the registry of the county of Longford, as qualified voters, and unduly became possessed of certificates on parchment, declaring them to be registered voters of said County, and entitled to vote at Elections of Members of Parliament to represent the said County; that shortly after said special session, the said Anthony Lefroy, Luke White and James Halpin Rorke, who were severally proposed and seconded, and a poll having been duly taken, the then High Sheriff of said county of Longford, proceeded to hold his Court for the election of two Knights of the Shire to represent the said county of Longford in Parliament; that the candidates at the said Election were the Right honourable Lord Viscount Forbes, since deceased, Anthony Lefroy, Luke White and James Halpin Rorke, who were severally proposed and seconded, and a poll having been duly taken, and concluded, the said Anthony Lefroy, Luke White and James Halpin Rorke, duly elected to serve in Parliament as Knights of the Shire for said county of Longford; that a Petition was presented by some of the Petitioners and other freeholders of compelled to place an exaggerated and excessive value upon their lands; that by reason of the many errors and illegal decisions of the said George French and Frederick Lindesey, and of the undue influence and intimidation aforesaid, a great number of persons who ought not to have been, and who were not entitled to be, registered, were under the impression of the registry of the said County, and illegally appear thereon as qualified voters, and unduly became possessed of certificates on parchment declaring them to be entitled to vote at elections of Members of Parliament to represent the said County; that in pursuance of a writ for that purpose to him directed, Sir Percy Nugent, Baronet, High Sheriff of the County of Longford, proclamation of the time and place of holding them; they, or their agents, managers, or any of them, proceeded on the twenty-sixth day of December last to hold his court for the election of a Knight of the Shire to represent said County of Longford in Parliament, in the room of Lord Viscount Forbes, deceased, and to hold his court for the election of a Member of Parliament to represent the said County; that the said election was held, and in order to further intimidate, in many instances, dug graves near the residences of said voters; that the clergy of the Roman Catholic persuasion, both publicly and in their chapels, during said period, denounced the said Charles Fox as an enemy to the people, and called over, standing at the altars and doors of said chapels, the names of the freeholders in their parishes who were usually in the habit of attending at said chapels, and then and there caused and compelled said voters to stand forward and sign a paper, or put their marks thereon, pledging themselves to vote for the said Luke White; that the said George French and Frederick Lindesey at said several quarter sessions, tendered their votes for the said Luke White, and were received; that many persons who sought the office of being registered, and procuring certificates on parchment as registered voters of said County, but who had ceased to be qualified, by reason of their having parted with their freedom sold or sold, and subdivided the lands out of which they registered, or who had been ejected or removed therefrom, and of persons who had parted with the possession in the whole or in part of the lands from which they registered, or of persons whose interest in the lands out of which they registered had ceased, by expiration of the term for which the lands were held, of persons whose title had ceased to exist by reason of the lease or title out of which their interests were derived having expired, of persons who registered as freeholders, and whose qualifications as such freeholders had ceased by the falling of the life or lives in their leases, of persons who had not been registered out of two, three or more instruments, and where the interest derivable under one or more of such instruments had dropped and ceased to exist, of persons who had become bankrupt, and of persons whose lives of personal interest in the lands out of which they registered had ceased by the death of the life or lives for which they held, of persons whose votes had been ordered by the returning officer, and for the use, advantage and emolument, of persons having voices in the said... illegal practices, the said Lake White obtained a colourable majority over the said Charles Fox on the poll taken at the said Election, and was illegally returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this Parliament for said County of Longford, to the prejudice and injury of the said Charles Fox, who was duly elected by a majority of legal votes given for him, and who ought to have been returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this Parliament for the County of Longford; the Petitioners, therefore, insomuch as no scrutiny or investigation of the persons illegally admitted to be registered, could or was permitted to take place at the said Election, and insomuch as the examination of matters and things affecting the freedom of Elections, the correction of abuses, and the removal of fraudulent votes are most important, most humbly pray, That the House will take the several matters and things above stated into their consideration, and remove from the Registry of the said County of Longford the names of such persons as shall appear to them to have been improperly admitted to be registered, and to vote as aforesaid; and that the said Lake White may be declared not duly elected or returned, and that the said Charles Fox may be declared duly elected to serve in Parliament for the said County of Longford, and his Name substituted in the said Return, or declare the Election and Return of the said Lake White to be null and void, and that the House may make such order, and give such further relief in the premises for securing the freedom of election in the said County as the House shall think fit.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration at the same time that the preceding Petition is ordered to be taken into consideration.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do issue his Warrant, or Warrants, for such persons, papers and records, as shall be thought necessary by the several Parties on the hearing of the matter of the said Petitions.

the spirit of a wise economy, and for directing them to be laid before us without delay.

We rejoice to learn that the increase of the Revenue has hitherto more than justified the expectations created by the receipts of former years.

We are sensible of the importance of an early renewal of our inquiries into the operation of the Act permitting the establishment of Joint Stock Banks; and we participate in the opinion Your Majesty has been pleased to express that the best security against the mismanagement of Banking affairs must ever be found in the capacity and integrity of those who are entrusted with the administration of them, and in the caution and prudence of the public; but we are nevertheless persuaded that no legislative regulation should be omitted which can increase and insure the stability of establishments upon which commercial credit so much depends.

We humbly assure Your Majesty that we will direct our attention to the state of Ireland, which Your Majesty has been graciously pleased to bring especially under our notice; and, convinced of the wisdom of adopting all such measures as may improve the condition of that part of the United Kingdom, we will take into our early consideration the present constitution of the Municipal Corporations of that Country, the Laws which regulate the collection of Tithes, and the difficult but pressing question of establishing some legal provision for the Poor, guarded by prudent regulations, and by such precautions against abuse as our experience and knowledge of the subject may enable us to suggest.

We cannot but feel grateful for the confidence with which Your Majesty commits these interests into our hands, and we are persuaded, with Your Majesty, that, should we be able to frame Laws upon these matters in accordance with the wishes of Your Majesty, and the expectations of Your Majesty's People, we shall not only contribute to the welfare of Ireland, but strengthen the Law and Constitution of those Realms, by securing their benefits to the expectations of Your Majesty's most honourable Privy Council.

Mr. William Wynn reported from the Select Committee of Privileges two Letters to Mr. Speaker, one from the Lord Chancellor, dated January 31st, 1837; and the other from Edmund Locke分解urton, Esquire, a Member of this House, dated January 31st, 1837, and to whom was also referred another Letter from Mr. Charlton to Mr. Speaker, dated February 30, 1837; and who were empowered to report their Proceedings, together with their opinion thereupon, to the House, from time to time, and to bring in such Bills as they should consider necessary to render the House amenable to public opinion, and to afford the House an opportunity of fully stating his case.

The Warrant for Mr. Charlton's commitment to the Fleet, and the Order of Court on which it was founded, were produced to the Committee, and it appeared that he was committed by the Lord Chancellor for writing a Letter, addressed to William Breton, Esquire, one of the Masters of the High Court of Chancery, containing matter scandalous with respect to the said Master, and an attempt improperly to influence his conduct in the matter pending before him, "which the said Lord Chancellor, in his opinion, was an attempt improperly to influence his conduct in the matter pending before him, 'which the said Lord Chancellor, in his opinion, was an attempt improperly to influence his conduct in the matter pending before him, with a view to obtain a further hearing, to which, if applied for in a proper manner, Mr. Charlton would have been entitled.

It was found, in the course of the investigation, that Mr. Joseph Parkes, the solicitor for the parties who appeared before the Master in opposition to Mr. Charlton's clients, had, during the interval which occurred between the issue of the Warrant and its execution, written a Letter to Mr. Speaker, dated February 3d, 1837; and who were empowered to report their Proceedings, together with their opinion thereupon, to the House, from time to time, and to bring in such Bills as they should consider necessary to render the House amenable to public opinion, and to afford the House an opportunity of fully stating his case.

lengthen their proceedings, but the result has satisfied them that no power had ever been given by any person, or exercised by the Solicitor for that purpose.

Upon the law and usage of Parliament, as affecting this case, Your Committee beg leave to refer to the statement contained in the Report of the Committee of Privileges on the case of the Honourable William Long Wellesley, presented to the House on the 26th July 1831, the precedents cited in which they will not here repeat.

The Committee are deeply impressed with the difficulty and importance of the question referred to them, in the absence of authorities to which they can refer as clearly in point and directly bearing on this particular case. It will be seen, from the early cases, that the ancient definition of Privilege of Parliament, is, that it belongs to every Member of the House, except in cases of treason, felony, or refusing to give surety of the peace.

These exceptions, by the statement of the Commons in 1641, are further extended to all indictable offences; by their Resolution in 1697, to forcible entries and detainers; and, in 1763, in conformity with the Declaration of Rights, and of a subsequent Resolution in 1675, to printing and publishing seditious libels; to which may be added the Resolution of the Lords in 1757, that Privilege shall not protect Peers against process to enforce the Habeas Corpus.

The ordinary process for contempt against persons having privilege of Parliament or of Peerage, has not been that of attachment of the person, but that of sequestration of the whole property, which has been found sufficient to vindicate the authority of the Courts, even in cases of some aggravation.

It is stated by Blackstone, that "Contempt committed by Peers, when enormous and accompanied with violence, such as forcible rescous and the like, or when they import disobedience to the King's writs of prohibition, Habeas Corpus, and the rest, are punishable by attachment;" and the same doctrine has on different occasions been expressed by other writers, and by Judges of high authority.

The only cases, however, in which attachments have been found by the Committee to have been actually issued against privileged persons, are that of Earl Ferrers, by the King's Bench, and that of Mr. Long Wellesley, by the Court of Chancery, already referred to.

The former was a case of disobedience to a writ of Habeas Corpus, to which, "while the discussion was pending," it had been declared by the House of Lords, Privilege of Parliament did not extend; the latter was that of the forcible removal of a ward of the Court of Chancery, and placing her out of the jurisdiction of the Court, which obviously could only be checked by the most prompt and efficacious remedy.

Since the sitting of the last Committee of Privileges, the Act of 2 and 3 Will. IV. c. 93, intituled, "An Act for enforcing the Process upon Contempts in the Courts Ecclesiastical of England and Ireland," has passed, by which Contempts of the Ecclesiastical Courts, "in face of the Court, or any other Contempt towards such Court, or the process thereof, are directed to be signified to the Lord Chancellor, who is to issue a writ de contumace capiendo, for taking into custody persons charged with such Contempt," in such case such person "shall not be a Peer, Lord of Parliament, or Member of the House of Commons."

Under all the circumstances of the case, Your Committee are of opinion, that Mr. Charlton's claim to be discharged from imprisonment by reason of Privilege of Parliament, ought not to be admitted.

Plains, and are not inserted in the Book of Reference; and insomuch as the height of the Railway is not marked on the Section at the highway leading from the Hinckley Turnpike Road to Nuneaton; and inasmuch as at the point of passage of the Railway over the Oxford Canal, in the parish of Monk's Kirby, it is not stated whether any and what alteration is intended to be made in the level of such Canal, but the height of the Railway above such Canal in feet and inches is laid down as seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the point of junction of the Railway with the London and Birmingham Railway, it is not stated whether any and what alteration is intended to be made in the level of such Canal, but the height of the Railway above such Canal in feet and inches is laid down as seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the point of passage of the Railway over the Oxford Canal, in the parish of Newbold-apo-Avon, it is not stated whether any and what alteration is intended to be made in the level of such Canal, but the height of the Railway above such Canal in feet and inches is laid down as seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the point of passage of the Railway over the Oxford Canal, in the parish of Hinckley, it is not stated whether any and what alteration is intended to be made in the level of such Canal, the height of the Railway above such Canal in feet and inches is laid down as seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the point of junction of the Railway with the Birmingham and Derby Railway, it is not stated whether any and what alteration is intended to be made in the level of such Canal, the height of the Railway above such Canal in feet and inches is laid down as seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the crossing of the Oxford Canal in the township of Little Harborough, it is not stated in the Section lodged with the Clerk of the Peace at Leicester, whether any and what alteration is intended, whereas upon the Section lodged in the Private Bill Office, it is stated to remain unaltered; and insomuch as at the crossing of the Oxford Canal in the township of Leicestershire, whether any and what alteration is intended, whereas upon the Section lodged in the Private Bill Office, it is stated to remain unaltered; and insomuch as at the crossing of the Oxford Canal at the twenty-fifth mile, it is stated in the Section deposited at Leicester to be raised seventeen feet, whereas at the same Road in the Section lodged in the Private Bill Office, it is stated to be raised sixteen feet; and insomuch as at the cutting near the twenty-fourth mile of the Section at Leicester, the cutting is stated to be ten feet six inches, whereas in the Section at the Private Bill Office it is stated to be eleven feet; and insomuch as at the crossing of the Oxford Canal at the twenty-fifth mile, it is stated in the Section lodged at Leicester to be seven feet, and in the Section at the Private Bill Office it is stated seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the Road from Warton to Grendon, which is described in the Section, the height of the Road at Bilston is not marked, and insomuch as at the crossing of the Road at Bilston to the Clerk of the Peace at Leicester, and inasmuch as at the crossing of the Railway at the twenty-fifth mile, it is stated in the Section lodged at Leicester to be seven feet, and in the Section at the Private Bill Office it is stated to be seven feet six inches; and insomuch as at the crossing of the Oxford Canal in the parish of Newbold-apo-Avon, and inasmuch as the following errors appear in the Books of Reference:—1st, In the parish of Amington, the number is omitted, No. 2, "Mary blood, widow:"—Occupier, Mary Blood, widow;—2d, In the parish of Tamworth, No. 154, is omitted the word "ditto," under the head of Occupier:—3d, In the parish of Ainsley, No. 2, is omitted the name of the occupier in the copy deposited in the Private Bill Office;—4th, and in No. 7, is omitted the word "ditto," under the head of Occupier, in the copy deposited in the Private Bill Office;—5th, In the parish of Tamworth, the occupation of Similar, is omitted;—6th, In the parish of Mercia, No. 3, is entered "in the ownership of Luke Essex, Esquire," it being in the ownership of the Rev. Gerard Thomas Andrews;—7th, In the parish of Moseley, No. 43, is entered "in the ownership of..."—the height of the Railway in the Section lodged with the Clerk of the Peace for the county of Leicester, until seven minutes past midnight of the 30th of November last; and inasmuch as the Plan lodged with the Clerk of the Peace at Leicester, does not contain the numbers 63, 64, 65, 66 and 66a, in the parish of Newbold-apo-Avon; and inasmuch as the mistakes which occurred only in the Books of Reference deposited with the Clerks of the Peace; but that in the copies deposited with the Parish Clerks, and in the Private Bill Office, the error had been corrected by a note affixed to such entry: 12th, and inasmuch as in the case of the crossing of the Railway at the turnpike Road at Witherley Bridge, that part of the Road being within one hundred yards of the county bridge, belongs to the county of Warwick, and not to the Trustees of the Turnpike Road; and inasmuch as, 13th, at the crossing of the Atherton and Sheepy Turnpike Road at Alders Mill Bridge, that part of the Road being within one hundred yards of the county bridge, belongs to the county of Leicester, and not to the Trustees of the said Road; and inasmuch as such a reduction in writing was not made to Mr. William Hewett, one of the Committee, for Warwick Moor; but it appeared to the Committee, that notice in writing had been given upon twenty of such Committee; and inasmuch as no notice in writing had been made to the owner or reputed owners, of Witherley Bridge and Alders Mill Bridge respectively; and inasmuch as Joseph Hall, an owner and occupier in the parish of Tamworth, Jane Hall, an occupier in the parish of Amington, and William Vincent Ridley, an owner and occupier in the parish of Atherstone, had been wrongly entered as assenting in the list of Owners and Occupiers deposited in the Private Bill Office, the Committee have been referred to the Select Committee on Standing Orders.

Mr. Aglionby reported from the Select Committee on Petitions for Private Bills; That the Petitions of William Garrett of Manchester, Esquire, complaining of non-compliance with the Standing Orders were referred; That the Standing Orders relative to Bills for making Railways, had not been complied with in the case of the Petition for the Manchester and Stafford Railway Bill; firstly, inasmuch as the fixed point to which the datum horizontal line is referred is not stated on the section; inasmuch as the examination of the section, it appears that the fixed point to which the said line is referred is there stated to be 137 feet below Store-street, and that the Railway does not pass Store-street; it is intended that the Railway should not enter upon, but should be a... should terminate at Store-street, upon a line level with the front of the houses; the width of the Railway where it so terminates is 20 feet, and the level of the street for that width does not vary much; the street is about 200 yards in length, with a grade of the Murble of from three to four feet; it appeared to the Committee that the reference in the section to Store-street generally is too vague, and that no one could ascertain with certainty in what part of the street the fixed point is taken; but it did not appear to the Committee that there was any intention to mislead; the surveyor making the section understood in the construction he put upon the said Standing Order, that the fixed point must be at some place in the section; and he meant to make it appear on the section, that the fixed point was at the centre of the Railway where it joins upon Store-street; it appeared to the Committee, from evidence laid before them, that if it had been stated on the section that the fixed point was at that part of Store-street where the Railway terminates, no misconception could have arisen; and that, according to the practice of surveyors and engineers, the centre of the Railway at such termination would have been understood to be designated; secondly, the Standing Order, No. 5, had not been complied with, insomuch as the Railway crosses the Grand Trunk Canal (its height being at such crossing 16 feet above the surface of the ground), but such height is not marked in figures in the section laid before the Committee from the Private Bill Office; it appeared, however, to them from evidence, that such omission of the figures is an error in copying; and that the height of the Railway over the surface was marked in figures at such crossing on the original draft of the section, as well as on the several copies deposited with the clerks of the peace and the parish clerks.

Ordered, That the Report be referred to the Select Committee on Standing Orders.

Mr. Evelyn Denison reported from the Select Committee on Petitions for Private Bills; and to whom the Petitions of John Aubrey Whitcomb; and, of Mr. Alderman and Burgesses of the city of Gloucester, complaining of non-compliance with the Standing Orders, were referred; That the Standing Orders relative to Navigation Bills, had not been complied with in the case of the Petition for the Severn Navigation Bill, inasmuch as, 1st, no sufficient notice has been given in the newspapers of a certain navigable Cut intended to be made from the River Severn into the Gloucester and Berkeley Canal, commencing at or near No. 48, on the Plan deposited in the Private Bill Office, in the parish of Hempstead, and terminating at or near No. 44, in Lansebey south hamlet, both in the county of Gloucester; the notices are divided into two two branches, the first embracing certain improvements proposed to be made in the navigation of the River Severn; the second giving notice of an intention to divert certain waters for the purposes of such improvements; under the first head are given notices of a Bill to improve the navigation of the River Severn, by widening, deepening, cleansing, embanking, extending and enlarging the said river, and by altering and diverting the course thereof in certain places, and making new cuts for the purpose of avoiding angles and bridges, and for rendering the navigation more commodious in other respects, but there is no notice of an intention to make any navigable communication from and out of the River Severn, into and with the Gloucester and Berkeley Canal; under the second head, notice is given only of an intention to divert into the River Severn, or into some extension or variation thereof, or cut communicating therewith, a part of the water from the Gloucester and Berkeley Canal: that the Committee are of opinion, that a notice of an intention to divert water from a canal is not a sufficient notice of an intention to make a communication therewith or of the purposes of navigation; 2dly, inasmuch as the notices do not contain the name of the Stroud navigation, the waters of which at present run into the Gloucester and Berkeley Canal, and will, if carried into Standing Orders, communicate with the River Severn, in consequence of the communication intended to be made between the said river and the Gloucester and Berkeley Canal; 3dly, inasmuch as the Books of Reference deposited with the Clerks of the Peace contain a Road called a Public Road (marked No. 46, in Lanthony south hamlet, in the county of Gloucester,) in respect of which no application was made, but subsequently application was made to Mr. Higford, who stated himself to be the proprietor of the Road, and his answer is entered in the Lists deposited in the Private Bill Office; 4thly, inasmuch as in the before-mentioned cut at Gloucester, commencing at No. 49, and terminating at No. 44, the section does not describe the levels by feet and inches in figures; a vertical scale is, however, given; 5thly, inasmuch as the Plan deposited in the Private Bill Office is not a duplicate of the Plan deposited with the Clerk of the Peace for the county of Gloucester, in that the proposed Cut on the eastern side of the Rose Bridge, in the parish of Deerhurst, in the county of Gloucester, as laid down in the Plan deposited with the Clerk of the Peace for the said county, passes through two fields, Nos. 10 and 11, into which the Cut does not extend, according to the Plan lodged in the Private Bill Office; but it appeared to the Committee, that application was made to the proprietors of the said fields; 6thly, inasmuch as the Section lodged in the Private Bill Office is not a duplicate of the Section lodged with the Clerk of the Peace for the county of Gloucester, the line given in the Private Bill Office Section of the cut at Gloucester as the proposed level of surface water being omitted in the Section deposited with the Clerk of the Peace for the said county, and the Gloucester and Hereford Canal lock, which is marked in the longitudinal Section of the Maisemore branch in the copy deposited in the Private Bill Office being omitted in the copy deposited with the Clerk of the Peace for the said county of Gloucester: 7thly, inasmuch as in the Section describing the levels, the level of only one bank is given; the same bank, however, is not always described, but the course of the river is; it appeared, however, in evidence before the Committee, that it had not been the practice of engineers to give the level of more than one bank.

A Petition of David Robertson, of Great George-street, Westminster, agent for the Right honourable John Earl of Hopetown, and of the Honourable John Hope and James Hope, his commissioners in the matter of the Edinburgh and Glasgow Railway, complaining, upon various grounds set forth in that Petition, that the Standing Orders had not been complied with; that in the matter of the said Railway, the estimated expense amounts to the sum of £83,000; that, and four contracts are stated to have been entered into by persons subscribing to the intended undertaking, copies of which have been deposited in the Private Bill Office, one by persons residing in Liverpool and its neighbourhood, another by persons residing in Manchester and its neighbourhood, a third by persons residing in Edinburgh and its neighbourhood, and a fourth by persons residing in Glasgow and its neighbourhood, and upon the face of these contracts the subscription of persons in England (including some in Ireland), among one of the United States of America, amount to the sum of £81,250, while the subscriptions of persons in Scotland amount only to the sum of £20,250; that among other objections upon Standing Orders in the said Petition mentioned, there was an objection stated in the following terms: "That in all these contracts (with the exception of a few persons in the Glasgow contract), the places of abode of the persons whose names are therein set down, are totally omitted," while it is manifestly impossible for the Petitioners to check the authenticity of subscriptions to this enormous amount, particularly in the case of persons residing in Liverpool, Manchester, and elsewhere in England, among whom individuals are stated as subscribers in one sum to the amount of £20,000 and upwards; that the Petition of the said Company was, in the usual manner, referred to the Select Committee to whom all Petitions for Private Bills are referred; that the matter of the said Petition came on for discussion upon Wednesday, the 29th of February instant, before the Sub-committee of the said Select Committee, and such Sub-committee, after hearing the agents for the parties, intimated their opinion that the Standing Orders relating to Private Bills in general, which directs that every subscription list required to be deposited in the Private Bill Office do contain the Christian surnames and places of abode, together with a description of the quality or calling of the subscribers to the work, and the sums by them respectively subscribed, did not apply to Railway Bills, and that this had been superseded by the order in regard to Railway Bills requiring, that before any Petition for a Railway Bill is presented to the House, a subscribe list must be presented to the House, a subscribe list, stating the amount of one-half of the estimated expense, at least, shall be entered into by persons under a contract, binding themselves, their heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, for the payment of the money subscribed, and that accordingly overruled the objections taken to the contracts in the present case; that these did not set out the places of abode of the subscribers, nor, in all cases, their Christian names; that it was stated in the said Sub-committee, on the part of the Petitioners, that it was necessary for them to see the original contracts in this case, particularly those drawn according to the forms of the Standing Orders of Scotland, before it could be known whether these were of any validity or not, and that the promoters of the Bill, when previously applied to, had refused to permit any inspection of them to be had, and the Petitioners therefore claimed the production of such original contracts before the Committee, but the said Sub-committee intimated their opinion, that it was not necessary to produce these original contracts, and they finally came to a resolution, that the Standing Orders had been complied with in this case; that the Petitioner considers the decision of the said Sub-committee, in the matter aforesaid, to be of much importance, as affecting the interests of his constituents, but of infinitely greater importance so far as the interest of the public is concerned; and while he begs leave to express

Orders relative to Railway Bills, had not been complied with in the case of the Petition for the Courtenhali and Great Wigston Railway Bill, inasmuch as N° 6 in the parish of Courtenhall, the property of Sir William Wake, and N° 1 in the parish of Collington, the property of the Rev. Benjamin Hill, are omitted in the Plan deposited in the Private Bill Office; but it appeared to the Committee that the plans were served with the notices upon the respective owners, and on the Plans deposited with the parish Clerks; and inasmuch as in the parish of Great Oxendon there is no enlarged Plan of a garden marked N° 10 in the Plan deposited in the Private Bill Office; and inasmuch as the Plan and Section are not drawn to the same horizontal scale between the road to Milton and the brook at the boundary of the parishes of Collingtree and Woolton, and also in the parish of Hardstones, between the road to Queen's Cross and the Grand Junction Canal, varying to the extent of four chains in the space of about two furlongs in the first instance, and to the like extent in the space of nearly a mile in the second instance; but the engineer stated that the inaccuracy arose on the Plan and not on the Section; and inasmuch as there is no Section of the branch of the Railway from the parish of Duston to the borough of Northampton; but it was stated to the Committee that it was the intention of the promoters of the Bill to abandon this branch; and inasmuch as the datum horizontal line on the Section deposited in the Private Bill Office is not referred in writing to any fixed point; but it appeared to the Committee in evidence, that the words "surface of the Grand Junction Canal at Ear Cotton" were placed on the Plans deposited with the parochial clerks (in the parishes affected by the proposed Bill), and upon a Plan accompanying written notices served upon each owner, lessee and occupier upon the line; and inasmuch as in all cases before the line crosses the pike roads, carriage roads, navigable rivers, canals or railways, or forms a junction with a railway without altering the level, it is not stated whether any and what alteration is intended to be made; and inasmuch as in the Section deposited with the Clerks of the Peace for the county of Northampton, before the fourth and fifth mile the word "Northampton" is omitted, and inasmuch as at the sixth mile the words "lane to be raised six inches, and passed on the surface," are not written; and inasmuch as the intended archings near the fourth and fifth mile in the valley of the Nen, and between the 20th and 22d miles in the valley of Welland, are not described on the Section, and the engineer stated to the Committee that he intends to make archings through other valleys on the line; and inasmuch as the occupiers of N° 24 and 25 in the parish of Kilmarsh are omitted in the Book of Reference deposited in the Private Bill Office; but it appeared to the Committee that notice was given to the occupiers, together with a Copy of that part of the Plan which applied to their property; and inasmuch as in the Lists of Owners and Occupiers deposited in the Private Bill Office, the following inaccuracies appear; 1st, in the parish of Broughton, trustees of "Joseph Parfitt" should have been "Joseph Tatham," 2d. Thomas Sears and Robert Sohley, entered as assenting, should have been entered as neutral; 3d. Brixiworth Parish Officers; "Thomas Underwood" should have been "Priscilla Underwood," 4th, in the parish of Great Glenn, John Beadman is omitted; 5th, in the parish of Great Oxenden, Robert Bussell, entered as assenting, should have been entered as neutral; 6th, in the parish of Great Glenn, "John Beadman" should have been "John Beadman;" but it appeared, in evidence, to the Committee that Mr. James Abbey did apply to Mr. Beadman, the person wrongly entered as Beardmore.

It appeared, however, to the Committee, that between the 13th and 14th mile it is so marked once, and also once over the crossing of a public carriage road; it appeared also, that for 3-4ths of a mile the Railway runs upon a level with the surface of the ground, being rather over it at each end for the space of about 1-8th of a mile, with the surface of the ground, being rather over it at each end for the space of about 1-8th of a mile; it appeared also, that between the 58th and 59th mile the height is so marked once where the Railway crosses a private road, and also twice where it crosses public carriage roads; Secondly, inasmuch as at the point where the Railway crosses the Grand Canal at Sallins, it is not stated expressly whether any alteration in the present level of the ground is intended to be made; in like manner there is no such statement where it crosses the Nios Branch, nor where it crosses the Barrow Navigation Canal, nor where it crosses the navigable river Barrow; it appeared however to the Committee, that no alteration is intended to be made in the present level in any one of these instances, and that the height of the Railway over the present level of the water at those places respectively is marked on the section in feet and inches; it appeared also, that full communications, both personally and by letter, stating the particular manner in which the Railway was intended to cross the same, and the height over the surface of the water, with a reference to the Plan and Section, was made to the Grand Canal Company and the Barrow Navigation Company, and any further information they might require was tendered to them, but they demanded none, and made no objection.

Mr. Speaker acquainted the House, that he had received from the Library Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper in Ireland, a Petition of John Matthew Galway, Esquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return for the Borough of Downport: And the said Petition was laid upon the Table.
in the present Parliament; that, during the polling on the third and every succeeding day of said Election, the said Patrick Fogarty addressed the electors in favour of the said John Power, whilst, in the most severe and inflammatory terms, he inveighed against the Petitioner, designating him as the Orange candidate, with which unconstitutional means, and the intimidating manner of said priests and others in their interest, in the booths and elsewhere in said Borough, the said John Power obtained a colourable majority, greatly swelled by the corrupt and undue means used and resorted to by them and their agents, friends, and others employed by and on behalf of the said John Power as herein-after mentioned; that the said Patrick Fogarty, by having indifferently circulated in said town of Dungarvan, may even published in the provincial newspapers, a correspondence which had passed between the Prime Minister of the United Empire, his private Secretary and himself, and insinuated that such was the favourable estimation in which that highly distinguished personage professed to hold him, he would be able to procure the restoration of the bounty on Fish, the inclosure of the premises of the Cunnigar, and provide an ample income for the said Fish, the inclosure of the Cunnigar, and provide an ample income for the proprietor of landed property, comprising a large portion of the limits of said Borough, united and assisted by Petitioner's own parish and other priests, daily and constantly attended at the polling booths, and by intimidating gestures, manners, and other undue means, resorted to by them and others therein, deterred many voters who came to vote for the Petitioner from voting for him, and coerced them to vote for the said John Power; that the said John Power was declared by the Returning Officer to have obtained the majority of votes at said Election, and was accordingly returned as duly elected to serve as a Member for the said Borough of Dungarvan in this present Parliament; that said majority in favour of the said John Power, who were not entitled to vote thereat in any character, or upon any legal grounds whatever, and who had been unduly and improperly registered as electors for the said Borough, or who, since the time of their registry, had from deaths and various causes and reasons ceased to be qualified or became disqualified from voting at said Election; that great numbers of persons who were registered, and claimed to vote as tenants or occupiers of houses, warehouses, counting-houses or shops, were admitted to poll, and did poll for the said John Power, who, at the time of said Election, were in arrear for more than one half year's Grand Jury or Municipal Cesses, Rates and Taxes then due and payable in respect to the premises, in right of the occupation of which such persons were registered and claimed to vote, and who were thereby incapacitated from voting at said Election; that not less than six or seven did poll for the said John Power, who, at the time of their registry as such tenants and occupiers as aforesaid, were in arrear for more than one half year's amount of said Cesses, Rates and Taxes, then due and payable, and were thereby incapacitated and disabled to be so registered or to vote at the said Election; that many other persons claiming to vote
as such tenants or occupiers as aforesaid, were admitted to poll and did poll in favour of the said John Power, who had been unduly and improperly registered, not having at the time of such registry as such tenants or occupiers as aforesaid, were admitted to poll and did poll in favour of the said John Power, who, since the time of their registry, had ceased to hold or occupy the premises in respect to which they had been so registered, and in right of which they claimed to vote, and who had thereby become disabled and disqualified from voting at said Election; that many other persons who were registered and claimed to vote as such tenants or occupiers as aforesaid, were admitted to poll and did poll in favour of the said John Power, who were disabled and disqualified, because that, since the time of their registry, they undertook or sublet part or parcel of the premises in respect of which they had been so registered, and in right of which they claimed to vote, and did not retain in their own possession a part of sufficient value to entitle them to vote, or of the said ten pounds yearly; that many other persons who registered and claimed to vote as such tenants or occupiers as aforesaid, were admitted to poll, and did poll in favour of the said John Power, who did not at the time of such registry hold or occupy the premises in respect to which they had been so registered, and in right of which they claimed to vote separately, or in their own right, but as joint tenants jointly with other persons, and therefore were disabled and disqualified from voting at said Election; that many electors were induced and compelled to vote and did vote in favour of the said John Power, who did not at the time of such registry hold or occupy the premises in respect to which they had been so registered, and in right of which they claimed to vote separately, or in their own right, that the Petitioner may have such further relief in the premises as to the House may seem fit.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration upon Thursday the 13th day of April next, at three of the clock in the Afternoon.

A Petition of John Matthew Galway, of Dockpool, in the county of Waterford, Esquire, was read, as a Candidate at the last Election for the Borough of Dungarvan in said county, in that part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland called Ireland, was delivered in, and read; setting forth, That the Election for the said Borough of Dungarvan commenced on Monday morning, the thirteenth day of February in this present year; that John Power, esquire, was proposed by the said Reverend Nicholas Foran, as agents, supporters and priestly partisans; that the deputies presiding in the polling booths at said Election, though required to do so on behalf of Petitioner by his inspectors, did not administer the oath, schedule (B), by said Act of the second and third of William the Fourth, chapter eighty-eight, directed to be taken by voters at polling; that the said John Hudson, acting as such Returning Officer as aforesaid, received votes of many persons, who, during the said Election, or within six calendar months previous to it, or within fourteen days after it was completed, were employed by or on behalf of the said John Power, as agents, attorneys, poll clerks, flag-men, or in some other capacity, for the purpose of said Election, and who, either before or during or after said Election, accepted and took from the said John Power, or other person or persons on his behalf, payment in money, or security for money, for and in consideration, or with reference to such employment, and who were not, therefore, legally entitled to vote at said Election, but who tendered their votes, which were received for the said John Power, and whose votes were not having or claiming a right to vote at said Election, money, meat, drink, entertainment, or provision, cockades, and other marks of distinction, also made presents, gifts, rewards or entertainments, and did promise, agree, oblige and engage to give or allow money, meat, drink, provision, presents, entertainment or reward to or for such person or persons having or claiming to have a vote or votes in said Election, or to the said borough in general, or to or for the use, advantage, benefit, pretense, or pretention or preferment of said person or persons or Borough, in order to be elected, or for him the said John Power's being elected to serve in Parliament for said Borough, and whereby the said John Power obtained said colourable majority of votes over the Petitioner, and procured himself to be returned to serve for the said Borough of Dungarvan, whereas the Petitioner had a large majority of legal votes at the said Election, and ought to have been returned to serve in Parliament for the same; the Petitioner, therefore, most humbly prays the House to take the premises into consideration, and to declare the said Election and Return of the said John Power wholly null and void, and that he be declared to be disabled and incapacitated to serve in the present Parliament for said Borough, and that the Petitioner was duly elected, and ought to have been returned in Parliament for said Borough of Dungarvan, and that the Return of the said John Power may be set aside, and the name of the Petitioner substituted for the name of the said John Power in the said Return, and that the Petitioner may have such further relief in the premises as to the House may seem fit.

Mr. Speaker acquainted the House, that he had received from the Deputy Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper in Ireland, a Petition of Walter Newton and others, complaining of an undue Election and return for the County of Carlow.

And the said Petition was laid upon the Table.

A Petition of Walter Newton, of Dunleekney, William Fitz-William Burton, of Burton Hall, William Fitz-Maurice, of Mount Pleasant, and William Flesborne, of the town of Carlow, all in the county of Carlow, Esquires, Freeholders and Electors of the said County of Carlow, on behalf of themselves and others, claiming to have had and during the Election of a Member to serve in Parliament for the said County, was read; setting forth, That all the Petitioners were, at and during the Election of a Member to serve in Parliament for the County of Carlow, entitled to a right to vote at the last Election for a Member to serve in Parliament for the said County; and having a right to vote at the last Election for a Member to serve in Parliament for the said County, on the third day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, duly took the oath by law required, and George Rous Keough, Esquire, having been appointed Sheriff of the said County of Carlow, commanding him to proceed to the Election of a Knight of the Shire for the said County to serve in the present Parliament, in the room and stead of Thomas Kavanagh, Esquire, deceased, and the same having been delivered to Richard Butler, Esquire, the late High Sheriff of the said county, on the third day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, he did, on the fourth day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, cause proclamation to be made, that an Election for the said County of Carlow would be held at the County Court House in the town of Carlow, in obedience to said Writ, on the fourteenth day of February then next, when and where he would proceed to the Election of a Knight of the Shire to represent the said County in the present Parliament, in the room of the said Thomas Kavanagh; that the Shrievalty of the said Richard Butler having expired immediately between the making of the said proclamation and the day thereby fixed for holding the said Election, and George Rous Keough, Esquire, having been appointed Sheriff of the said County, he, on the sixth day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, duly took the oath by law required, and then and there, became and was the Sheriff of the said County, and so continued from thence hitherunto; that, at the said Election, Thomas Bunbury and Nicholas Aylward Vigors, Esquires, were can- didates to be returned for the said County of Carlow, at that county court held on the seventeenth day of February by the said George Rous Keough, so being such High Sheriff, pursuant to said proclamation, as also the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors were severally proposed and seconded, and offered themselves to the Electors of the said County as fit and proper persons to represent the said County of Carlow in the present Parliament; that, after a show of hands by the Electors, the Sheriff declared the majority to be in favour of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, whereupon a poll was demanded in the usual manner for the electors of the said County, and also for the said Thomas Bunbury, pursuant to the Statutes in such case made and provided; that the said Sheriff proceeded on the sixteenth day of February to poll the said County, and continued to do so until Saturday the eighteenth day of February following, when he declared that the majority of votes be in favour of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, who was thereupon declared in the return by the said Sheriff as duly elected; that the numbers of votes which appeared on the poll at the close thereof, were for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors six hundred and sixty-nine, and for the said Thomas Bunbury six hundred and thirty-three, making a colourable majority for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors over the said Thomas Bunbury of thirty-six; that the said majority in favour of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was but a colourable majority, and that the said Return of said Vigors was an undue Return, as it was procured, not only by violence, terror, threat, and intimidation, but by the grossest perjury, bribery, and by the payment and promise of payment of large sums of money, by and on behalf of the Sitting Members, to electors, and to other persons capable of being elected Members of the said County, and by procuring and endeavouring to procure votes for the purpose of securing his return, and by other undue, illegal, corrupt and unconstitutional means; and that the Petitioners show, that the fraudulent and illegal practices of the said Vigors and his agent, the said Return was obtained by reason of improper conduct of the said Sheriff, his assessor and deputies as evidence thereof the Petitioners show that the Barrister who acted as assessor for the said Sheriff at the said Election, was not only selected without giving the said Thomas Bunbury, or those acting on his behalf, an opportunity of objecting to his fitness, but the said Barrister was, and for a considerable time therefofore had been, and now is a member of a certain illegal society or body of persons associated together in Ireland, and styling themselves 'The General Association of Ireland,' and had shortly previous to the commencement of said Election taken an active and prominent part at the meetings of the said Association; and the Petitioners show that the selection of an assessor from among the members of the said Association was the more especially objectionable and improper, because the said Association had as a body in it and by its public resolutions, entered into prior to the said Election, announced its determination to support the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and had actually de- pleted several of its members, and especially Arthur French its secretary, to assist the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors at the said Election, which they accordingly did; and, as the Petitioners believe and will be able to prove, said Arthur French did expend divers sums of money, entrusted to him by the said Association, and supplied out of its funds, in support of the furthering the Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors; and as further evidence of the improper conduct of the said Sheriff and his assessor, the Petitioners show that three of the four persons nominated by him as his deputies in the polling booths were violent partisans of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and acted in a most unfair manner, and with the view and intent of advancing the interests of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and of preventing the Return of the said Thomas Bunbury, and to such an extent was the same manifested, that, although complaints of the misconduct of said deputies were repeatedly made to the Sheriff and his assessor, and accusations of distinct acts of misconduct and partiality preferred against him by the agents of the said Thomas Bunbury, and although on each of the said occasions the said Sheriff and his assessor admitted said complaints to be well founded, yet the said said Sheriff, by the advice of his said assessor, refused to remove the said deputy, who, encouraged by such advice, persisted in such his misconduct up to the termination of the said Election; the Petitioners show, as further evidence of the undue means by which the return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, that the said Sheriff, by the advice of his said assessor, refused to receive the votes of duly qualified electors, who offered and tendered their votes, and required to be allowed to vote for the said Thomas Bunbury; and, on the other hand, admitted to vote at said Election, and placed on the poll as voters for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, several persons who did not produce any certificates of their being registered as electors of the said County, or, and although the names of such particular persons had been in due course of law struck off the registry of said County, by virtue of an order for that purpose directed to the Clerk of the Peace of the said County, under the hand of the Speaker of the House, bearing date the twenty-fourth day of August one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, and thirty-five, and issued pursuant to, and in conformity with a Report bearing the same date, containing an order of the said Speaker of the House, pursuant to the said Report of the said Select Committee, and the Order of the said House, declaring to be null and void, the said several persons not having, in fact and truth prevailed on and induced the said persons who had been so disfranchised, and whose names had been struck off the register in manner aforesaid, not to appear at said Election, or be placed on the poll, the said Thomas Bunbury would have had a majority of the legal voters, that is to say, after the close of five o’clock in the evening of Saturday the eighteenth day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, and whose vote was continued in the said poll until after the final close thereof, and thereby increased the colourable majority of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors from thirty-five to thirty-six; that several persons were permitted and received by the said Sheriff to poll as freeholders and leaseholders in favour of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, who were not entitled to vote at the said Election, they not having been duly registered according to the Acts and Statutes now in force for the registry of persons entitled to vote at Elections in Ireland, nor having been struck off the register of the said County by virtue of the said order of the said Speaker of the House, pursuant to the said Report of the said Select Committee, and although there were not any affidavits of the registry of several of such persons by the Clerk of the Peace of the said County, or his deputy; the Petitioners further show, that all said several persons were admitted to vote, and placed on the poll, as deriving their right to be electors of the said County by virtue of registry effected by them respectively prior to the said Order of the Speaker of the House, and the said Report of the said Select Committee, and which said several registries were by said Report and Order declared to be null and void, the said several persons not having, in fact and truth, at the time of such their respective alleged registries, any sufficient qualifications entitling them to be electors of the said County, and having produced themselves to be registered by means of fraud and perjury; the Petitioners further show, that, notwithstanding such determination and Report of the said Speaker and the Clerk of the Peace of the said County, the said Sheriff and his assessor, prior to his admitting the said disfranchised persons to vote, the said Sheriff persisted in placing them on the poll; the Petitioners show that, as further evidence of the undue Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, that the said Sheriff admitted to vote, and placed on the poll, several persons who had not been duly or at all registered as electors of the said County for six months previous to the test of the writ under which the said Election was held; the Petitioners show, as further evidence of the undue means by which the return of said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, said Sheriff and his assessor did, contrary to the provisions of the Statute in that case made and provided, allow and permit several Barristers to attend and act at the same time as the counsel of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors in the said Election, and although several, if not all, of the said Barristers were not being at the time members of the said General Association, and some of them having been deputed by that illegal body to assist as counsel at said Election, and being accepted by the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and employed by him as such; the Petitioners show, as further evidence of the undue means by which the Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, that the said Sheriff and his assessor, after the final termination of the said poll, and after it had been ascertained that the said persons who had been so disfranchised, and whose names had been struck off the register in manner aforesaid, had not to appear at said Election, or be placed on the poll, the said Thomas Bunbury.
to vote at an Election for Representatives for the said County; and others of said persons having been unlawfully registered by the said Deputy Assistant Barrister and Assistant Barrister, although they had not been for the six months previous to the time of their respective registries in possession, or any person out of which they claimed to register, under or by virtue of any sufficient or other title or estate conferring a franchise or right of voting, their respective titles and estates having been granted and conveyed to them, immediately previous to or within six months prior to the date of their said registries, for the purpose, and with the view and intent of manufacturing votes at Elections; and several other of the persons so registered, although professing to derive their respective leases from persons not competent to grant same, not having any sufficient estate or title to enable them to make or grant such leases; that several other persons were permitted and received by the said Sheriff to poll as freeholders and leaseholders at said Election in favour of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, who were not at all entitled to vote thereat, as much as previous thereto, and subsequent to the registering of such estates or interests in right of which they had so registered, had either in the whole or in part been assigned, surrendered, evicted or otherwise determined, so as not to vest in them the said registered persons at the time of the said Election, as the Petitioners could have proved at said Election, if allowed any opportunity so to do, and could still prove the same; and also, that the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors well knew, previous to and at the time of said Election, that said persons had no right to vote thereat; that several other persons who had not any votes, and were not at all electors of the said County, were admitted to vote and placed on the poll at the said Election, such last-mentioned persons having at said Election personated electors who were either dead or were absent from said Election, and the Petitioners show that several of such persons so fraudulently personating electors of said County, were enabled successfully to perpetrate the said frauds so committed by them by reason of the said Sheriff, allowing several of said persons so personating voters, as well as electors, to vote at places not allowed by law, and by the said Sheriff receiving the votes of such persons so personating electors and others at such illegal places, and in booths lawfully appointed for the purpose, where only the votes of any electors could lawfully be received; and the Petitioners show that no votes should have been received or admitted on the said booths appointed for polling, and that all votes given elsewhere than in such booths should be struck off the poll; that the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors himself, by his agents and managers, and by persons employed by him, and on his behalf, did, after the time of the Writ for said Election, and during the said Election, and before the commencement of same, give, present and allow to various persons having or claiming to have votes in said Election, money, meat, drink, entertainment, obligations and engagements, to give and allow money, meat, drink, presents, rewards and entertainments, in order to procure their votes, and to be elected, and for being elected a Member to serve in this present Parliament for the said County of Carlow: that, for a considerable time previous to and during the said Election, the priests and Roman Catholic clergy of said County did, shortly previous to the said Election, enter into a general plan or confederacy to attend thereat, and remain at the different booths during the time of taking the poll, with the view and intention thereby intended to influence Roman Catholic electors of said County from voting in accordance with the commands which they had previously received from the said priests; that, in pursuance of such plan and determination, several Roman Catholic priests not only acted as agents for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors during the said Election, but also attended in each polling booth during the entire time of polling each day, and having taken up conspicuous positions in said and in each place where every person coming to poll must necessarily see them, they did in the most violent manner endeavour to intimidate and deter the Roman Catholic electors coming forward to vote for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors as a Member to serve in the present Parliament for the said County; that the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors accepted and availed himself of the aforesaid acts and conduct of the said Roman Catholic clergy, and other persons, members of the said Association, and assisted and made use of their services and exertions, and employed them as agents during the said Election, although he was fully cognizant of the said illegal and unconstitutional acts committed by the said persons, and of the means resorted to by them to control and defeat the freedom of Election; that by the above and other undue means, and by the many illegal and erroneous decisions made by the Deputy Assistant Barrister and Assistant Barristers of the said County, on the occasion of their registering the said Electors in and for the said County, the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors obtained a colourable majority, and was returned as a Member to serve in the said County, in open violation of the law and freedom of Election, and to the great prejudice of the Petitioners and of the said Thomas Bunbury, who had, upon the
the said Election, as it is submitted it will appear upon fair scrutiny of the poll, and an investigation of the qualification of the persons who voted, a great majority of the good and legal votes, and ought therefore to have been returned as Representative of the said County; and for all the causes aforesaid, the Petitioners humbly pray, That the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors may be declared not duly elected, and that the said Thomas Bunbury may be declared to be duly elected, and may be declared in the place of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors to take his seat as a Knight to represent the said County in this present Parliament; or that the said return, and the Election, may be declared null and void, and the parties sent to a new Election; and that the votes of the several persons improperly registered and allowed to poll as aforesaid may be struck off the poll; and that the registry of the County may also be amended by striking off the books of the County, in the hands of the Clerk of the Peace, the names of all such persons as shall appear to have been unduly or improperly registered; and that such steps may be taken and directions given as will effectually prevent and restrain the present High Sheriffs of the said County, from permitting to vote, or placing on the poll at any future Election for the said County, the several persons who have been struck off the Registry of the said County, in manner aforesaid, or who shall, in compliance with the prayer hereof, be so struck off; and also that such proceedings may be taken or orders given as will in future prevent and restrain the Sheriffs of the said County from making undue Returns of Members to serve in the House for the said County; and that the House may grant such further relief to the Petitioners as to their case may require.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration upon Tuesday, the 18th day of April next, at three of the clock in the Afternoon.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do issue his Warrant or Warrants for such persons, papers and records as shall be thought necessary by the several parties on the hearing of the matter of the said Petition.

Mr. Speaker acquainted the House, That he had Election Petitions received from the Deputy Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper in Ireland, a Petition of Walter Newton, and others, Freeholders of the said County of Carlow, for an undue Election and Return for the said County.

And the said Petition was laid upon the Table.

A Petition of Walter Newton, of Dundalk, and of Fishbourne, of the town of Carlow, in all the county of Carlow, Esquires, Freeholders and Electors of the said County of Carlow, on behalf of themselves and others, claiming to have had and having a right to vote at the last Election for a Member to serve in Parliament for the said County, was read; setting forth, That all the Petitioners were, at and during the Election of a Member to serve in Parliament for the said County of Carlow, electors of, and had a claim to have a right to vote for, a Knight to serve in Parliament at the said Election for the said County; that the usual writ having been issued and directed to the Sheriff of the said County of Carlow, commanding him to proceed to the Election of a Knight of the Shire for the said County to serve in the present Parliament, in the room and stead of Thomas Kavanagh, Esquire, deceased, and the same having been delivered to Richard Butler, Esquire, the late High Sheriff of the said County, on the third day of February, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, he did on the fourth day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, cause proclamation to be made, that an Election for the said County of Carlow would be holden at the County Court-house in the town of Carlow, in obedience to said Writ, on the fourteenth day of February then next, when and where he would proceed to the Election of a Knight of the Shire to represent the said County in the present Parliament, in the room of the said Thomas Kavanagh; that the Shrievalty of the said Richard Butler having expired immediately between the making of the said proclamation and the day thereby fixed for holding the said Election, and George Rosa Keoghe, Esquire, having been appointed Sheriff of the said County, he, on the sixth day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, duly took the oath by law required, and then and there became the Sheriff of the said County, and so continued from thence hitherto; that, at the said Election, Thomas Bunbury and Nicholas Aylward Esquires, were Candidates to represent the said County in Parliament; that, at a County Court held on the said fourteenth day of February by the said George Rosa Keoghe, as such being the High Sheriff, and by said proclamation, the said Thomas Bunbury, as also the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, were severally proposed and seconded, and offered themselves to the Electors of the said County.
of the said deputies was several times brought before the said Sheriff and his assessor, and accusations of distinct acts of misconduct and partiality preferred against him by the agents of the said Thomas Bunbury, and although on each of said occasions the said Sheriff and his assessor, in their reports, made it appear that the said complaints to be well founded, yet the said Sheriff, by the advice of his said assessor, refused to remove the said deputy, who, encouraged by such refusal, persisted in such his misconduct up to the time of the Election; the Petitioners show, as further evidence of the undue means by which the return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, that the said Sheriff, by the advice of his said assessor, refused to receive the votes of the several persons who offered and tendered their votes, and required to be allowed to vote for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, several persons who did not produce any certificates of their being registered as electors of the said County, and although there were no affidavits of registry purporting to be made by such persons as required by law in the hands or custody of the Clerk of the Peace for the said County, or his deputies, and although the names of such particular persons had been in the course of an examination of the registry of said County, by virtue of an order for that purpose directed to the Clerk of the Peace of the said County, under the hand of the Speaker of the House, bearing date the twenty-fourth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, and issued pursuant to, and in conformity with a Report bearing date the nineteenth day of August one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, and made by a Select Committee of the House duly appointed to try the merits of a certain Petition presented to the House in the month of July one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, against the return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors and Alexander Raphael as Members for the said County; and on which occasion the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors and Alexander Raphael having been returned by a majority which was in part comprised of the said thirty-six voters, who comprised the entire colourable majority at the last Election, were unseated; and as further evidence of the undue means by which the Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, the Petitioners show, that the said Sheriff also admitted several other persons to vote at said Election, and placed them on the poll for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, although the names of said last-mentioned persons did not appear on the last return of the register of the said County, they not then being registered as voters in the County, under the hand of the Speaker of the House, and the said Report of the said Select Committee, and the said Order of the said Speaker of the House, pursuant to the said Report of the said Select Committee, and although there were not any affidavits of the registry of several of said last-mentioned persons in the hands or custody of the Clerk of the Peace of the said County, or his deputy; the Petitioners further show, that all said several persons were admitted to vote, and placed on the poll, as deriving their right to be electors of the said County by virtue of registry effected by them respectively prior to the said Order of the Speaker of the House, and the said Report of the said Select Committee; and which said several registries were by said Report and Order declared to be null and void, the said several persons not having, in fact and truth, at the time of such their respective alleged registries, any such qualifications entitling them to be electors of the said County, and having procured themselves to be registered by means of fraud and perjury; the Petitioners further show, that, notwithstanding such determination and Report of the said Select Committee, and the Order of the said Speaker, and the erasure of the names of
of said persons from the register of the said County, and notwithstanding that certified copies of said Report and Order respectively were duly served on the said Sheriff and his assessor, prior to his admitting the said disfranchised persons to vote, said Sheriff and his assessor placing their names on the poll, the Petitioners show that, as further evidence of the undue Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, that the said Sheriff admitted to vote, and placed on the poll persons who had not been duly registered, or at all registered as electors of the said County for six months previous to the test of the Writ under which the said Election was held ; the Petitioners show, as further evidence of the undue Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, said Sheriff and his assessor did, contrary to the provisions of the Statute in that case made and provided, allow and permit several different Barristers to attend and act at the same time as the counsel of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors in the assessor's booth and elsewhere, during the course of the said Election, several, if not all of said Barristers being at the time members of the said General Association, and some of them having been deputed by that illegal body to assist as counsel at the said Election, and being accepted by the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, and employed by the said Sheriff thereto, as Barristers abovementioned, as further evidence of the undue means by which the Return of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors was procured, that the said Sheriff and his assessor, after the final termination of the said poll, and after it had been ascertained that, if the said persons who had been so disfranchised, and whose names had been struck off the register in manner aforesaid, had not been admitted to vote, or been placed on the poll, the said Thomas Bunbury, who at the time of the said Election, and the commencement of the same, could have proved at said Election, if allowed any opportunity so to do, and could still prove the same ; and also, that the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, who were not at all entitled to vote thereat, inasmuch as previous thereto, and subsequent to the registry of their freeholds or leaseholds, the estates or interests in the said lands and premises, to which the right of which they have no interest, have been sold, parted with in the whole or in part as assigned, surrendered, evicted or otherwise determined, so as not to leave any sufficient qualification to vote in said persons at the time of the said Election, the Petitioners show that the said Sheriff, by his agents and managers, did make and enter into promises, agreements, obligations and engagements, to give and allow money, meat, drink, presents, rewards and entertainments to and for such persons, in order to procure their votes, and to be elected, and for being elected a Member to serve in this present Parliament for the said County ; that, for a considerable period of time previous to and during the said Election, the priests and Roman Catholic Clergy of the said County...
County interfered with, and influenced the electors of the Roman Catholic persuasion in a most illegal, violent and unconstitutional manner, in order to compel them to vote for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors, in violation of the law and freedom of election, and during the said Election, the said priests and Roman Catholic Clergy not only used their utmost exertions to excite a rancorous hostility against the said Thomas Bunbury, but availed themselves of the superintendence of many of the most ignorant Roman Catholic electors, to induce them to believe that they would be highly criminal, and incur the risk of damnation, if they voted for the said Thomas Bunbury, or refused to submit to their dictation; that the said priests and Roman Catholic Clergy did not only exert all their spiritual influence against the said Thomas Bunbury, but in many instances threatened several electors who were unwilling to vote against the said Thomas Bunbury, that their properties and persons would suffer injury in case they resisted or disobeyed the commands of the said priests, or refused to submit to their dictation; that, in consequence, and under the influence of the fear and terror, and general intimidation, produced by such illegal and unconstitutional means, many electors voted contrary to their own wishes and inclinations, and against the said Thomas Bunbury, and many others of the said electors who wished and desired to vote for said last-mentioned candidate, were deterred and prevented from voting at all, or that the said priests and Roman Catholic Clergy did, shortly previous to the said Election, enter into a general plan or conjunction to attend thereat, and remain at the different polling booths during the time of taking the poll, with the view and intent of thereby intimidating the Roman Catholic electors of said County from voting in accordance with the commands which they had previously received from the said priests; that, in pursuance of such plan and determination, several Roman Catholic priests not only acted as agents for the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors during the said Election, but also attended in each polling booth during the entire time of polling each day, and having taken up conspicuous positions in said booths, where every person coming to poll must necessarily see them, they did in the most violent manner endeavour to intimiate several Roman Catholic electors coming forward to vote for the said Thomas Bunbury, from doing so, and thereby did deter some from voting at all, and terrified others to vote against the said Thomas Bunbury; that many Roman Catholic electors, who were, under the excitation and power produced by addresses from the Roman Catholic Clergy, and certain persons, members of the said General Association, pressed forward to the hustings, and induced to vote, contrary to their wishes and inclinations, for said Nicholas Aylward Vigors; that the priests and other Roman Catholic Clergy of said County did, in addition to the acts aforesaid, resort to other violent, illegal and unconstitutional methods of terrifying and intimidating the electors of said County, in the exercise of the Executive Franchise against the said Thomas Bunbury, and in order to secure the return of said Nicholas Aylward Vigors as a Member to serve in the present Parliament for the said County; that the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors accepted and availed himself of the aforesaid acts and conduct of the said Roman Catholic Clergy, and other persons, members of the said Association, and accepted and made use of their services and exertions, and employed them as agents during the said Election, although he was fully cognizant of the said illegal and unconstitutional acts committed by the said priests, and of the means resorted to by them to control and defeat the freedom of election; that by the above and other undue means, and by the many illegal and erroneous decisions made by the said priests and Roman Catholic Assistant Barristers of the said County, on the occasion of their registering the said electors in and for the said County, the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors obtained a colourable majority, and was returned to serve in Parliament for the said County, in open violation of the law and freedom of election, and the great prejudice of the Petitioners and of the said Thomas Bunbury, who had, upon the said Election, as it is submitted it will appear upon a fair scrutiny of the poll, and after proper consideration of the qualification of the persons who voted, a great majority of the good and legal votes, and ought therefore to have been returned as representative of the said County; and for all the causes aforesaid, the Petitioners humbly pray the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors may be declared not duly elected, and that the said Thomas Bunbury may be declared duly to be elected, and may be declared in the place of the said Nicholas Aylward Vigors to take his seat as a Knight to represent the said County in this present Parliament; or that the said return, and the election, may be declared null and void, and the parties sent to a new election; and that the votes of the several persons improperly registered and allowed to poll as aforesaid may be struck off the poll; and that the registry of the County may also be amended by striking off the books of the County, in the hands of the Clerk, the names of all such persons as shall appear to have been unduly or improperly registered; and that such steps may be taken and directions given as will effectually prevent and restrain the Sheriffs, or any future High Sheriffs of the said County, from permitting to vote, or placing on the poll at any future election for the said County, the several persons who have been struck off the registry of the said County, in manner aforesaid, or who shall, in compliance with the prayer hereof, be so struck off; and also that such proceedings may be taken or orders given as will in future prevent and restrain the Sheriffs of the said County from receiving undue Returns of Members to serve in the House for the said County; and that the House may grant such further relief to the Petitioners, as the merits of their case may require.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration upon Thursday, the 18th day of April next, at the same time that their former Petition is ordered to be taken into consideration.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do issue his Warrant or Warrants for such persons, papers and records as shall be thought necessary by the several Parties on the hearing of the matter of the said Petition.

A Petition of the Chairman and Directors of the Birminham and Derby Junction Railway (presented 25th February), together with the Report of the Select Committee on Petitions for Private Bills, on the Petition for the Tamworth and Rugby Railway Bill, be referred to the Select Committee on Standing Orders, to inquire into the matters contained in the said Petition and Report, and to report their opinion thereupon to the House; which was, after some discussion, by leave withdrawn; that subsequently, on the 17th day of March, another Motion was made, by which the Report of the Standing Orders Committee was confirmed; that it was perfectly competent to the Standing Orders Committee in the first instance to assure the parties now desirous of presenting their Petition to proceed with that portion of their original Bill now sought to be introduced as a new measure, but that they had not done so; and moreover, that the House had not refused to refer back to the Standing Orders Committee the consideration of the original Petition, but had subsequently confirmed by an express vote, the Report of that Committee; it appeared there-ore to the Committee, that under these circumstances, it would be a most inconvenient course for the House to adopt to allow the Petitioners to present another Petition referring to matters which had already been under the consideration of the Standing Orders Committee, and upon which that Committee had formally decided; the Committee however are bound to state, in justice to the Petitioners, that one of the objects sought to be obtained by the Bill which they are now desirous to introduce, is the correction of a verbal inaccuracy which has accidentally occurred in the Act of last Session, and to which the attention of the Committee on Standing Orders had not been drawn, but the Committee have satisfied themselves by evidence that the statement is correct: if application had been made to the House during the last Session of Parliament, the parties would have been allowed to correct their mistake at any period of the Session; and the Committee are not aware that any inconvenient precedent would be established if the parties were allowed to present a Petition solely for the purpose of making this verbal Amendment.

A Petition of James Mills was presented, and read; setting forth, That the Petitioner, at the direction of a numerous class of subscribers, desires to ascertain the practicability of the formation of a railway between London and Brighton without a Tunnel, caused complete surveys, plans and sections to be made of the same, and that, in the pursuit of this object during the last and present Session of Parliament, the said subscribers have expended upwards of Ten thousand pounds to bring the same before a Committee of the House, and as the Petitioner believed, after an experience of thirty years, they were made in conformity to the rules of the House; that there are five competing lines of Railway to Brighton, four of which are now in Committees of the House, all of which were reported to the House by theChairmen of the Sub-Committees on Petitions to have complied with the Standing Orders, there being no Petition presented against either, they were not referred to the Committee upon Standing Orders; that the evening before the meeting of the Sub-Committee for inquiry respecting the Petitioner's line, a Petition was presented to the House by a person describing himself as clerk to Stephenson's Brighton Railway Company, complaining that the plans and sections made of the line under direction of the Petitioners were not in compliance with the new Standing Orders, and that upon reference to the Standing Order Committee, the Chairman reported that the Standing Orders ought not to be dispensed with; that the persons on the plans and sections of the Petitioner's Line, who were examined upon the plans and sections of the Petitioner's Line, had been previously examined before a Sub-Committee, of which the Member for North Hampshire was the Chairman, as to the correctness of their plans and sections; and that the Chairman strictly and minutely inquired, in the words of each Standing Order, sevisitum, whether they had duly complied therewith, and that the answers given in every instance was in the affirmative; that the Petitioner is prepared distinctly to prove, that the answers so given by the agents for Stephenson's Line to the Committee in regard to every allegation made against the plans and sections of the Petitioner's Line, were wilfully untrue, because the parties so giving evidence must have known that the plans and sections of Stephenson's Line contain very numerous and precisely similar omissions to those complaint of to the Petitioner's Line by the Sub-Committee; that by thus having recourse to intentional misrepresentation, the parties of Stephenson's Line have deceived the Committee, and have prevailed upon the Member for North Hants erroneously to report to the House, that they had complied with the Standing Orders, and have thereby succeeded in going before a Committee on the merits of their line, whilst they have fraudulently excluded the line of the Petitioner from fair competition; that a bare inspection of the plans and sections by the Chairman, Member for North Hants, who reported upon Stephenson's Line, and the Chairman, Member for Berkshcre, who reported upon the Petitioner's Line, will in an instant enable those Members to report the facts to the House; that the Petitioner entreats the House to believe, that his literal construction of the new Standing Order (No. 4.), requiring the enlargement of buildings, &c., through which the railroad was intended to pass, only to such buildings, &c., and his not extending the enlargements to all buildings on each side of the road, within a hundred yards of the line, did not arise from any contentious or high-handed justice which sheds the brightest lustre upon the unsullied honour of its Committee, and of that even-handed justice which shines the brightest in the British Parliament, that it will not permit a numerous class of its fellow-subjects, after so large an expenditure of money, in full expectation of a fair and just competition, and of ultimate success, to be defeated.

Ordered, That the said Return do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of Inhabitant Householders of the borough of Stafford, praying that the Manchester and Stafford Railway Bill may pass into a law was presented, and read; and ordered to lie upon the Table.

Southwark and Hammersmith Railway Bill. Mr. Greene reported from the Select Committee on Petitions for Private Bills; and to whom the Petitions of several Owners and Occupiers of property in the parish of Christ Church, in the county of Surrey; of the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of the parish of Christ Church, in the county of Surrey; and of Henry Luard, merchant, in the case of the Southwark and Hammersmith Railway were respectively referred; that no person appeared in support of the last-mentioned Petitions; and that they had heard evidence in support of the first-mentioned Petition, and find that the facts of the case are as follow:

That the said Petitions were reserved with a printed notice, signed by Francis Bechtol, solicitor, of Chatham-place, stating the intention of the promoters of a certain Railway, therein styled the City of London and Richmond Railway, to apply to Parliament to take portions of their land for that purpose.

That the Petitioners watched the proceedings of the House of Commons, but found no entry relative to any Bill under such title.

That they have since discovered that the Bill has been given under that name, and they therefore felt it their duty, as far as the Journal Office, whose duty it is to abstract the Petitions for record on the Journals, said 'This is not called by its right name, it is called the London Railway, and they ask leave to bring in a Bill for a Railway from Southwark to Hammersmith.' That he therefore felt it his duty, as far as the Journal Office was concerned, to call it the Southwark and Hammersmith Railway; he could not call it the City of London and Richmond Railway, because he would not be borne out by the facts, and that such is the practice of the Office.

The House will hence observe, that while the promoters of a Railway often bring their measure forward under some general title, it is usual to designate it in the Votes by a name corresponding with the powers actually sought by the Bill.

It is obvious that such practice is calculated to mislead the public, and from the evidence adduced by the Petitioners, actually did mislead certain individuals who were interested in opposing this measure. The Committee feel it right to direct the serious attention of the House to this matter, with a view to their adoption of measures which may prevent such an evil in a future Session.

It is but justice to the promoters of the Bill for the Committee to state, that it entirely acquires them nothing of being parties to the alteration in the present instance; indeed the agent for the Petitioners disclaimed all intention of imputing fraud to them; and it should further be observed that when the plans were lodged in the Private Bill Office, the Chief Clerk noticed to the agent that the title was inapplicable to the Bill, and the agent assigned, as a reason for retaining it, that the notices had been given under that name, and they therefore felt bound to retain it; and further, that after the alteration had first appeared in the Votes, they inquired the reason why it was done.

The promoters of the Bill also caused advertisements to be inserted in the newspapers under the title of "The City of London Railway Company," notifying on February 6th that they did not intend to extend the Railway to Richmond; on February 14th the Select Committee had reported that the Standing Orders were duly complied with; and on the 20th, that the Bill for incorporating the Company had been read a second time in the House of Commons.

The Committee, in the absence of any specific instruction in the order of reference to them, have felt it their duty to confine themselves to report the facts of the case alone, leaving it to the wisdom of the House to decide what relief can be afforded to the Petitioners.

Ordered, That the Report do lie upon the Table; and be printed.

Mr. Beresford reported from the Committee, to whom Canada was referred, to consider of the state of the Province of Lower Canada, several Resolutions, which were read, as follow:

1. Resolved, That, since the 31st day of October, in the year 1832, no provision has been made by the Legislature of the Province of Lower Canada, for defraying the charges of the administration of justice, and for the support of the Civil Government within the said Province, and that there will, on the 10th day of April now next ensuing, be required for defraying in full the charges aforesaid to that day, the sum of £ 142,100. 14 s. 6 d.

2. Resolved, That at a Session of the Legislature of Lower Canada, held at the City of Quebec, in the said Province, in the months of September and October 1836, the Governor of the said Province, in compliance with His Majesty’s commands, recommended to the attention of the House of Assembly thereof the Estimates for the current year, and also the Accounts, showing the arrears due in respect of the Civil Government, and signified to the said House His Majesty’s confidence that they would accede to the application which He had been commanded to make for payment of the arrears due on account of the Public Service, and for the funds necessary to carry on the Civil Government of the Province.

Resolved, That the said House of Assembly, on the 8d day of October 1836, by an Address to the Governor of the said Province, declined to vote a Supply.
Supply for the purposes aforesaid, and by the said Address, after referring to a former Address of the said House to the Governor of the said Province, declared that the said House persisted, amongst other things, in the demand of an Elective Legislative Council, and in demanding the repeal of a certain Act passed by the Parliament of the United Kingdom in favour of the North American Land Company; and by the said Address the said House of Assembly further adverted to the demand made by the said House for the exercise of its control over all the branches of the Executive Government; and by the said Address the said House of Assembly further declared, that it was incumbent on them in the present conjuncture to adjourn their deliberations until His Majesty's Government should by its acts, especially by rendering the second branch of the Legislature conformable to the wishes and wants of the people, have commenced the great work of justice and reform, and created a confidence which alone could crown it with success.

4. Resolved, That, in the existing state of Lower Canada, it is unadvisable to make the Legislative Council of that Province an elective body; but that it is expedient that measures be adopted for securing to that branch of the Legislature a greater degree of public confidence.

5. Resolved, That, while it is expedient to improve the composition of the Executive Council in Lower Canada, it is unadvisable to subject it to the responsibility demanded by the House of Assembly of that Province.

6. Resolved, That the legal title of the North American Land Company to the land held by the said Company, by virtue of a grant from His Majesty, under the public seal of the said Province, and to the privileges conferred on the said Company by the Act for that purpose made in the fourth year of His Majesty's reign, ought to be maintained inviolate.

7. Resolved, That it is expedient that so soon as provision shall have been made by law to be passed by the Legislature of the said Province of Lower Canada for the discharge of lands therein from feudal dues and services, and for removing any doubts as to the incidents of the tenure of land in free and common socage in the said Province, a certain Act made and passed in the sixth year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Fourth, commonly called "The Canada Tenures Act;" and so much of another Act passed in the third year of his late Majesty's reign, commonly called "The Canada Trade Act," as relates to the tenures of land in the said Province, should be repealed, saving nevertheless to all persons all rights in them vested under or by virtue of the said recited Acts.

8. Resolved, That, for defraying the arrears due on account of the established and customary charges of the Administration of Justice and of the Civil Government of the said Province, it is expedient that, after applying for that purpose such balances as, on the said 10th day of April 1837, was in the hands of the Receiver-General of the said Province, arising from His Majesty's Hereditary, Territorial and casual Revenue, and that the Governor of the said Province be empowered to issue from and out of any other part of His Majesty's Revenues in the hands of the Receiver-General of the said Province such further sums as shall be necessary to effect the payment of the before-mentioned sum of £142,160.

9. Resolved, That it is expedient that His Majesty be allowed to place at the disposal of the Legislature of the said Province the net proceeds of His Majesty's Hereditary, Territorial and casual Revenue arising within the same, in case the said Legislature shall see fit to grant to His Majesty a Civil List for defraying the necessary charges of the Administration of Justice, and for the maintenance and unavoidable expenses of certain of the principal Offices of the Civil Government of the said Province.

10. Resolved, That great inconvenience has been sustained by His Majesty's subjects inhabiting the Provinces of Lower Canada and Upper Canada, from the want of some adequate means for regulating and adjusting questions respecting the trade and commerce of the said Provinces; for other things, in the instances wherein the said Provinces have a common interest; and it is expedient that the Legislatures of the said Provinces respectively be authorized to make provision for the joint regulation and adjustment of such of their common interests.

The first Resolution, being read a second time;

An Amendment was proposed to be made thereunto, by leaving out from the word "That" to the words "and that," in order to add the words, "1. Many grievous disputes have for some years past arisen between the Executive Government and the House of Assembly of Lower Canada, in consequence of constant efforts made on the part of the House of Assembly to render the public servants responsible to the representatives of the people, and of efforts no less constant on the part of those servants to avoid and ward off this threatened responsibility."

2. That these disputes, and all their attendant evils, have been continued by means of the faulty structure of the present political constitution of Lower Canada, which, as it contains a Legislative Council of that Province an elective body; but that in the House of Assembly in their attempts to redress the grievances of the public, have thought fit to employ the constitutional power of stopping the supplies (which power was conferred on them by an Act of the Imperial Parliament); and in so doing, have proved their confidence in the doctrines put forth and maintained by this House respecting the privileges and wholesome control to be exercised and enjoyed by the popular portion of the English Constitution.

4. That the experience of the past working of the Canadian Constitution having shown the necessity of an immediate revision of the Statute 31 Geo. 3, c. 31, in so far as respects those portions which relate to the Legislative Council, it is expedient that immediate measures be taken to remove this irresponsible body, in order to create one which may attain and preserve the confidence and respect of the people.

5. That it is expedient at once and without subterfuge to place the whole revenues of the Province under the control of the House of Assembly.

6. That all interference on the part of the Imperial Parliament in the internal affairs of this Colony, are impolitic and contrary to the solemn and (often reiterated) declarations of the Imperial Government; it is, therefore, expedient at once to repeal all Acts passed in contravention of these solemn assertions, and thus to calm the just fears, and slay the discontent arising from the long-continued misgovernment of the Province of Lower Canada, instead thereof.

And the Question being put, That the words proposed to be left out stand part of the Resolution:—It was resolved in the Affirmative.

Then the said Resolution was amended, by leaving out the words "there will;" and by leaving out the words "now next ensuing;" and, inserting the words "in 1837, there was;" instead thereof.

And the said Resolution, so amended, was agreed to, as followeth:

Resolved, That, since the 31st day of October, in the year 1832, no provision has been made by the Legislature of the Province of Lower Canada, for defraying the charges of the administration of justice, and for the support of the Civil Government within the said Province, and that on the 10th day of April 1837 there was required for defraying in full full the charges aforesaid to that day, the sum of £142,160. 14s. 6d. Then the subsequent Resolutions, being read a second time, were agreed to.

Ordered, That the said Resolutions be communicated to the Lords at a Conference, and their concurrence desired thereto.

Ordered, That Lord John Russell do go to the Lords, and desire the said Conference.

A Petition of the there-undersigned Inhabitants of Newfoundland, Harbor Grace, in the district of Conception Bay, in the Island of Newfoundland, was presented, and read; setting forth, That on the 13th September 1836, Writs were issued by the Executive ordering the election of Representatives of the several districts of Newfoundland, under one of which, addressed to Robert J. Pinsent, of Brigus, Esquire, Returning Officer for Conception Bay, a meeting of the Electors of that district was convened to take place at Harbor Grace, on the first day of November then immediately following, for the purpose of electing four fit and proper persons to represent the district in the House of Assembly; that Robert Pack, Esquire, and Joseph Power, Esquire, of Carbonear, had, subsequently, publicly declared themselves Candidates for the representation, professing liberal principles; and as both of those gentlemen had, during the entire period of the existence of the first House of Assembly, honestly, zealously and fearlessly discharged their duty to their constituents as Representatives of the said district, the electors of the Bay determined to ratify their approval of their conduct by their re-election; that in order to render the return of four liberal Candidates certain, and to prevent the accumulation of expenses, the Candidates had no committees; but in each town the "General Election Committee" was established by the electors, not to sustain the individual interests of any Candidate, but to maintain the interests of the electors of the entire district, by securing the return of faithful public servants; that, in the morning of the first of November, the General Election Committee of Carbonear had made arrangements to accompany the candidates before mentioned in procession of the head of the electors of that town to the hustings, and accordingly requested those gentlemen to permit this exhibition of the respect and attachment of their supporters; that Carbonear is three miles distant from Harbor Grace, and at that season the road is so very bad that people seldom pass that way on foot without the aid of a stick; and, therefore, on the morning in question, several of the electors of Carbonear, thus equipped, and on the way several others, who had not been originally so provided, found it necessary to supply themselves, as well as they could, in order to escape those places that were then really impassable; that, on approach, they were met and joined by the Harbor Grace Committee and electors, and having arrived on the beach of Harbor Grace, they found a small party headed by Mr. Ridley, one of the opposition or Tory Candidates, moving round the hustings, who received them with a shout of defiance; and, having made a tour of the hustings, similar to that of the Ridley party, the principal and most influential electors of Carbonear placed themselves between the two parties, lest, upon such an occasion of excitement, any misunderstanding should lead to a breach of the peace; that, no sooner had they been thus disposed, than an attempt made by the Ridley party to attach their colours in triumph to the hustings, irritated some persons to rush through the crowd of Carbonear men upon the opposing flag, and in an instant the colour was torn in pieces, and some of the persons who surrounded it and resisted were struck, but in no single instance had any one been seriously hurt; that Carbonear is three miles distant from Harbor Grace, and at that season the road is so very bad that people seldom pass that way on foot without the aid of a stick; and, therefore, on the morning in question, several of the electors of Carbonear, thus equipped, and on the way several others, who had not been originally so provided, found it necessary to supply themselves, as well as they could, in order to escape those places that were then really impassable; that, on approach, they were met and joined by the Harbor Grace Committee and electors, and having arrived on the beach of Harbor Grace, they found a small party headed by Mr. Ridley, one of the opposition or Tory Candidates, moving round the hustings, who received them with a shout of defiance; and, having made a tour of the hustings, similar to that of the Ridley party, the principal and most influential electors of Carbonear placed themselves between the two parties, lest, upon such an occasion of excitement, any misunderstanding should lead to a breach of the peace; that, no sooner had they been thus disposed, than an attempt made by the Ridley party to attach their colours in triumph to the hustings, irritated some persons to rush through the crowd of Carbonear men upon the opposing flag, and in an instant the colour was torn in pieces, and some of the persons who surrounded it and resisted were struck, but in no single instance had any one been seriously hurt;
James Power, Esquire, had actually been examined as a witness for the Crown on the return of the Grand Jury, and that Esquire, before mentioned, had been amongst the per- sons subpoenaed before the Grand Jury, and that the jury, after being informed of the rules of evidence adduced by the Solicitor-General on the part of the Crown, had no longer suspected the intention of the Chief Justice, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty was recorded, and Thomey in the three Judges having told the jury that they (the jury) had "doubts of the credibility of one of the witnesses for the prosecution," and after they had examined the said witness, the three Judges having told the jury that the accused had a right to the benefit of these doubts, the verdict of guilty was recorded, and Thomey instantly committed; that by proclamation, published on the 10th to the 22d December, which was published on the 22d December, and nine days beyond that appointed by the Governor, issued a Prolongation Proclamation, and thus the Crown was not able to proceed against the defendants by a packed Grand Jury, and that all the allegations made against the defendants were not unwarrantedly surcharged, as might naturally have been expected, when the Crown, after being satisfied with the prosecutor, and the witnesses, and the Judges and the Jury, and the successful party, the accuser, the Electors coming in together was construed as intended for intimidation, some of them having sticks, was imputed as evidence of premeditated crime. The honourable Judge regarded Mr. Pack's anxiety to preserve the peace as proof of atrocious criminality. The cheers of the Whigs were "fiendish yells," and the shouts of the Tories were "cheers of welcome;" that nevertheless the evidence on that occasion, which was permitted to go to the Jury, was, in the opinion of the Petitioners, insufficient to warrant a verdict of "Guilty" against Mr. Harding, Thomey and Saunders, and that the requiring of the expression used by Mr. Harding five hours subsequently to the time limited by order of the Court for the reception of evidence, was not warranted by the rules of evidence, and that the part taken by the honourable the Chief Justice, did not appear consistent with that impartiality which ought to distinguish a Judge, and that by his conduct in trying to induce the Jury to bring in a verdict that a "tarnal assembly," and an "unlawful assembly," were in law synonymous, he confirmed the public opinion, that he made his high office auxiliary to the gratification of his political feelings; that, at two of the clock on the morning of the thirty-first day of December, this memorable trial terminated; and although that was the last day of the Term, as notified by the last Proclamation published, the honourable Chief Judge caused the Court to be adjourned to the Monday following (January 2d) without even in Court giving the slightest intimation that he had been authorized to do; and it was not until Tuesday the 3d January 1837, that a third Proclamation Proclamation for the first time announced to the people of the entire Island of Newfoundland, that the Term was still extended to January 9th; that on Thursday January 6th, William Harding, Roger Thomey, and William Saunders, were called up for judgment, and condemned to suffer twelve months imprisonment; and that, as by the 5th section of the Local Act, 4 William, Session 2, chap. 5, an Act brought before the Legislature by the Honourable Mr. Boulton, the Supreme Court may make rules for the treatment, dietary, &c., of prisoners, the honourable Judge had had an opportunity of reading the Petition of William Harding directing a Petition to the Executive, praying for mercy, to be prepared for him, the High Sheriff, Benjamin Green Garrett, Esquire, who is generally regarded as the tool of the Judge, prevented his signing it until he (the Sheriff) should have laid it before the honourable Judge Boulton, and that thus not only was Harding deprived of the right of Petition, but the honourable Judge had had an opportunity of reading that Petition before it came judicially before him; and actually, if the High Sheriff be worthy of belief, expressed an opinion upon its contents upon that occasion; that the Petition of Harding for mercy on being by the Executive again laid before the honourable Judge was unsuccessful, and immediately a system of annoyance was opened upon Harding, the consequence of which can hardly be contemplated without pain. The three prisoners are persons who had lived in comfortable circumstances, and Harding in independence, and he had been long labouring under a general delicacy of constitution and therefore his friends in visiting him sought means of introducing food more nourishing than he had been laid down by the dietary rule of the Supreme Court; that the diet appointed by this rule is one pound of brown biscuit, one pint of oatmeal, two quarters of pure water per day, and one pint of salt per month; and on search made by the Sheriff in the cells, a half pint of ale was discovered which had been used to make the burgoo more palatable, and a bottle of milk also, and an investigation of several days' continuance is now going on, the result of which will probably be to deter their friends from assisting them, and the sentence of imprisonment, it is feared, will prove a sentence of death at least to Mr. Harding; that Thomey and Saunders had been for many weeks confined to what is called the “condemned cell,” a dark dungeon usually set apart for felons under sentence of death, although no men could be better conducted in gaol; and that notwithstanding this, notwithstanding the excellent character borne by all the parties during their whole lives before, are they not alone deprived of their liberty unlawfully, but subjected to the utmost cruelty that tyranny can invent; for, not content with the legal allowance, as it is, it is rendered still worse by the fact that, although two quarts of pay water are, by the Rule of Court, allowed each man, and although a spring of excellent and pure water, is not more than one hundred and fifty yards from the prison, yet are the prisoners obliged to be content with the impure water raised from the pump in the gaol yard, which is within some half dozen yards of the public Cemetery, and which is so bad as to be unfit for use, except boiled, and even in that state has caused bowel complaints to those who are obliged to use it; that, while the parties were undergoing the infraction of an unmerited punishment, a circular to the Representatives lately returned from the Executive, acquainting them that they (the Executive) had issued illegal writs, and that therefore the Elections were void, and that another Election must take place; that under these circumstances it would appear evident that the honourable Judge Boulton was all through acquainted with this circumstance, and that all the coercion connected with the late Elections, and all the irritation, were intended in the first instance to produce offences, that the rancorous proceedings, the packing of juries, the partial charges, and the vindictive judgments were all intended to intimidate the electors at the next Elections, and therefore the Petitioners pray that conduct so enormous may not pass without its due punishment. If an expedient such as this, which the Executive have at all times the power of creating an informality in the Writs, in order that when the returns are not made to their liking they may use that informality to render the Election void; if such an expedient as this, through the Colours, by which times may produce other men, who may dare to adopt it in England, and plunge the country in civil war; they therefore pray the House to vindicate the representative principle, by the Executive, or the Council to hold the people's franchise thus in trammels; and that the people may be secured from the recurrence of an outrage so egregious, but above all things they earnestly and urgently implore the House to pray His Majesty either to cancel the judgment of the Supreme Court on the several prisoners condemned for election offences, but particularly William Harding, Roger Thomey and William Saunders, to extend in their behalf the benign influence of the truly Royal Prerogative of mercy.

A Petition of the three undersigned Representatives, in the House of Assembly of Newfoundland, of the district of Saint John's, the district of Placentia, and Saint Mary's, and the district of Ferryland, was also presented, and read; setting forth, That on the 13th September 1836, Writs were tested for a General Election for Representatives to serve in the House of Assembly of Newfoundland, and at the elections consequent thereon, two-thirds of the representation devolved upon individuals distinguished as supporters of Whig principles, notwithstanding that every unconstitutional means were adopted by the authorities, particularly in Conception Bay and Saint John's, to influence, intimidate and even to coerce the electors; that all these measures having failed to produce a majority opposed to the principles of constitutional reform, on Saturday, the 15th January last, a circular was addressed to the Petitioners from the secretaries' office, acquainting them in the most succinct manner, that an objection having been raised to the validity of the Writs lately issued for the election of Members for the House of Assembly, its Excellency lost not a moment in making this circumstance known to His Majesty's Government, and he has been informed in reply by the Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, that the objection does not appear susceptible of any valid answer in point of law, and consequently fresh Writs must be issued; and that the issue of a proclamation on the Tuesday following told the Petitioners that the objection referred to was the omission of the Executive to attach the Great Seal to the Writs; that the Rule of Court did not consider it necessary to lay before the representatives or the people any further explanation of a circumstance so extraordinary; that the Petitioners beg to represent that they regard this flagrant interference of the representatives, who, though strictly coinciding in political principles with His Majesty's Government in England, are diametrically opposed to the principles principles that guide the Government of Newfoundland, as a trick far beneath the dignity that ought to characterize the acts of the representative of our Gracious Sovereign, and highly discreditablc to those entrusted in that moment, as well as laying down a dangerous precedent in the infancy of the Legislature of Newfoundland; the Petitioners beg most respectfully to represent that it is not the seal which is in the hands of the Executive, but the views of a partisan Chief Justice, or a weak Governor, in fact of every individual connected with the Government or the Council, may be attached to or withheld from the Petitioner for any reason that would not constitute the validity of the returns; they beg to represent that it is unconstitutional that the Right honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies should, not being a legally constituted Judge, nor seated on a tribunal of justice, take it upon himself to adjudicate upon and determine an abstract question of law affecting the highest constitutional rights of ninety thousand people, without permitting those whose interests were affected to be heard; that if the Secretary of State for the time being be allowed this privilege the representative branch of the Legislature in all His Majesty's Colonies to one single cause, and the elective franchise a dangerous instrument, in the virtuous use of which men may lead themselves into difficulties, while the representation was really centered in the prejudice of party feeling of one single individual; that the Petitioners therefore throw themselves, and in their person the representation of the Island of Newfoundland, under the protection of the House, and pray that an outrage so egregious be not permitted to pass unpunished, and that the representative principle be vindicated in such manner as to the House shall seem just and equitable.

A Petition of Roger Thomey, now a prisoner in His Majesty's goal of Saint John's, Newfoundland, was also presented, and read; setting forth, That the Petitioner, on the occasion of the late Election for representatives for the district of Conception Bay, was an active and constitutional supporter of the popular or Whig interest, and having been at that time, and for the sixteen or seventeen years previous, a, in fact since his boyhood, in the employ of Robert Poch, Esquire, he was peculiarly solicitous, as a citizen, to support a gentleman who had, for a period of four years' legislation, proved himself a zealous advocate of public rights, and as a representative of the Whig interest, to procure the return of a magistrate capable and considerate master; that some few days after the Election, and while the Northern Circuit Court was being held in Harbor Grace, the Petitioner having heard that some charge was made against him, and that the deputy Sheriff, Mr. Stubb, had arrived in Carboncar for the purpose of arresting the Petitioner, that upon the instant the Petitioner waited on Mr. Stubb, and voluntarily surrendered; but that on being taken to the other side of the town, a large body of people rescued the Petitioner, while the Petitioner strongly protested against their act, that, anxious to justify his conduct, the Petitioner, unacquainted with the nature of the charge alleged against him, and not cognizant of having at any time injured any human being, on Saturday, December the third, took passage across the Bay and arrived that evening in Saint John's, and on the Monday following once more voluntarily surrendered himself, and gave bail, and on Tuesday, December the twentieth, was tried in the Supreme Court, for the arrest of one of the Whig Representatives of the people, who is a resident in Carboncar, (James Power, Esquire), and five or six resident Electors, that the execution of that warrant was entrusted to a single constable, and that the single constable brought his prisoners from the centre of the town into Saint John's; nor would it be, in the Petitioner's opinion, difficult to execute any law that the demolition was found provided there were but a distant expectation that any thing approaching to justice would be administered; that on the trial above alluded to, Currie swore the Petitioner struck a person of the name of Goss, "I saw Roger Thomey rise up on the top of his horse, and with all his might strike Thomas Goss on the head, when he fell prostrate to the ground, and he continued beating him whilst down;" and Stone swore that he saw the Petitioner strike him with his horse, "I saw him getting up;" and Currie further swore, that of twenty or thirty men who came up at the time, as many as could reach him struck him with sticks, and further swore, "I saw a man take hold of the pickets of the fence, and with all his might leap down a-top of his body;" and this Goss, notwithstanding this monstrous treatment, a weakly looking middle sized man, thus barbarously beaten, instantly on his conviction, even under these circumstances, ordered into prison by the honourable Judge Boulton, who stated that imprisonment would form part of his punishment, although subsequently not one person convicted of assault was punished by imprisonment except in one case, where a portion of the fine was commuted for a month's imprisonment; and that with all the former prejudices against the Petitioner thus ratified by this ambiguous verdict of the first Jury, is another indictment found against the Petitioner, and on the 30th December he was tried with Messrs. Pack, Power, Harding, Saunders, &c.; that, on this trial, so far did the prejudices of the Jury carry them, for the Juries, both Grand and Special, besides the causes of prejudice above mentioned, were also moved to hostility to the Petitioner, by motives of political hatred, as the latter were exclusively, and the former almost exclusively, composed of the disappointed Tories; so far did their prejudices carry the Special Jury, as to find the Petitioner "guilty of the assault," although there was not adduced, on the part of the Crown, a single particle of evidence corroborative of the Petitioner; that the honourable Judge Boulton, who on the former trial showed his hostility to the Petitioner by not instructing the Jury to acquit him, he did not doubt the credibility of the only witnesses for the prosecution.

A Message from the Lords, by Sir Gifford Wilson and Mr. Cross:—

Mr. Speaker, the Lords have agreed to the several Bills following, without Amendment; viz.:

A Bill, intituled, An Act for widening and improving the Road from Halifex to Sheffield, in the West Riding of the County of York, so far as relates to the third District of the said Road, and for diverting the said District of Road, and making a new line of Road theretofrom:

A Bill, intituled, An Act for building a Bridge over the River Thames from Streatley in the County of Berks, to the opposite Shore, in the Parish of Goring, in the County of Oxford, and for making convenient Approaches thereto: And also:

The Lords have passed a Bill, intituled, An Act to enable the Rector of the Parish of Wigan, in the County Palatine of Lancaster, to grant Leases of the Mines and Buildings, Leases and Conveyances in Fee, subject to Ground Rents, of the Glebe Lands belonging to the said Rectory, and for other purposes, to which the Lords desire the concurrence of this House:—And then the Messengers withdrew.

A Motion was made, and the Question being proposed, That the Order of the day for the Committee of Supply be now read;

An Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question, by leaving out from the word “That” to the end of the Question, in order to add the words “an Address having been presented to the King by the House of Commons, humbly praying, that His Majesty would be graciously pleased to appoint a Commission to inquire into the opportunities of Religious Worship, and means of Religious Instruction and Pastoral Superintendence, at present existing for the people of Scotland, and how far these are available for the religious and moral improvement of the Poor, and of the Working Classes, and with this view, to obtain information respecting their stated attendance in places of Public Worship, and their actual connection with any religious denomination, to inquire what Funds are now or may hereafter be available for the purpose of the Established Church of Scotland; and to report from time to time, in order that such remedies may be applied to any existing evils, as Parliament may think fit,” His Majesty was pleased, on the 20th day of July 1835, to issue such Commission.

That the Commissioners so appointed made a first Report on the matters referred to them as applicable to those Parishes in the Presbytery of Edinburgh, where the want of the means of religious instruction was alleged to exist, which Report was laid before the House of Commons on the 7th of February 1837.

That it appears from the Report that the population in the City of Edinburgh, and its suburbs, amounts to 162,292, of whom, after deducting persons belonging to religious denominations other than the Established Church, there remain 91,021; and that the total number of Sittings in the Churches belonging to the Establishment amounts to 36,001; it further appears from the Report, that the number of persons capable of attending religious worship, who habitually absent themselves from such worship, cannot be less than from 40,000 to 50,000.

That the said Report sets forth, as the result of the whole Evidence, that from whatever cause it proceeds, whether connected with the extent or nature, the opportunities of public religious worship, and the means of religious instruction and pastoral superintendence at present existing, and in operation, are not adequate to the removal of the evils complained of.

That it is the opinion of this House, that the said Report should be taken into immediate consideration, with the view of remedying the evils acknowledged to exist within the districts to which it refers, by extending the means of religious instruction and pastoral superintendence furnished by the Established Church of Scotland, and rendering them available to all classes of the community; and the House divided:

The Yeas and the Noes were not reported.

Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair; and Mr. Bernal also acquainted the House, that he was directed to move, That the Committee may have leave to sit again.

1. Your Committee having been appointed for the purposes above mentioned, in consequence of the recent proceedings at Nisi Prius, in the case of Stockdale v. Hansard, and others, and of the direction of the Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench to the jury, "That the fact of the House of Commons having directed Messrs. Hanwood to publish all their Parliamentary Reports is no justification for them, or for any bookseller who publishes a Parliamentary Report containing a Libel against any man," are strongly impressed with the conviction that the duty imposed upon them is vitally connected with the Independence of Parliament, and with the maintenance of that power by which alone it can retain the means of wise and satisfactory Legislation, and they have endeavoured to present to the House, in the most perspicuous form, the information they have collected upon the matter submitted to them; and with that view have directed their attention to the following subjects:

2. First.—The date of the earliest Orders for Printing given by this House, and its practice on this subject.

3. Secondly.—The degree of publicity which has, at different periods been given to Papers printed by Order of this and the other House of Parliament.

4. Thirdly.—The Manner in which the recent Order of this House, for the Printing and Circulation of its Reports and Papers, has been carried into effect.

5. Fourthly.—Whether Papers printed for the House have been held to afford grounds for legal proceedings prior to the case of Stockdale v. Hansard, and what would be the effect of the principles laid down in that case:—And,

6. Lastly.—Your Committee have stated to the House what appears to them to be the Law and Practice of Parliament, in regard to the matter of Privilege, to the elucidation of which their inquiries have been directed.

7. The imperfect manner in which the Journals of the Houses of Parliament were formerly kept, many important transactions being wholly omitted, and others so briefly entered entered as not to furnish the means of appreciating their effect, and the destruction of the Records and Documents by the late fire of the two Houses of Parliament, have compelled Your Committee to resort for information to widely-dispersed materials, to which there are no convenient means of reference.

8. The sources from which Your Committee have obtained the greater part of the facts detailed in their Report, are 1st, the Journals of the two Houses of Parliament; 2dly, the Collection of Tracts and Parliamentary Papers in the Library of this House, including a volume of Votes and Proceedings of the year 1680 and 1681, presented by the Right Honourable C. W. Williams Wynn, m.p.; and, 3dly, the Collection of Tracts in the British Museum, which consists in part of Original Papers printed by the Houses of Parliament, but these being bound up with miscellaneous matter, it is difficult to collect from them materials applicable to any particular subject.

The practice thus detailed has been continued up to the present time.

12. The only exception to the continuance of this practice was in the year 1702, when the General Order for printing the Votes and Proceedings was suspended for a very short period; but even during this interruption of the printing of the Votes, there were several instances of special Orders for printing other Papers. The circumstances accompanying this temporary discontinuance are stated in the Appendix.

13. The next and most important point of inquiry is, whether the Papers printed by order of the House were so for the exclusive use of its Members or for general Publication?

14. No doubt can exist that it was with a view to the latter object, that the practice of Printing was introduced. This is shown by the subsequent Proceedings of the House with regard to the Order for Printing of 1641 above referred to, and by the appointment of a Committee in the subsequent year to consider, among other things, "the best way of divulging, dispensing and publishing the Orders and Votes, relating to the Printing of any Parliamentary Papers, is on the 30th July 1641; when the House adopted certain Resolutions, and ordered that they should be printed.

15. This Committee presented on the 6th June an Order for dispensing and divulging the Orders and Declarations of the House through the Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, Constables, Headboroughs and Tithingmen of the several Counties, with directions for the speedy Publication to the Inhabitants; and on the 9th of June the Committee made Reports, whereupon it was resolved that certain Examinations, Remonstrances, Orders, Votes and Declarations should be printed and published, and an Order was made for the payment of the expense.

16. Your Committee think it right to remark, that the mode of Publication through the Sheriffs and other local officers may probably have been adopted from usage of an earlier date. Although no entry on the Journals or other Record has been found respecting the Publication of the Proceedings of Parliament prior to 1640, yet it scarcely admits of a doubt that from a much earlier period, Parliament must occasionally have found it necessary or expedient that particular Proceedings should be made public, although the means by which it was done cannot be traced; but as Acts of Parliament were anciently published at the county courts and other local tribunals, it is not improbable that the same channel of communication was used; and that hence might be derived the course adopted in regard to the first Order for Printing in 1641, which, it will be observed, was accompanied by directions that the Papers ordered to be printed should be sent to the Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, Constables, Headboroughs and Tithingmen, and who were required to publish the same to the inhabitants in the respective districts. It is easy to imagine that the increased facilities afforded by Printing would be substituted for the ancient and less convenient mode.

17. After the Restoration, the practice of publishing Papers printed for the House continued. The Debate in 1680-1, upon the Motion to print the Votes and Proceedings, was published contemporaneously; it is to be found in Mr. C. Williams Wynn's volume, and is inserted into the Parliamentary History. The declared object of the Motion was the Publication of the Proceedings, and the professional members then in the House urged no objection upon any legal ground; the opposition was confined to Mr. Secretary Jenkies, himself an eminent lawyer and politician, who resisted it on the ground that it was an appeal to the people, unsuited to the gravity of the House. The debate on the House, as well as a full and full of interest, that Your Committee, unwilling to abbreviate it, have given it entire in the note below.*

* DEBATE ON PRINTING THE VOTES, March 24, 1680-1.

Sir John Kercore.—What I am about to move concerns us all. The last Parliament, when you were moved to print your Votes, it was for the security of the nation, and you found it so; it preserved all representations of it to the world by false copies of our Votes, and now doubts your honor in the cause of it; and I am confident that this House will be no more ashamed of their
18. In Mr. C. Williams Wynn's volume, No. 7, December 9th, 1869, is contained the Resolution of the House, ordering Dangerfield's Narrative (relative to the Meal-tub Plot)

from the Speaker, generally obtained by application to individual Members of the House.

19. From 1841 till past the middle of the last century, many of the Papers printed by order of the House purport, upon the face of them, to be printed and published "by Order,"

20. The Sale of the Votes and Proceedings of the House by the Printer appears to have continued without interruption from its first commencement. At first the whole expense of Printing was thus defrayed, and a profit was derived from it, which was accounted for to the Speaker. Subsequently, the expense of Printing having become more than the whole receipts from the sale, the account was transferred to the Treasury. Credit was given by the Printer for the sums received in payment for copies of the Votes sold by him, and the balance due to him, after deducting the amount, was paid by the public.

21. With respect to Reports and Miscellaneous Papers printed for the House, the case was different; the sale to the public by the Printer, appears from the imprint on the Papers to have continued beyond the middle of the last century, and to have then ceased, though Mr. Committee were not then able to ascertain at what precise period the number of copies of each paper which were printed continued always, however, to exceed the number of Members of the House, and varied according to the interest which, from the nature of the subject, the public might be supposed to take in the publication. The manner in which the distribution of these copies was effected at the interval between the cessation of the original practice of sale, and its resumption by the recent Order of August 1835, is detailed in the Reports of the several Committees which have had the subject of the printed Papers under their deliberation.

22. Your Committee find from those Reports, and from other Evidence, that the Miscellaneous Papers printed for the House were, during the period now adverted to, made accessible to the public, partly by the sale of a certain number of copies, to which Officers of the House were entitled as perquisites, partly by gratuitous distribution under Orders from the Speaker, generally obtained by application to individual Members of the House.

23. The obvious intention of the House that its Printed Papers should be in general accessible to the public as well as to its own Members, is further evinced by the fact that the Orders in two distinct forms, the one directing the Printing in general terms, the other for the use of Members. Sometimes the general Printing has been negatived, and the limited Resolution adopted; and there are remarkable cases in which certain Papers having been directed in the first instance to be printed for the use of Members, second Orders were made, after a short interval, for printing the same Papers without any such restriction; thus clearly showing that the Publication of Papers ordered to be Printed was contemplated, unless special directions to the contrary were given.

24. Your Committee find also that from the year 1691 the printed Votes of this House have always been treated by the House of Lords as documents published by the authority of this House, and they are always referred to by their Lordships as the means of knowledge sections of the last but. Printing our Votes will be for the honour of the King and safety of the nation. I am confident, if it had been noticed, that there have been Petitions from the parts I come from, that your actions might be made public, and it were so, everybody, almost, that I met upon the road cried, “God bless you.” I move, therefore, that your Votes may be ordered to be printed with the rest of your Proceedings: and I shall only add, that yourself has done so well in taking care upon the last Parliament, that the House will desire you to continue them in the same method.

Mr. Williams. —The reason why I am so anxious to have our Votes printed is this: the last Parliament, we have heard papers that were sent away with a declaration against them.

Mr. Speaker. —I beg pardon, if I cannot satisfy the Motion. Consider the gravity of this assembly. There is no great assembly in Christendom that does it. It is against your gravity, and I am against it.

Mr. Bonar. —If you had been a Privy Council, then it would be easy to tell what you should be kept secret; but your Journal Books are open, and copies of your Votes in every coffee-house, and if you print them not, half votes will be disposed of your prejudice.

This printing is in plain Englishmen, who often are not ashamed of what they do, and the people you represent would have a true account of what you do. You may prevent publishing what parts of your transactions you will, and print the rest.

Mr. Speaker. —The reason why we write our Votes and Transactions, and send them all England over, is, because I believe that no gentleman in the House will be against printing them, and Jenkins. I hope you will not be ashamed of what you do; therefore I am for printing your Votes.

Colonel Miltoby. —By experience we have found, that when former Parliaments have been provoked or dissolved, they have been sent away with a declaration against them. If our actions are sought, let the world judge of them, if they be good, let them have their virtue. It is fit that all Christendom should have notice of what you do, and publicity of what you have done, and I hope they will do you good; therefore I am for printing the Votes.

Mr. Speaker. —Was there ever any such question as this? I believe all the House of Commons are of the opinion of the people.

Mr. Williams. —You misrepresent what has been said by Jenkins in a single opinion; for he says "Printing is an appeal to the people," I hope the House will take notice that printing our Votes is not contrary to law.

Mr. Williams. —It is fit that all Christendom should have notice of what you do, and publicity of what you have done, and I hope they will do you good; therefore I am for printing the Votes.

Mr. Speaker. —What has been said by Jenkins in a single opinion; for he says "Printing is an appeal to the people," I hope the House will take notice that printing our Votes is not contrary to law. But pray who are we either? The Privy Council is a court of the King, but the House of Commons is by the choice of the people. It is not natural nor rational, that the people who sent us here should not be informed of our sentiments. In the Long Parliament it was a trade among clerks to write Votes, and it was then said by a learned gentleman, "that it was an officer to inform the people of Votes of Parliament that ought to have notice of them." The Long Parliament and they ought to have in their generation and in a generation, those things they did from the people, and the clerk who dispensed the Votes was sent away, and nothing done to him. The Petition prejudiced what you do; and I found a man in Jenkins's post (and such an accusation upon him as is in the last Parliament) should hold such a position, "that printing your Votes was an appeal to the people."

Mr. Harford. —Now you have passed this Vote, I would graft something upon it. I move "that the care of printing the Votes of this House be ordered by the House of Lords as of authorized publications.

VOTES OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS ORDERED BY THE HOUSE OF LORDS AS OF AUTHORIZED PUBLICATIONS.
of any of the Proceedings of this House of which it is deemed necessary to take notice. No instance has been found in which the Lords have adverted to the Journals; and although this House does not allow any reference to be made in Petitions to what passes in debate, or may be entered in the Journals, yet, consistently with the rules of the House, matter stated in the printed Votes may be made the subject of petition and discussion.

25. The earliest instance upon record of the House of Lords treating the printed Votes and Proceedings of this House occurs in 1601, upon a Debate concerning the Regulations of the East India Company, when, on the 30th December, it was resolved, that the printed Vote (of this House) then read was sufficient ground for that House (the Lords) to take notice of it to the House of Commons.

26. The publicity of printed Parliamentary Papers has not only been thus separately recognized by both Houses of Parliament, but has further received what tendency to the express sanction of the whole Legislature, by the exemption of such Papers from postage. The title of the statute of the 42 Geo. 3, c. 63, is, "An Act to authorize the sending and receiving of letters and packets, Votes and Proceedings in Parliament, and printed newspapers, by the Post, free from the duty of Postage, by the Members of the two Houses of Parliament of the United Kingdom, and by certain public officers therein named, and for reducing the Postage on such Votes, Proceedings and newspapers when sent by any other persons."

27. With regard to the Publication of Papers by the House of Lords, Your Committee have inserted in the Appendix to this Report several examples, taken from the period immediately after the Revolution, of express Orders made by that House for printing and publishing various Resolutions and other Documents. These examples sufficiently prove that the House of Lords has, equally with this House, exercised the power of ordering the printed Publication of Petitions.

28. Your Committee proceed to state the practice of this House in the circulation of its Reports and Papers since the recent Order, first remarking, that of late years the demand for Parliamentary Papers has greatly increased; the application for them to Members, and the obtaining of the Speaker's authority, that the Member should be supplied with them, necessarily occasioned trouble, delay and difficulty. Many persons interested in their contents were unknown to Members; and in populous places, more persons desired to obtain copies than were able to procure them; and although copies might always have been obtained by purchase at the Vote Office, yet that circumstance was not universally known, and single copies could not be purchased, complete sets for the whole Session being alone disposed of.

29. The inadequacy of the system of Publication, before described, attracted the attention of this House and led to the appointment of a Committee, which presented its Report on the 16th day of July 1835, recommending that the Sessional Papers of this House should be printed and sold by appointed persons, at the lowest price, under arrangements calculated to secure a speedy and economical distribution of the Parliamentary Proceedings. In pursuance of that Report, the House, on the 13th August 1835, resolved "That the Parliamentary Papers and Reports printed for the use of the House should be rendered accessible to the public at the lowest price they can be furnished, and that a sufficient number of extra copies should be printed for that purpose."

30. In March 1836 a Committee was appointed, consisting of the Speaker and eight Members, "To assist him in all matters relating to the Printing executed by the Order of the House." At the commencement of the present Session a similar Committee was appointed, which has made various regulations respecting the printing and sale of the Votes and Proceedings, and fixed the price to be charged. Certain establishments have been appointed for the sale, under the superintendence of Messrs. Hansard, and a price is affixed, at one-third less than the cost at which the Reports or Papers can be produced; and by these arrangements, public economy and convenience have been greatly promoted. It ought here to be remarked, that the proceeds of the Sale are placed to the Public Account in diminution of the Expenses of the Printing.

31. The public circulation of Papers printed by order of this House having thus been shown to have continued without interruption for nearly two centuries, your Committee conceive it to be most material to remark, in the next place, that it appears to have been the generally received opinion, during the whole of that period, that legal proceedings could not be instituted for any thing contained in Papers so printed.

32. Your Committee have been led to the conclusion that such must have been the case by the fact that the prosecutions arising out of the publication of Dangerfield's Narrative, in 1644, are the only instances which your Committee have been able to discover, before Mr. Stockhold's action, of any legal proceeding upon account of any Publication under the authority of the House. In the particular of this case, the particulars of his case in this instance, to which your Committee will again have occasion to advert, are stated in the Appendix, and are very important.

33. The absence of any other example of proceedings having been taken in a Court of Law upon Papers printed by order of House, is the more important on advertising to the character of many of these Papers, and the severity with which at a former period the offences of the Press were habitually treated. While the Publication of Parliamentary Papers has prevailed, there have been contained among them Resolutions, Reports and Petitions, imputing misconduct to and reflecting in a high degree upon individuals, in a high degree to the rank of society. The inquiries prosecuted by the House, from the Revolution to the present time, have been occasionally severe and searching, and full particulars of such proceedings have been published. Some of the Papers published by the House of Lords have also strongly incalculable individuals. Upon some occasions of controversy between the two Houses, Publications have been made by each severely reflecting upon the other.
34. In the Appendix will be found a List of Reports printed for this House, which will exclude any possible doubt that numerous prosecutions, civil and criminal, would have followed those publications, and necessarily have put a stop to them, unless an impression had universally prevailed that parties engaged in the publication were clothed with a Parliamentary protection. There will likewise be found some instances, of an early date, of Resolutions published by the Lords of a character to have challenged exception, unless protected by Parliamentary Privilege.

35. Your Committee, having thus detailed the facts relating to the Publication of the Reports and Proceedings of Parliament, and having shown the uniform practice of nearly two centuries, which secured effectual restraint, it is now for the Committee to prove that in the present instance, the publication of any evidence, which was shown to be false, would be interested in disproving it. Your Committee apprehend that such could not have been his Lordship's view, since they believe it to be a well-ascertained principle in the Law of Libel, that it is the publication and the motive of the publisher (in general evidenced by the tendency of the publication) which constitute the offence, and that the manner in which such publication takes place is of no other material than as it may, in some cases, tend to establish the malicious intent of the party, or to increase the amount of damage. From these considerations, they believe it has been repeatedly held that the gratuitous distribution of libels, or even the fact of putting into the post a letter containing libellous matter, is as much a publication as one which is effected by sale.

36. It will be observed, on reference to the extracts Your Committee have made from the proceedings in the case of Stockdale v. Hansard, that the Lord Chief Justice has drawn a distinction between Papers merely written and printed for the use of the Members of the House and those which are published, admitting the protection of Parliamentary Privilege to extend to the former, though he has so distinctly declared it to be inapplicable to the latter. It might possibly be inferred, from the expressions made use of in the charge of the noble and learned Judge, that he meant to draw a further distinction between a Publication by Sale or otherwise; but as in this instance the defendants were proved to have no interest whatever in the improper motive or misuse could be inferred from it. Your Committee apprehend that such could not have been his Lordship's view, since they believe it to be a well-ascertained principle in the Law of Libel, that it is the publication and the motive of the publisher (in general evidenced by the tendency of the publication) which constitute the offence, and that the manner in which such publication takes place is of no other material than as it may, in some cases, tend to establish the malicious intent of the party, or to increase the amount of damage. Apart from these considerations, they believe it has been repeatedly held that the gratuitous distribution of libels, or even the fact of putting into the post a letter containing libellous matter, is as much a publication as one which is effected by sale.

37. It must therefore be assumed, that the real effect of the recent decision of the Lord Chief Justice would be to confine the protection of Parliamentary Privilege to Papers printed strictly for the use of Members, and to render any party publishing them, even though with the direct sanction of the House, liable to answer in a Court of Law for whatever they might contain of a libellous character; in which, if the proceedings were of a criminal nature, even the truth of the matter published would furnish no defence.

38. Your Committee have already shown that, previous to the resumption of the Sale of Parliamentary Papers, in conformity with the Resolution of August 1835, the Publication was very extensive. If, therefore, the principle laid down by the Lord Chief Justice be correct, it would not be sufficient to rescind this Resolution, the Publication must be altogether abandoned; since the Speaker, by directing the distribution of Papers of this description according to the former practice, and Members, by communicating them to their constituents, would become subject to actions on the part of every person who considered himself reflected upon by any thing they might happen to contain. Such being the case, Your Committee are of opinion that the establishment of this as a rule of law would be fatal to the proper exercise of its functions by the House. The very groundwork of all sound legislation and correct information with regard to all abuses and defects of the existing laws and institutions of the country; but this information it would be absolutely impossible to obtain if the House were debarred from communicating, except to its own Members, the Papers which it is from time to time necessary to print, whenever they contained any thing which in law would constitute a Libel. Your Committee need scarcely call the attention of the House to the fact that, if it were necessary to exclude all matter which might be held to be of a libellous character, these Papers would, in numberless instances, be altogether useless for the purposes for which they are intended. For example; the Committee appointed in the year 1832 to investigate the condition of the Slave population in the British Colonies, was under the absolute necessity, in order to perform the duty assigned to them, of receiving a large mass of evidence as to cases of alleged cruelty committed towards Slaves; this evidence, there can be no doubt, would have been regarded, if published in an unauthorized form, as affording good grounds for actions or prosecutions for false statements to whose cruelty it was imputed; yet, if its circulation had been confined to Members of the House, or if, in printing it, the names of those accused had been omitted, the object in view would not have been obtained. This object was to throw light on the effects of the institution of slavery, and to elicit from the conflicting statements of persons of opposite views and opinions the real facts which were to guide the judgment of the House, and the only mode by which this could be accomplished, and by which any security could be obtained for the correctness of that information upon which, in the following year, a most important Act of the Legislature was to be founded, was the Publication of the evidence, in order that it might be subjected to the scrutiny of those who, if it were false, would be interested in disproving it. Yet, according to the rule which has now been laid down, the Publication of this evidence being sufficient to justify legal proceedings by the very numerous persons whom it incalculably, all the important national advantages to be derived from such Publication must necessarily have been abandoned.

39. Many similar examples might be brought forward; the Reports of the Committees of this House, and of the Commissioners who inquired into the state of the Municipal Corporations of England and of Ireland, those of the Charity Commissioners, and of the Commissioners...
missioners for inquiring into the operation of the Poor Laws, in exposing the abuses which it was the object of the Legislature to correct, must unavoidably have contained a multitude of statements which, in unauthorized publications, would have been considered libellous; indeed, it is not too much to assert that perhaps the greater part of the Reports and Papers printed by the House would be found, if subjected to a nice and critical examination, to contain matter of a defamatory character; nay, in some cases, the same might be said of printed copies of Bills brought into the House, and which have ultimately passed into Acts of Parliament, as, for instance, the Bills for the Disfranchisement of Grampound and East Retford.

Your Committee hold it to be altogether needless to dwell further upon the utter impossibility of legislating with advantage which would result from depriving this House of the unrestricted power of communicating with the people whom it represents, and of collecting and diffusing information upon the various subjects which are brought under its consideration; but they think it right further to observe, that this is by no means the only difficulty which would arise from the recognition of the principle now contended for with regard to the Publication of Parliamentary Papers. This House, in Parliamentary language, termed the Grand Inquest of the Nation; in this capacity, it is its duty to inquire into all wrongs and grievances of which either the people at large, or any individuals may have reason to complain, and it has cognizance of all cases in which power has been abused by those to whom it has been by law entrusted. These important functions, it is obvious, could not be exercised if the House had no power to protect the Publication as well of Petitions addressed to it, alleging criminality against any parties, as of the Proceedings of either House of Parliament, and in its name, and under its sanction that the judgment is pronounced.

The first legal point for consideration is, how far the affirmation by Parliament of the Privilege which has been denounced will afford protection to those who may, under the sanction of this House, conduct the Sale of such Publications as may be ordered, and whom the truth of the matter so published will furnish no defence against a criminal prosecution; or, in other words, whether this House has the exclusive jurisdiction to decide upon the existence and extent of its own Privileges. But before entering upon the consideration of that subject, the Committee beg to refer to the case of The King v. Wright, showing what has been, by high judicial authority, considered the legal character of the Publication of Proceedings in Parliament reflecting upon individuals, even without authority or sanction.

The importance of that branch of the lex terrae, which embraces the Law and Privilege of Parliament, is commensurate with the constitutional value of Parliament itself, as its independence, and the judicious and effective use of that independence, must arise out of the Privileges it possesses, and it becomes important here to note that these Privileges are not the attributes of either House individually, but of the whole Parliament, and that however the jurisdiction of the High Court of Parliament may be exercised by one or the other of its different branches, in the name, and by the authority, of the whole, yet that this House for a constituent part of, and is presumed to be present in, that Supreme Court, the highest judicature known to the nation, and cannot, in the essence of its authority and privilege, be separated from it. The judicial authority of that Supreme Court, it is true, is administered by the House of Lords; but it is nevertheless by the High Court of Parliament, in its name, and under its sanction that the judgment is pronounced.

The constitution of Parliament, previously to the separation of the Two Houses, and the jurisdiction and authority that devolved upon each at that time, has been the subject of so much learned argument, and has so long been taken to be a matter beyond dispute, that Your Committee only deem it necessary to refer to Sir Robert Atkyn's argument in the case of Sir William Williams, and to observations therein cited, and to Allenborough's judgment in Burdett v. Abbot, as conclusive in showing that the Privilege of each House respectively includes the collective Privilege of Parliament.

46. In
46. In 34 Hen. 8. (1611), the Commons complained to the King and the Lords, of a Breach of Privilege, by arresting one Ferrers, a Member; and upon that occasion the King expressed to the following purport: "And further, we see by the case of Law that we at no time stand so highly in our State Royal, as in the time of Parliament, wherein we as Head, and you as Members, are conjoined and knit together into one body politic; so as whatsoever offence or injury (during that time) is offered to the meanest subject, the House of Parliament must for the time cease and give place to the highest."

47. As the Privilege of each House respectively is derived from and identified with the collective Privilege of Parliament, it becomes essential to bear in mind the basis upon which it rests; that basis Your Committee hold to be the protection of the public interests as connected with the discharge of the duties and the maintenance of the authority with which Parliament is for public purposes invested. The precise limits of Parliamentary Privilege cannot be defined; because, the emergencies which may call for its exercise cannot be foreseen. In the same manner a Court of Law does not a priori define a contempt. The constitutional limit of Parliamentary Privilege is determined by the principle that that only is a legitimate Privilege which has for its object either the upholding of the authority essential to the due exercise of Parliamentary functions, or to the effective discharge, for the common good, of the duties which those functions involve. Neither the public safety nor the public service recognizes any claim of Privilege beyond the limit of this principle. And Your Committee consider that no Privilege of Parliament can, in its exercise, be more beneficial than that under which it gives to the people the result of its public inquiries, connected with the conduct of public men, and the management, good or bad, of public institutions. The numerous Commissions and Inquiries which have been prosecuted have been directed to this end.

48. The above considerations would seem sufficient to establish the existence of the Privilege adverted to, but they derive additional weight from the existence of the long Parliament usage, which has been shown from 1641 to the present time without objection or complaint, not exercised sub silentio, but, on the contrary, under circumstances calculated to excite resistance if that right had been doubted. The case of The King v. Williams is the only exception. The time of its decision, and the manner in which it was conducted, have caused it to be considered as of no authority, and it is only worthy of reference because it led to proceedings which Your Committee think bear decisively upon the present question.*

49. In that case an attempt was made to establish the doctrine laid down in Stockdale v. Hansard. It proceeded from the Officers of this House were amenable for the events of Publications issued by its order; and attention was then called to the subject in a remarkable manner; the judgment pronounced by the Court of King's Bench on that occasion was condemned in a distinct Resolution of this House as illegal and against the freedom of Parliament; and it was also in effect denounced in the Bill of Rights as subsersive of the laws and liberties of the kingdom; these circumstances and the subsequent undisturbed continuance of Publication, in conformity with the Privilege asserted, appear to Your Committee to furnish decisive evidence in maintenance of the right of Parliament to issue, at its discretion, Publications respecting matters coming before it connected with the public interest. Nothing has since occurred, that Your Committee can discover, to justify any doubt as to the legitimate existence and extent of that right.

50. The Committee cannot forbear to recur to the extraordinary periods of our history through which the precedents prevail, and to remark, that the abuse of the Privilege during the Long Parliament could not fail to have arrested attention when the constitutional powers of the old Parliament were restored, and that the undeviating adherence to the Privilege, through the reign of Charles II. proves that the restored Government regarded it as inseparable from the Parliamentary trust. And further, that the strong complaint urged by this House, immediately after the Revolution, of the attempt made to destroy it in the prosecution of Sir William Williams, and the distinct re-assertion of it, accompanied by a correspondent usage of nearly a century and a half, affirm it by evidence too conclusive to admit any reasonable ground of contest.

51. Although each House is separately vested with all the Privileges that belong to the Parliament as a body, it yet remains to be considered whether Parliament possesses exclaves authority to determine upon the extent of these Privileges, or whether the Courts of Law have a jurisdiction enabling them to review and control the decisions of Parliament upon the subject.

* The particulars of this Case, with the observations of your Committee, will be found in the Appendix. Upon being cited to the Court of King's Bench, Lord Kenyon remarked, "It was a case that has had the worst of times;" and Mr. J. Gower observed that this case "had been said by a great authority to be a disgrace to the country." The judgment given in the Court of King's Bench against W. Williams, Esq., Speaker of the House of Commons, for matters done by Order of the House of Commons, and as Speaker thereto, was an illegal judgment, and against the freedom of Parliament. It proceeded through certain stages, but did not pass. Two Bills were mutually brought in for the same purpose in 1690 and 1696, which passed the Commons, and were read twice in the House of Lords; but what ultimately became of them, cannot be traced. The reasons why these Bills did not pass, do not appear upon any authority; but their failure is supposed to have been occasioned by the difficulty of determining upon whom the charge of reimbursing the Speaker should be fixed. By the Bills it was proposed that the Assiduousness of the presentation, should repay the money, and he was to be heard at the Bar by his Counsel against the Bill; but it seems clear that the desire of Parliament to procure a reimbursement, was the cause why the Bills to reverse the judgment did not pass.

See App. (B.) pp. 54 to 56.
52. In considering the relative jurisdiction of Parliament and of the Courts of Law, it will be material to keep in remembrance the earlier course of Parliament, when the King at Head and the three Estates of the Realm as Members of the Parliament, sat together to discuss the affairs of the Nation, to make Laws, and to review the decisions of inferior courts, and to this High Court of Parliament those tribunals resorted for advice in cases involving more than ordinary difficulty. We may readily assume that this Highest Court of the Nation would not at its decisions, in respect of its own jurisdiction, be questioned or reviewed by Judges subordinate in station, over whom they were in the course of exercising a supreme control, and who, being created by, and holding their offices at the pleasure of the Crown, might be swayed by an adverse influence.

53. If the Courts at Westminster have authority to determine upon the Privileges of Parliament, the same power is incident to the County Court and courts of inferior jurisdiction. If the Court of King’s Bench were competent to have decided against the power of this House, in the action of trespass in the case of Burdett v. Abbot, the County Court of Middlesex would have possessed equal authority had the damages been had under 40s., and the formal words “with force and arms” been omitted; in both Courts the question would have been the same, whether the Speaker’s warrant justified the alleged trespass and imprisonment? When the comparative importance and authority of the High Court of Parliament, and the Sheriff’s Tourn and County Court be considered, and the decisive and summary manner in which Parliament had been accustomed to vindicate its authority against those who impugned it, is adverted to, the House will judge whether any reasonable doubt can be entertained as to the ancient state of the law.
