Mr. Speaker reported, That the House had, this day, attended Her Majesty in the House of Peers, where Her Majesty was pleased to make a most gracious Speech from the Throne to both Houses of Parliament; of which Mr. Speaker said he had, for greater accuracy, obtained a copy; which he read to the House, as followeth;

My Lords and Gentlemen,
Since you were last assembled, I have declared My intention of allying Myself in Marriage with the Prince Albert, of Saxe Coburg and Gotha: I humbly implore that the Divine Blessing may prosper this Union, and render it conducive to the interests of My People, as well as to My own domestic happiness; and it will be to Me a source of the most lively satisfaction to find the resolution I have taken approved by My Parliament.

The constant proofs which I have received of your attachment to My Person and Family persuade Me that you will enable Me to provide for such an Establishment as may appear suitable to the rank of that Prince, and the dignity of the Crown.

I continue to receive from Foreign Powers assurances of their unabated desire to maintain with Me the most friendly relations.

I rejoice that the Civil War, which had so long disturbed and desolated the Northern Provinces of Spain, has been brought to an end by an arrangement satisfactory to the Spanish Government, and to the people of those provinces; and I trust, that, engaging peace and tranquillity will be re-established throughout the rest of Spain.

The affairs of the Levant have continued to occupy My most anxious attention. The concord which has prevailed amongst the Five Powers has prevented a renewal of hostilities in that quarter; and I hope that the same unanimity will bring these important and difficult matters to a final settlement, in such a manner as to uphold the integrity and independence of the Ottoman Empire, and to give additional security to the peace of Europe.

I have not yet been enabled to re-establish My diplomatic relations with the Court of Teheran; but communications which I have lately received from the Persian Government inspire Me with the confident expectation that the differences which occasioned a suspension of those relations will soon be satisfactorily adjusted.

Events have happened in China which have occasioned an interruption of the commercial intercourse of My subjects with that country. I have given, and shall continue to give, the most serious attention to a matter so deeply affecting the interests of My subjects, and the dignity of My Crown.

I have great satisfaction in acquitting you that the military operations undertaken by the Governor General of India have been attended with complete success; and that, in the expedition to the westward of the Indies, the Officers and Troops, both European and native, have displayed the most distinguished skill and valour.

I have directed that further Papers relating to the Affairs of Canada, should be laid before you, and I confide to your wisdom this important subject.

I recommend to your early attention the state of the Municipal Corporations of Ireland.

It is desirable that you should prosecute those measures relating to the Established Church which have been recommended by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of England.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons, I have directed the Estimates for the Services of the year to be laid before you. They have been framed with every attention to economy, and, at the same time, with a due regard to the efficiency of those Establishments which are rendered necessary by the extent and circumstances of the Empire.

I have lost no time in carrying into effect the intentions of Parliament by the reduction of the Duties on Postage; and I trust that the beneficial effects of this measure will be felt throughout all classes of the community.

My Lords and Gentleman,
I learn with great sorrow that the commercial embarrassments which have taken place in this and other Countries, are subjecting many of the manufacturing districts to severe distress.

I have to acquaint you, with deep concern, that the spirit of insubordination has, in some parts of the Country, broken out into open violence, which was speedily repressed by the firmness and energy of the magistrates, and by the steadiness and good conduct of My Troops.

I confidently rely upon the power of the Law, upon your loyalty and wisdom, and upon the good sense and right feeling of My people, for the maintenance of order, the protection of property, and the promotion, as far as they can be promoted by human means, of the true interests of the Empire.

Resolved, That an humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, to return Her Majesty the thanks of this House for Her most gracious Speech from the Throne.

To offer our most heartfelt congratulations to Her Majesty on an occasion so deeply interesting to all Her faithful subjects as Her approaching Marriage, and to thank Her Majesty for having chosen for Her Consort a Prince descended from so illustrious a line of ancestors, and distinguished by the promise of every virtue; that we confidently trust that by the Divine Blessing this Union will promote the interests of Her Majesty's People, and Her Majesty's domestic happiness:

To assure Her Majesty that we shall cheerfully concur in such measures as may demonstrate our duty and attachment to Her Majesty's Person and Family, and as may be necessary to provide for such an establishment as may appear suitable to the rank of the Prince, and the dignity of the Crown:

That we learn with much satisfaction that Her Majesty continues to receive from Foreign Powers assurances of their unabated desire to maintain with Her Majesty the most friendly relations:

That we rejoice with Her Majesty that the Civil War which had so long disturbed and desolated the Northern Provinces of Spain, has been brought to an end by an arrangement satisfactory to the Spanish Government, and to the people of those provinces; and we share in Her Majesty's confidence that, ere long, peace and tranquillity will be re-established throughout the rest of Spain:

That we are gratified to learn that the affairs of the Levant have continued to occupy Her Majesty's most anxious attention, that the concord which has prevailed amongst the Five Powers has prevented a renewal of hostilities in that quarter, and that Her Majesty continues to receive from Foreign Powers assurances of their unabated desire to maintain with Her Majesty's People, and to give additional security to the peace of Europe:

That we lament that events have happened in China which have occasioned an interruption of the commercial commercial intercourse of Her Majesty's subjects with that country. We feel assured that Her Majesty has given and will continue to give the most serious attention to a matter so deeply affecting the interests of Her Majesty's subjects, and the dignity of Her Crown.

That it is with the greatest satisfaction we hear that the military operations undertaken by the Governor General of India have been attended with complete success; and that, in the expedition to the westward of the Indus, the officers and troops, both Europeans and native, have displayed the most distinguished skill and valour:

That we shall not fail carefully to consider the further papers relating to Canada, which Her Majesty has directed to be laid before us, and for which we humbly thank Her Majesty; and Her Majesty may rely upon our serious attention to this important subject:

That we shall be ready to take into our early consideration the state of the Municipal Corporations of Ireland:

That we shall be prepared to consider the prosecution of those measures relating to the Established Church which have been recommended by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of England:

That we thank Her Majesty for assuring us that the interests of Her Majesty's subjects, and the dignity of Her Crown:

That we shall be prepared to maintain in a proper state of efficiency every branch of the Public Service:

That we thank Her Majesty for carrying so early into effect the Act of the last Session, respecting the Postage of Letters, and we trust that the beneficial effects of this measure will be felt throughout all classes of the community:

That we participate in the sorrow with which Her Majesty's Troops; that we feel the same confidence in the ability of Her Majesty upon the power of the Law and upon the good sense and right feeling of the people for the maintenance of order, the protection of property, and the promotion, as far as they can be promoted by human means, of the true interests of the empire.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Address to be presented to Her Majesty upon the said Resolution:—And a Committee was appointed of Mr. George Cawdeth, Sir William Sowerley, Lord John Russell, Lord Viscount Palmerston, Lord Viscount Marpeth, Sir John Holhouse, Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Attorney General, Sir George Grey, Mr. Lebomere, Mr. Edward John Stanely, Mr. Robert Gordon, Mr. Fox Mouls, Mr. Herneal or any Five of them:—And they are to withdraw immediately.

"Most gracious Sovereign,

We, Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in Parliament assembled, beg leave to return Your Majesty our humble thanks for Your most gracious Speech from the Throne:"

Vol. 35.
17th—18th Januarii.

A. 1840.

We humbly offer our most heartfelt congratulations to Your Majesty, on an occasion so deeply interesting to all Your faithful subjects as Your Majesty's approaching Marriage, and we thank Your Majesty for having chosen for Your Consort a Prince descended from so illustrious a line of ancestors, and distinguished by the promise of every virtue; and we confidently trust, that by the Divine Blessing this Union will promote the interests of Your Majesty's People, and Your Majesty's domestic happiness:

We assure Your Majesty that we shall cheerfully concur in such measures as may demonstrate our duty and attachment to Your Majesty's Person and Family, and as may be necessary to provide for such an establishment as may appear suitable to the rank of the Prince, and the dignity of the Crown:

We learn with much satisfaction that Your Majesty continues to receive from Foreign Powers assurances of their unalloyed desire to maintain with Your Majesty the most friendly relations:

We rejoice with Your Majesty that the Civil War which had so long disturbed and desolated the Northern Provinces of Spain, has been brought to an end by an arrangement satisfactory to the Spanish Government, and to the people of those provinces; and we share in Your Majesty's confidence, that all peace and tranquillity will be re-established throughout the rest of Spain:

We are gratified to learn, that the affairs of the Levant have continued to occupy Your Majesty's most anxious attention, that the concord which has prevailed amongst the Five Powers has prevented a renewal of hostilities in that quarter, and with Your Majesty we entertain the hope that the same unanimity will bring these important and difficult matters to a final settlement, in such a manner as to uphold the integrity and independence of the Ottoman Empire, and to give additional security to the peace of Europe:

We are concerned to hear that Your Majesty has not yet been enabled to re-establish Your diplomatic relations with the Court of Teheran, but rejoice that communications which Your Majesty has lately received from the Persian Government inspire Your Majesty with the confident expectation that the differences which occasioned a suspension of those relations, will soon be satisfactorily adjusted:

We lament that events have happened in China which have occasioned an interruption of the commercial intercourse of Your Majesty's subjects with that country. We feel assured that Your Majesty doth agree with the Committee in the said Address to both Houses of Parliament be taken into consideration this day.

We shall be prepared to consider the prosecution of those measures relating to the Established Church which have been recommended by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of England:

We humbly thank Your Majesty for assuring us that the Estimates for the current year have been framed with a due attention to economy, and we assure Your Majesty that we shall be prepared to maintain in a proper state of efficiency every branch of the Public Service:

We thank Your Majesty for carrying so early into effect the Act of the last Session respecting the Postage of Letters, and we trust that the beneficial effects of that measure will be felt throughout all classes of the community:

We participate in the sorrow with which Your Majesty has learned that the commercial embarrassments which have taken place in this and in other countries, are subjecting many of the manufacturing districts to severe distress:

We hear with great concern that the spirit of insubordination has in some parts of the Country broken out into acts of open violence, while we are happy to learn that such violence was speedily repressed by the firmness and energy of the Magistrates, and by the steadiness and good conduct of Your Majesty's Troops: we feel the same confident reliance with Your Majesty upon the power of the Law, and upon the good sense and right feeling of the People for the maintenance of order, the protection of property, and the promotion, as far as they can be continued by human means, of the true interests of the Empire.

We are gratified to learn, that the Spirit of Free Fishermen and Dredgermen, which had so long disturbed and desolated the Northern Provinces of Spain, has been brought to an end by an arrangement satisfactory to the Spanish Government, and to the people of those provinces; and we share in Your Majesty's confidence, that all peace and tranquillity will be re-established throughout the rest of Spain:

court, by directing Messrs. Hansard, the Printers, to pay the damages recovered in such action; that the judgment of the Court of Queen's Bench, if erroneous, was subject to be reversed by proceedings in error, but that the said judgment remains unappealed against; notwithstanding these proceedings, the said Sheriffs, in deference to the House, instead of paying over the said damages and costs, in the first instance, to the said John Joseph Stockdale, informed Her Majesty's Justices of the Court of Queen's Bench of the claim made by the defendants, Messrs. Hansard, in the said action, under the alleged authority of the House, to stay the further proceedings in the same, but Her Majesty's Justices of the Court of Queen's Bench refused to entertain the said application, and directed the said William Evans and John Wheelton, Esquires, to pay over the amount of the damages and costs to the said John Joseph Stockdale; that the Petitioners have learnt, by an inspection of the Votes and Proceedings of the House, printed, published and sold by the Order of the House, that the House passed the following Resolutions: "That it appears to the Petitioners to imply a Privilege of making laws irrespective of the other branches of the Legislature, and a power to commit the most arbitrary acts, without affording the subject the opportunity of redress (except by an appeal to Her Majesty's prerogative), in a case where compliance with the alleged Privilege would have been a direct obstruction to the courts of law in the exercise of their proper functions; and praying that the said William Evans, John Stockdale versus Hansard has been levied, to the amount of £440, by the sale of the property of Messrs. Hansard, in contempt of the Privileges of Parliament, and that such money now remains in the hands of the Sheriff of Middlesex; that the said Sheriff be ordered to refund the said amount forthwith to Messrs. Hansard." That the said Sheriffs not having expressed an intention to comply with such last-mentioned Order of the House to return the said amount forthwith to the said Messrs. Hansard, the said Sheriffs were thereupon committed, by Order of the House, to the custody of the Serjeant-at-Arms, where they still remain; that the Petitioners most humbly submit, that such Order was invalid in point of law, and an infringement of the prerogative of the Crown, inasmuch as it was a direct interference with the due and ordinary administration of justice between party and party in Her Majesty's courts of law; that it appears to the Petitioners that the ground of commitment of the said Sheriffs was for having yielded obedience to Her Majesty's writ, issued by the authority of Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench, and for not complying with the said Order of the House, and that the said Sheriffs had not otherwise been guilty, in the opinion of the House, of any contempt or breach of the said Order, by which the Petitioners humbly submit, that such Privileges, in the extent assumed by the House, are calculated to destroy the liberty of the subject, and to subvert the laws of the land, as declared by the Petitioners to imply a Privilege of making laws irrespective of the other branches of the Legislature, and a power to commit the most arbitrary acts, without affording the subject the opportunity of redress (except by an appeal to Her Majesty's prerogative), in a case where compliance with the alleged Privilege would have been a direct obstruction to the courts of law in the exercise of their proper functions; and praying that the said William Evans, John Stockdale versus Hansard has been levied, to the amount of £440, by the sale of the property of Messrs. Hansard, in contempt of the Privileges of Parliament, and that such money now remains in the hands of the Sheriff of Middlesex, be forthwith discharged out of the funds of Stockdale versus Hansard; and be printed.

In the Queen’s Bench.
Between John Joseph Stockdale --- Plaintiff,

Take notice, That a Writ of Inquiry of Damages will be executed in this cause on Thursday the twenty-fifth day of February instant, between the hours of eleven of the clock in the forenoon and one of the clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the office of the Sheriff of Middlesex, in Red Lion-square, Holborn, in the county of Middlesex. And further take notice, that the same will be attended by Counsel on the part of the said Plaintiff.

Dated this 12th day of February 1840.
Yours, &c.

T. B. Howard, Plaintiff’s Attorney, 7, Norfolk-street, Strand.

The Petitioners, in order to ascertain correctly the cause of action, in such further suit, caused the Declaration filied by the Plaintiff in the Queen’s Bench Declaration Office to be taken out, and of which Declaration the following is a Copy:

In the Queen’s Bench:

The sixth day of February, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and forty.

Middlesex, to wit: John Joseph Stockdale, the Plaintiff in this suit, by Thomas Burton

Howard, his Attorney, complaines of James Hansard, Luke Graves Hansard, and Luke James Hansard, the Defendants in this suit, who have been summoned to answer the said John Joseph Stockdale, in an action on the case. For that whereas, before and at the time of committing the grievance next hereinafter complained of, the said Plaintiff was, and for a long time had been, a bookseller and publisher of books, and as such bookseller and publisher of books had published divers and very many scientific books, and particularly in the year One thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, a certain physiological and anatomical book, written by a learned physician, on the Generative System, illustrated by anatomical plates. And whereas the said Defendants, on the Twenty-fifth day of June, in the year One thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, did publish and cause to be published, of and concerning the said Plaintiff, in his said trade of a bookseller and publisher, a certain book purporting to be Reports of the Inspectors of the Prisons of Great Britain, the passage following; (that is to say) ‘This last is a book (meaning the said physiological and anatomical book) of a most disgusting nature, and the plates are indecent and obscene in the extreme.’ Whereas in truth and in fact, the said book is purely of a scientific character; yet the said Defendants, well knowing the promises, but contriving and maliciously intending to defame and injure the said Plaintiff in his said trade of a bookseller and publisher, and cause it to be believed that he published indecent and obscene books, on the first day of July, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, maliciously and falsely did publish and cause to be published of and concerning the said Plaintiff, in his said trade and business, in a certain printed paper, purporting to be a Copy of the Reply of the Inspectors of Prisons for the Home District, with regard to the Report of the Court of Aldermen to whom it was referred to consider the First Report of the Inspectors of Prisons, so far as relates to the Gaol of Newgate; which said Copy of the Reply purports to be a Letter from William Crawford and Whitworth Russell, Esquires, Inspectors of Prisons for the Home District, to the Right honourable Lord John Russell, &c. &c. &c., the false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory, intended following; (that is to say) ‘But we deny that that book is a scientific work (using that term in its ordinary acceptation), or that the plates are purely anatomical, calculated only to attract the attention of persons connected with surgical science, and we adhere to the terms which we have already employed as those only by which to characterize such a book’ (meaning thereby that the said book was disgusting and obscene, as stated in the above-mentioned Report of the Inspectors of Prisons of Great Britain); and in another part of the said libel, to the tenor and effect following, (that is to say) ‘We also applied to several medical booksellers, who gave it the same character. They described it as one of Stockdale’s obscene books’ (meaning thereby that the Plaintiff was a common publisher of obscene books); ‘that it never was considered as a scientific work;’ ‘that it never was written for or bought by the members of the profession as such;’ ‘that it was intended to take young men in by inducing them to give an exorbitant price for an indecent work;’ to the great injury of the said Plaintiff in his said trade and business, and also of his fair fame and reputation, and to the damage of the said Plaintiff of Fifty thousand pounds, and therefore he brings suit, &c.’

That the Petitioners find, on examining the foregoing Declaration with the Declaration in the former action against them, in which the damages were assessed.

The House being informed, That the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the city of London attended at the door, they were called in, and at the bar presented, — A Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the city of London, in Common Council assembled:— And then they withdrew.

And the said Petition was read, setting forth; That the Corporation of London have, from time immemorial, enjoyed the privilege of presenting Addresses to the Sovereign on the Throne; a privilege which they have always prized as among the most valuable of their rights, and which they have been accustomed to exercise upon great and important occasions which have involved the honour and happiness of the Sovereign and the welfare of the people; that the Petitioners have unanimously voted an Address of Congratulation to Her most Gracious Majesty upon Her happy union with his Majesty with his Royal Highness Prince Albert of Saxe Coburg and Gotha; that the Petitioners are most anxious to manifest their participation in the lively satisfaction which that auspicious event has diffused throughout the nation, by attending upon the earliest possible occasion, to lay their Address at the feet of their beloved Sovereign, but they find by the approved usage of the city, that the Sheriffs of London, attended by the Remembrancer, should wait upon Her Majesty, to receive Her Majesty's Royal pleasure as to the period at which Her Majesty will be pleased to receive the Address of the Petitioners, of which, the ordinary and most respectful mode of exercising their privilege, they are unable to avail themselves, by reason of the Sheriff being in the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, by Order of the House; that the Petitioners again humbly represent to the House that the said Sheriff, in the course of conduct they pursued, were influenced only by a conscientious desire to perform what they believed to be in accordance with the Law and Estoppel that the House will be pleased to discharge the Sheriff out of custody, to enable the Petitioners to manifest their loyalty to their Sovereign in their accustomed manner, to testify their unbounded satisfaction on this auspicious occasion.

Common Law Courts.

Ordered, That there be laid before this House, Returns of the Number of Actions commenced in the Courts of Queen's Bench, Exchequer and Common Pleas respectively in each year, for the period of Five years prior to the publication of the Warrant of the late Majesty King William the Fourth, under which the Court of Common Pleas was opened to King's Counsel and Outer Barristers, and which was published in that Court on the 25th day of April 1834; and Five years subsequent thereto—Of the Date at which the Court of Common Pleas gave its judgment, determining no longer to hear Queen's Counsel and Outer Barristers, but to restore an exclusive privilege to the Serjeants—Of the Number of Causes and Bills of Exchequer for arrears taken in the said Courts respectively, in the Special Paper, New Trial Paper, Peremptory Paper, or Paper for Enlarged Rules, Crown Paper, and other Papers, if any, kept in the said Courts for the entry of arrests, on the first day of each Term within the same period—Of the Number of Days after each Term appointed by the said Courts respectively for sitting, under the provisions of the Act 1 and 2 Vic. c. 32.—Of the Number of Causes, distinguishing between Special Jury and Common Jury Causes, taken out at the assizes at New Pris, in each of the said Courts, in London and Middlesex, on the first day of each sitting, within the same period—and, of the Number of Summons taken out at the assizes in the Courts of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas, in the months of January and February respectively, 1839.

A Motion was made, and the Question being proposed, That it is the duty of the Postmaster-General to afford all reasonable facilities and accommodation to Communities who have no Post Office or a Post Office at present, especially to such as have a desire to send their Letters openly and legally, and who shall apply to the Postmaster-General for the usual means of doing so—That the case of more than one thousand inhabitants in the parish of Bawden, in the county of Suffolk, as represented in their Petition to this House, is one of great hardship, and directly in point; therefore, that the prayer of the Petitioners should be granted, by the Postmaster-General appropriating to them similar Post Office accommodation to that enjoyed by their neighbours in the adjoining parishes—And the said motion was, with leave of the House, withdrawn.

Ordered, That it appears that the said Comptroller General filled the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer for Ireland, and Comptroller General of the Exchequer for the United Kingdom.

Ordered, That it appears that the person holding the office of Comptroller of the Exchequer now constitutes the sole check (in lieu of all others formerly existing under the ancient regulations of the Exchequer) on the expenditure of all public monies issued through the Exchequer by the authority of the Commissioners of the Treasury; and it is specially provided that he should be incapable of holding any other office under the Crown in conjunction with such Comptrollership, and should be irremovable from this office, except in pursuance of an Address from the two Houses of Parliament; this officer being thus withdrawn from the exercise of any influence of the Crown over him in the discharge of his functions:

Ordered, That it appears that provision was made in the Act 1 & 2 Vic. c. 32, that the sum which Her Majesty might be empowered to grant in Pensions on the Civil List, in the year 1839, should not exceed the sum of £1,200; and that in conformity with a previous Resolution of this House, such Pensions should be...
be granted "to such persons only as might have just claims on the Royal beneficence, or who by their personal services to the Crown, by the performance of duties to the public, or by their useful discoveries in science, and attainments in literature and the arts, had merited her gracious consideration of the Sovereign, and the gratitude of the country."

That, considering all these circumstances, and more especially the great importance of keeping the Comptroller General of the Exchequer independent of the influence of the Crown, as also of ensuring a strict adherence to the spirit of the Resolution of this House on the subject of Civil List Pensions, this House deems it expedient to express its decided opinion that the following limit to the annual charge of the Civil List in any one year, should not exceed £1,000 a year to Sir John Newport, under the Warrant before mentioned, ought not to be drawn into a precedent;

An Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question by inserting after the word "functions," at the end of the fifth paragraph, the words "That, in the last paragraph, to the end of the Question, by leaving out from the first word "That," instead thereof:

That it appears that provision was made in the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 2, that the sum which Her Majesty's pleasure, upon a supposition that in some cases it may not be expedient for the public good to divulge the names of the persons in the said List, or that it may be disagreeable to persons receiving such Pensions to have it known that their distresses are so relieved, or for saving the expense of fees and taxes on small Pensions, by means of which said usage, secret and dangerous corruption may hereafter be practiced: And whereas it is no disparagement for persons to be relieved by the Royal bounty in their distress, or for their desert, not having proved a sufficient check on the grant of unmerited Pensions, this House, in the year 1834 entered into certain Resolutions concerning Pensions.

And the Question being put, That those words be there inserted:—It was resolved in the Affirmative.

Another Amendment was proposed to be made to the Question, by leaving out from the first word "That," in the last paragraph, to the end of the Question, and adding the words of this House that the Right honourable Sir John Newport, in his official capacity of Chancellor of the Exchequer in Ireland, exerted himself to improve the charge of the duties of his office, and to promote the general welfare of the people by the exercise of his influence over the Crown, and the Minister of the Crown, in the discharge of his functions;

That by an Act of 22 Geo. 3, c. 82, it was declared, "And whereas much confusion and expense did arise from having Pensions paid at various places and by various persons, and a custom hath prevailed of granting Pensions on a Private List, during his retirement the remainder of his days: That it appears that it was also specially provided by the said Act 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 24, that the holder of the office of Comptroller of the Exchequer should be precluded, on his retirement from that office, from all claim to any of the Pensions which the Crown was thereby empowered to bestow for civil or political services: That it appears that the person holding the office of Comptroller of the Exchequer now constitutes the sole check (in lieu of all others formerly existing under the ancient regulations of the Exchequer) on the expenditure of all public monies issued through the Exchequer by the authority of the Commissioners of the Treasury; and it is specially provided that he should be incapable of holding any other office under the Crown in conjunction with such Comptrollership, and should be removable from his office, except on a motion of an Address of the two Houses of Parliament; this officer being thus withdrawn from the exercise of any influence of the Crown over him in the discharge of his functions;

In the Queen's Bench.

"Take notice, That a Declaration against you is this day filed in the Queen's Bench Declaration Office, Temple, London, at the suit of the above-named Plaintiff, in an action on the case, and that unless you plead thereto in eight days from the service hereof, judgment will be signed against you by default."

"Dated this 9th day of March 1840.

Yours, &c.

Messrs. Hassard. Delivered at the Office Door in Westminster 9th March, at 4 p. m.

That the Petitioners, in order to ascertain correctly the cause of action in such further or fifth suit, caused the Declaration filed by the Plaintiff in the Queen's Bench Declaration Office, to be taken out of the said Office, and of which Declaration the following is a Copy:

In the Queen's Bench:

"The ninth day of March, in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and forty.

Herts, to wit: John Joseph Stockdale, the Plaintiff in this suit, by Thomas Burton Howard, his Attorney, complains of James Hassard, Luke Graves Hansard, and Luke James Hassard, the Defendants in this suit, who have been summoned to answer the said John Joseph Stockdale, in an action on the case. For that whereas, before and at the time of committing the grievance herein-after complained of, the said Plaintiff was, and for a long time had been, a bookseller and publisher of books, and as such bookseller and publisher of books had published divers and very many scientific books, and particularly, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, a certain physiological and anatomical book, written by a learned physician, on the Generative System, illustrated by anatomical plates. And whereas the said Defendants, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, did publish, and cause to be published, of and concerning the said Plaintiff, in his said trade and business of a bookseller and publisher, in a certain book purporting to be Report of the Inspectors of Prisons of Great Britain, the passage following;
following; (that is to say) 'This last is a book (meaning the said physiological and anatomical book) of a most disgusting nature, and the plates are indecent and obscene in the extreme.' Whereas in truth and in fact the said book is purely of a scientific character; yet the said Defendants, well knowing the premises, but contriving and maliciously intending to defame and injure the said Plaintiff in his said trade and business of a bookseller and publisher, and cause it to be believed that he published indecent and obscene books, on the second day of July, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, maliciously and falsely did publish, and cause to be published, of and concerning the Plaintiff, in his said trade and business of a bookseller and publisher, in a certain printed paper, purporting to be a Copy of the Reply of the Inspectors of Prisons for the Home District, with regard to the Report of the Court of Aldermen, to whom it was referred to consider the First Report of the Inspectors of Prisons; so far as relates to the Gaol of Newgate; which said Copy of the Reply purports to be a Letter from William Cressford and Whitworth Russell, Esquires, Inspectors of Prisons for the Home District, to the Right Honourable Lord John Russell, &c. &c. &c., the false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory libel following; (that is to say) 'But we deny that that book is a scientific work (meaning that term in its ordinary acceptation), or that the plates are purely anatomical, calculated only to attract the attention of persons connected with surgical science, and we adhere to the terms which we have already employed as those only by which to characterize such a book' (meaning thereby that the said book was disgusting and obscene, as stated in the above-mentioned Report of the Inspectors of Prisons of Great Britain); and in another part of the said libel, to the tenor and effect following (that is to say); 'We also applied to several medical booksellers, who all gave it the same character. They described it as one of Stockdale's obscene books' (meaning thereby that the Plaintiff was a common publisher of obscene books); 'that it never was considered a scientific work;' 'that it never was written for or bought by the members of the profession as such;' that it was intended to take young men in, by inducing them to give an exorbitant price for an indecent work,' to the great injury of the said Plaintiff in his said trade and business, and also of his fair name and reputation, and to the damage of the said Plaintiff of Fifty thousand pounds, and therefore he brings suit, &c.'

268. In the Queen's Bench, the 9th day of March 1840, Stockdale v. Howard and others. The Defendants must plead hereto in eight days, or judgment; and the Plaintiff hereby demands a plea or judgment. T. B. Howard.'

That the Petitioners find, on examining the foregoing Declaration with the Declarations in the former actions against the Petitioners, at the suit of the said Joseph Stockdale, that the cause of action is identical, namely, for the alleged publication of a libel of and concerning the Plaintiff, contained in the Reports of the Inspectors of Prisons of Great Britain; and also, in a Letter addressed by said Inspectors to Lord John Russell; that the said Reports and Letter, in respect of which the present as well as the former actions were brought, were printed by the Petitioners under the authority and by the order and direction of the House; and praying the instructions of the House on the matter of this their Petition, and on the course they should pursue with regard to the said Notice and Writ of Inquiry.

Ordered, That the said Petition be taken into consideration To-morrow.

Ordered, That the said Paper do lie upon the Table.

Mr. Speaker acquainted the House, That the See Printed Papers, jeant-at-Arms attending this House had a communication to make to the House.

Whereupon, the Sergeant was called to the bar, and informed the House, That a Writ in an Action of Trespass had been issued against certain Officers of the House employed by him in the execution of the Orders of this House, at the suit of Thomas Burton Howard, which had been served on some of them:—And then he delivered in the said Writ, which was read at the Table, as follows:—

(Indorsed.)
